

CALAMITY HITS LIBERAL CRITIC—LOSES VOICE

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—One of the worst calamities that can happen to a politician has hit Hon. James Sinclair, chief financial critic for the Opposition—he has lost his voice.

The financial proposals put forward by the Diefenbaker government were under study today. But Mr. Sinclair had to sit quietly on the sidelines and say nothing—almost.

During the question period he could only barely make himself heard as he croaked out a question, concerning progress in the Britannia Mines negotiations. He smiled wryly at Hon. E. D. Fulton, Minister of Justice, said with a grin that the government was glad Mr. Sinclair had been able to ask the question.

Commons Behind PM At NATO

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he hopes the NATO summit meeting in Paris next week will achieve a new spirit of unity and a rededication to the alliance's aims.

The prime minister spoke in the Commons after Opposition leaders extended good wishes to him and his cabinet colleagues who attend the NATO council meeting.

Liberal leader St. Laurent said Mr. Diefenbaker can feel that all members of the Commons and Canadians generally are behind him in the "extraordinary" NATO conference.

WORLD MISSILES RACE

U.S. Rockets Tipped Russ

This is the first of a series of weekly articles by Dr. Willy Ley, noted missile expert. The second article will appear next Friday.

By WILLIE LEY

The Russians did not give any military secrets away when they paraded a number of rockets at the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Anybody who knew anything about rockets could see at a glance that the large missiles on their trailers were somewhat enlarged V-2 rockets and that the smaller ones shown were anti-aircraft missiles of the same type as the U.S. Navy's Terrier.

Although the Russians did not disclose any secrets on that occasion, a good deal about the Russian missile arsenal has become known in various ways. To understand what they built and why they built what they did it is necessary to go back to the last year of the Second World War. Most Americans, at that time, saw a movie about the battle of Stalingrad and may recall having seen large salvos of rockets being launched against the encircled German army group. It so happens that most of these rockets had been made in Tennessee and were lend-lease ammunition.

These rockets were not missiles in the sense in which this term is now used. They were simple unguided bombardment rockets. The Russians did have a similar rocket of their own manufacture with a diameter of 3 1/2 inches, used as an anti-tank rocket from launchers nicknamed Stalin Organs. Right after the war the Russians began to mass produce two additional rocket weapons of the same type, one with a diameter of five inches and one larger one with a diameter of 11 1/2 inches.

The current Russian bombardment rockets are the offspring of these early types. There are two such rockets with a range of three to five miles.

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER TEAM

Holding a seat as the only woman member of Victoria city council is a family tradition to be upheld for another two-year term by Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson, left. She is congratulated by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Christie, former alderman. Mrs. Wilson served as health and welfare chairman in 1956-57 and hopes to be returned to it next year.

MURDOCH TOPS POLL

Oak Bay councillor George Murdoch in a municipal vote recount replaced Patrick Birley as top man on the council poll.

Here are final results: Murdoch, 1,379; Birley, 1,365; Fred Hawes, 1,335; Kenneth Murphy, 1,116, and Kenneth Boorman, 1,087.

B.C. Cautious On Power-Fish Controversy

McNaughton Idea Sparks Argument

Provincial government leaders reacted cautiously today to the blunt suggestion by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton that power should be given precedence over salmon in development of the Fraser River.

Gen. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, told the House of Commons external affairs committee Thursday that an immediate start should be made on harnessing the Fraser's great hydro potential.

Division of the flood waters of the Columbia River into the Fraser would be involved in the scheme.

Lands Minister Ray Williston said more time is needed to research the fish-power problem before such a decision is made.

"I think eventually we can combine the two to a degree," Mr. Williston said.

BENNETT SILENT

Premier Bennett declined to comment on Gen. McNaughton's statements, saying he would let Mr. Williston speak for the government.

Previously the premier had said his government would never allow the Fraser to be dammed if it would mean destruction of the salmon run.

One reason for Mr. Bennett's reluctance to comment today could be the fact that on Tuesday he is meeting Douglas McKay, new chairman of the American section of the IJC.

Other officials, including Mr. McKay, were quick to react to the proposal, however.

In Salem, Ore., Mr. McKay said the U.S. is opposed to such a development.

OBJECTED STRONGLY

He said the U.S. delegation had objected strongly to it at recent meetings of the Commission. He added that he doesn't believe the program will be carried out.

Ron Gadsby, spokesman for the Fisheries Association of B.C., said Gen. McNaughton's proposal would eliminate the $50,000,000 Fraser River salmon run.

Gen. McNaughton's proposal is apparently based on a preliminary engineering report," said Mr. Gadsby.

Mr. Gadsby said the salmon runs would be eliminated "unless Gen. McNaughton has some new engineering and biological data that will ensure the safe passage of migrating salmon over power dams."

3 to 1 City Vote Favors New Study

Amalgamation proposals for the Greater Victoria area were given a big boost forward in Thursday's municipal elections.

Only Victoria City voted directly on the issue, and citizens voted better than 3 to 1 in favor of a royal commission investigation of ways in which it could be done.

But, in the second largest municipality of Saanich, voters returned Reeve Arthur Ash and a complete slate of council candidates who have strongly backed the idea of studying amalgamation plans.

The Saanich poll was a full victory for the self-styled "December 12 group" and defeat for reeve candidate Eugene Diespecker, and 21-year council veteran and former reeve Leslie

Passmore, who have been opposed to amalgamation.

The issue did not bulk very largely in Esquimalt, but it was significant that former councillor G. K. Sammon, a strong supporter of amalgamation studies, was put back in office with a good vote.

And in Oak Bay, long the main "hold out" municipality, the point was not raised in a quiet election.

Jaycees to Push Petitions

As a result of the polling, the Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to go ahead with public petitions in Oak Bay and Esquimalt to get public support for a royal commission study.

Eric Charman, who sponsored the Jaycee drive for the royal commission, said:

"The results in Victoria and Saanich clearly illustrate substantial support for the royal commission proposal.

"They also encourage the Jaycees to go forward with their petition in Oak Bay and Esquimalt."

He said the organization had held off its petition raising until after the municipal elections because it did not wish to influence the vote.

"We did not spend one nickel on advertising or holding meetings about it in Victoria because we wanted a pure expression of opinion. Now we have it," he said.

Regardless of the further action toward a royal commission, it is expected early moves will be made toward forming a strong intermunicipal committee, including the mayors and Reeves of each municipality. Several candidates spoke in favor of such a plan.

Outside of amalgamation main interest in Thursday's elections surrounded the defeat of Alderman Donald Smith, Social Credit M.L.A. He was trying for his third term on city council, and at one time was considering running for the mayoralty. He was edged out by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot for the fourth council seat.

2 B.C. Slayers Spared Gallows

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences passed on Joseph McKenna, 22, of Vancouver, and Calvin Henry Klingbell, 23, of Kelowna, B.C.

McKenna was convicted of murder June 14, 1957, at Vancouver in the fatal shooting of John Henry Donaldson, a 25-year-old Vancouver ambulance driver, in a Vancouver night club.

Klingbell was convicted at Vancouver Sept. 25, 1957, of the stabbing murder in Vancouver of Lee Yick Yung, a 63-year-old Chinese grocer.

Both men had been scheduled for execution Tuesday, Dec. 17. Donaldson was shot in Vancouver March 23, 1957. McKenna's appeal was dismissed by the British Columbia Court of Appeal Oct. 2 and his application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was refused Nov. 11.

His case for leave to appeal was taken to the Supreme Court by John R. Taylor, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Vancouver-Burrard and Arthur Maloney, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Parkdale. Later, Mr. Taylor made personal representations to Solicitor-General Leon Balcer and the Cabinet.

Yung was stabbed to death during a robbery in Vancouver May 18, 1937. Klingbell, a mechanic's helper, did not appeal his conviction.

One of three persons killed in highway accidents near Nanaimo Thursday night was Reg Patterson, former city athlete and baseball executive. (See story page 9.)

TRENTON, Ont. (CP)—An RCAF Dakota searching for an Eskimo drifting on a Hudson Bay ice floe radioed today that it sighted a single Eskimo on off-shore ice.

350 Killed By 'Quake In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A heavy earthquake shook western Iran today and unofficial accounts reaching Tehran said at least 350 persons were killed and thousands were injured.

Tehran radio said the towns of Sahneh and Farsinak were badly damaged and that most villages in that area were "completely ruined." Heavy snowfalls created harsh conditions for several thousand made homeless by the tremor.

Survivors scrambled in blizzard weather to rescue loved ones trapped in crumbled buildings. Large numbers were left homeless.

A quake also rocked buildings in Athens, Greece, causing a minor panic. It was centered, the Athens Observatory said, about 30 miles northeast of Athens in the Marathon area where a destructive earthquake occurred in July, 1938.

FOOD FOR HOMELESS

The quake in Iran occurred at 5:15 a.m. local time (5:45 p.m. PST) Thursday night and lasted for two minutes.

It shook most western parts of Iran and many houses and government buildings were ruined in Hamadan, Murdistan, Assadabad and Kangavar.

The government started moving food and medicine for the thousands of homeless.

The earthquake was reported as strong as the shock which struck Damavand and the Caspian Sea area last July in which about 2,000 persons were killed, 10,000 injured and 100,000 made homeless.

Damage was estimated at about $1,000,000.

Medium Missiles Wanted by France

PARIS (Reuters)—France will ask the United States for intermediate-range ballistic missiles, a government spokesman announced today.

The foreign ministry spokesman told a press conference the request will be discussed at a meeting between French and American representatives after the NATO summit meeting here.

Britain now is in the final stages of negotiating a missile agreement with the United States.

France's attitude toward rocket bases—in the face of strenuous Soviet opposition—was expected to be a key factor at the three-day summit meeting starting Monday.

Premier Felix Gaillard indicated to the National Assembly's foreign affairs commission this morning that France would not object to rocket bases in NATO countries.

Students Save Selves As Train Crashes Bus

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—12 teenage school students escaped serious injury today in a level-crossing collision between a school bus and a passenger train that sheared off the rear end of the bus.

Four were taken to hospital and allowed to go home after treatment of minor injuries.

A spokesman for the Greater Winnipeg Transit Commission, owners of the bus, said the children helped save themselves by running to the front of the vehicle when they saw the train coming.

The injured are: Bill Coble; 14; Jerry Parker, 15; Robert Misseggers, 17, and Doug Oleuk, 16.

A transit commission spokesman said driver Henry P. Schmidt stopped the big diesel bus before starting over the level crossing.

The bus was almost over the crossing when the rear end was clipped by a northbound Soo Line passenger train drawn by two diesel units.

Police, railway and company officials said it was a miracle that all the children were not killed. If the bus had been on the track another two feet it would have been destroyed.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

We thank Thee, O God, for the crisp beauty of the autumn, the fertility of this good land, the faithful labor of the farmer, and the abundant harvest which reminds us of all these blessings. May they also remind us of Thee. Stab us awake to the need of those who go continually in hunger. Bless every person who is giving of himself, of his time, and of his produce to bring nourishing food to our brother men around the world; in Jesus' name. Amen.

Looks like Saanich has staged a Changin' o' th' Guard — th' old guard, that is.

From th' city vote, I'd say that on amalgamation folks want less words an' more facts.

Mister Khrushchev seems t' be tryin' t' vote nay to NATO.

miles, the larger of them measuring 5.2 inches in diameter. The large type of a calibre of nearly a foot has been converted into an air-to-air missile, a rocket to be fired from airplanes against other airplanes. It is now a guided rocket, but the nature of the guidance system is not publicly known. Its Russian designation is M-100A. All the rockets mentioned so far are propelled by solid fuels.

With the end of the war the Russians captured tons of German documents. They captured the production engineers of the V-2 factory (but not the planning and research staff who had fled in time and surrendered to the Americans) and they might have captured a few rockets. From the documents they learned that the Germans had planned to extend the 200 miles range of the V-2 by equipping it with wings.

The idea was that the winged rocket could add about 100 miles to its range by performing like a glider when it returned into dense air after reaching its 60-mile peak. Of course this rocket could not be accurate unless it was piloted and the Germans had had that in mind. The pilot was to bail out as soon as he was sure that his rocket would hit the target. The Russians also learned from captured documents that the Germans intended to develop solid fuel rockets to be fired from submarines.

Since these German plans were not based on whim but on solid engineering logic the Russians carried them out—with their own men. The submarine-launched, solid-fuel missiles are now under development; one with an intended range of 100 miles is called Comet-1, another with an intended range of 500 miles is called Comet-2.

The Russian development of the German V-2 rocket is called the T-1, also M-101. It has the same diameter as the original V-2, namely, 5 1/2 feet, but is 50 feet long (V-2 was about 46 feet) and has a different fuel—kerosene instead of alcohol. Its range is given as 400 miles, double the original V-2 range. It is in production. So is the T-4 (or M-102), which is the winged version. Claims are that it may have a range of as much as 1,000 miles, which sounds somewhat exaggerated. The figure may have to read 1,000 kilometers, which would be 620 miles, and more likely what one could expect.

More Stages Needed

For ranges beyond 600 miles rockets of two or more stages are needed. The Russian T-2 missile (also designated as M-103) is their IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile) with a range of 1,500 miles. At least a hundred of them have been test fired. It is a two-stage liquid fuel missile with a take-off weight of about 85 tons. The upper stage is a T-1, the lower stage is just a very heavy booster. It was probably the T-2 which was converted into a satellite carrier for firing the first Sputnik.

Another Russian rocket missile in production is the T-3. Propelled by a solid fuel, it is 25 feet long with a diameter of 2 1/2 feet and a range of up to 60 miles. The T-3A is the Russian equivalent to our Corporal missile which, however, is a liquid fuel rocket.

So far the only facts known about the Russian ICBM (Inter Continental Ballistic Missile) are that it is designated as T-3 or M-104, that its goal is a range of 5,000 miles and that two or three of them have been test fired. It must be a three-stage rocket and, of course, its warhead must be heavy enough to be either a uranium or a hydrogen bomb. It just does not pay to shoot ordinary high explosives over such a distance. A modified T-3 probably fired Sputnik No. 2.

The lesson that can be drawn from this quick survey is quite simple. As regards the intercontinental missile the Russians are somewhat ahead of us. But they are far ahead with respect to the intermediate range missile.

Canada Sets Changes In Diplomatic Corps

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's first high commissioner to the new federation of Malaya will be Arthur R. Menzies, until recently head of the Far Eastern division of the external affairs department, the department announced today.

Appointment of the 41-year-old Mr. Menzies—who will take up his duties next spring—was one of several shifts in Canada's representation abroad announced by the department.

Nik Cavell, 63, who has been responsible since 1951 for administration of Canada's participation in the Colombo Plan, has been appointed high commissioner to Ceylon, effective next March.

He will succeed James J. Hurley, 59, who becomes high commissioner to the Union of South Africa. Mr. Hurley succeeds Evan W. T. Gill, whose appointment as high commissioner to Ghana, the former Gold Coast colony, was announced earlier. Mr. Hurley will take up his new duties in March.

SUCCESSOR LATER

George R. Heasman, 59, now ambassador to Indonesia, has been appointed high commissioner to New Zealand, replacing Kenneth P. Kirkwood, re-assigned to Ottawa last May.

Mr. Heasman will take up his new post in March and his successor will be announced later.

E. Benjamin Rogers, 46, now ambassador to Peru, has been appointed ambassador to Turkey, effective February. His successor in Peru will be announced later.

He succeeds Herbert O. Moran, previously announced as high commissioner for Canada in Pakistan. Paul A. Beaulieu, 44, now counsellor in the Canadian high commissioner's office in London, becomes charge d'affaires in Beirut, Lebanon, effective in March. He succeeds Lionel V. J. Roy.

William G. M. Olivier, 42, who has been acting head of the department's information division here, has been named Canadian commissioner to the International Supervisory Commission in Indo-China to succeed P. G. R. Campbell. His appointment took effect earlier this month.

Shipyard Future Laid Squarely In Ottawa's Lap

Heads of Victoria's two big shipyards agreed Friday that prospects of stopping mass layoffs depend entirely on orders from the Canadian government—and that none are in prospect.

At commissioning ceremonies for HMCS Cowichan at Yarrow's Ltd., H. A. Wallace, managing director of Yarrow's, and Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., painted a bleak picture of increasing unemployment for shipyard workers.

Mr. Husband is also president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, which represents all major yards in Canada.

LAST ONE

In his address turning over the Cowichan to the navy, Mr. Wallace pointed out the completion of the Cowichan was Yarrow's last naval shipbuilding contract.

"We are sad," he said, "Shipbuilding calls for a combination of skills and collective experience, and it has taken us years to build up our fine organization."

It is with deepest regret that, because of lack of work, we see our great team about to be dissolved."

(Yarrow's work force has already been cut back from a post-war peak in August of 1,150 to 600, with more layoffs coming.)

Mr. Wallace referred to previous statements by Mr. Husband explaining the necessity of a continuing shipbuilding program, and expressed complete agreement.

"The western world has recently and forcibly seen how quickly a nation can get behind technologically, and it is of vast importance to our survival that we keep ourselves strong with the most up-to-date weapons available," he said.

"It is the intention of the government to place contracts for two additional destroyer escorts... we feel that Yarrow's deserves favorable consideration... and we hope the government will act quickly and wisely, so that we may be able to retain a nucleus of our highly skilled people."

Mr. Wallace also urged the government to develop a program to assist in the construction of merchant vessels in Canada.

"We are in a vulnerable position when we realize that almost 70 per cent of our foreign trade is carried—not even in U.K. ships—but in foreign bottoms," he said.

Speaking as president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, Mr. Husband said the two new DDEs had not yet been allocated.

He agreed that one of them should be built in a West Coast yard, but added: "Even if the contract were awarded now, the effects on manpower would not be felt very largely for several months."

He pointed out component parts—such as boilers, tubing and engines—would have to be procured before a full work force could be employed. "The shipbuilding picture is gloomy," he said. "Unless the government acts quickly on a long-range program of steady work, we cannot hold trained personnel together."

Oil Companies Merge In $200 Million Deal

CALGARY (CP)—One of the largest oil deals ever negotiated in Western Canada was completed here Thursday, when the shareholders of Merrill Petroleum Ltd., approved a merger involving about $200,000,000 between their company and Pacific Petroleum Ltd.

A total of 1,469,984 shareholders voted for the merger, 98.5 per cent, and 21,839 votes were against.

The merger involves a trade of two shares of Merrill for one of Pacific.

It was also announced at the meeting that Merrill president Clifford R. Walker will become a member of the board of directors of Pacific.

When the merger was first proposed in July, Mr. Walker said the move would give Merrill stockholders a much more diversified investment and would increase growth potential.

At that time, Frank McMahon, chairman of Pacific's board of directors, stated the merger would create a strong, integrated, independent company.

Pacific holds a 20 per cent interest in the Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., in addition to interests in 7,500,000 acres of exploration land in Western Canada and 7,500,000 acres in Venezuela, large marketing outlets, vast gas reserves, a refinery, a gas plant and varying interests in a number of oil wells.

Merrill, 11th ranked producer in Western Canada this year, produced 2,227,705 barrels of oil in 1956. The company has interests in 1,000 wells and 100 per cent interest in 132 wells. The net wells are at Pembina, Joffre-Red Deer, Sylvan Lake, Gilby, Leduc, Malmö and Erskine.

Tories, Liberals Beat CCF Car Tax Amendment

The Progressive Conservatives and most Liberals Thursday night voted down a CCF amendment to reduce the automobile excise tax a step further than the government proposed.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming said the government could not support the amendment or financial "chaos" would result.

He made the statement after acting committee chairman Charles E. Rea ruled in order an amendment by Stanley Knowles, CCF deputy leader, that the 10-per-cent tax be cut to five per cent. His amendment was to a government bill to cut the tax to 7 1/2 per cent.

The ruling apparently opened the way for Opposition members to make similar amendments when a government bill to lower income tax rates comes up later on.

The amendment was voted down 70 to 30.

Mr. Fleming said after Mr. Rea ruled the amendment in order that the government must accept responsibility for the "balance of ways and means" in the federal financial position.

If Mr. Knowles' proposal were accepted, it was obvious that the balance outlined for the year would be upset.

Not Keeping Full Election Promise

Opposition members devoted most of their time to accusations that the government was not keeping its full election campaign promise by cutting 2 1/2 per cent off the tax.

Both Mr. Knowles and Paul Martin, former Liberal health minister, said the cut should have been greater. Mr. Martin suggested it should have been at least cut to five per cent, if not abolished.

Finance Minister Fleming countered that Mr. Martin had made "irresponsible" statements about the effect of the government's policies on the auto industry.

The minister added that Opposition members just can't believe that the government has been able to cut as many taxes as it has.

But he had not forgotten the need to cut taxes further to relieve the burden of taxation "blighting incentive." If he was able to remain as finance minister for a while, he hoped before long to make other tax reductions.

FATAL MISHAP IN BRITAIN'S NUCLEAR PLANT

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced today that Douglas Whittaker, a senior scientist had died and several others were injured in an accident involving an atomic furnace at the big nuclear research plant at Aldermaston.

The announcement made by the British Atomic Energy Authority, said the accident took place Wednesday.

"There was no radiation involved in the accident," the announcement said.

The accident took place in the laboratory at the atomic weapons research establishment at Aldermaston, in Berkshire. It is located 45 miles west of London.

This is the second accident in Britain's nuclear plants in recent months. The previous one was at the big Windscale plant in northwest England where a runaway plutonium pile began burning up and scattered the surrounding area with radioactive particles.

Patients in Mount St. Mary private hospital Thursday night were entertained by the senior girls' choir of Oak Bay Junior High School under the direction of Derek MacDermot.

The group sang in the lobby, and in the halls on various floors.

He suggested negotiations should proceed as quickly as possible with the U.S. for downstream benefits from development of the Columbia and Kootenay rivers.

"The Columbia and its tributaries can produce the power," he said. "The Fraser can produce the fish. We will then have both fish and power."

The secretary-treasurer of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union said Gen. McNaughton appeared to be taking "an awfully short-sighted look" at the power situation in British Columbia.

Homer Stevens, the leading spokesman for B.C.'s salmon fishermen, said "No one can say what the power situation will be in 10 or 15 years."

"Recent developments in the power supply have shown that hydro-electric power could be made absolutely obsolete in that time."

He termed "ridiculous" the statement by Gen. McNaughton that power development on the Fraser would be worth 100 times as much to the people of B.C. and Canada as the Fraser salmon fishery.

Senator Tom Reid, chairman of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission and a vocal defender of fisheries in the fish vs. power dispute, said Gen. McNaughton "has a closed mind when it comes to fish."

"If our salmon industry can be restored, it will be worth $75,000,000 annually," said Senator Reid. Mr. Stevens said Gen. McNaughton's figures are "a little hard to swallow."

Deane Finlayson, B.C. Progressive Conservative leader, said that "regardless of the dollars and cents involved, we cannot make a move that is going to deplete the fish population of B.C."

MUST RESPECT U.S.

In any event, Canada could not move unilaterally since "we have got to respect the United States interest in this matter."

"We must give them the same consideration as if the position was reversed, notwithstanding the fact that the boundary waters treaty act of 1909 unquestionably leaves Canada free to divert the Columbia if it wishes."

Support for Gen. McNaughton came from Professor Harry V. Warren of the University of B.C., an exponent of proposals for a giant power dam at Moran on the Fraser.

"Bully for Gen. McNaughton for having the courage to say what I feel should have been said a long time ago," Prof. Warren said. "I'm still naive enough to believe that we can have both fish and power."

H. L. Briggs, general manager of the B.C. Power Commission, said many of General McNaughton's points were those which had often been put forward by the power commission.

He said many large commission hydro projects are being held up pending the results of fisheries investigations.

Racketeer John Dio Guilty of Extortion

NEW YORK (AP) — A general sessions court jury found racketeer John Johnny Dio (Dioguardi) guilty of extortion and conspiracy early today.

Judge John A. Mullen set Jan. 8 for sentencing. The suave, 43-year-old Dio, considered a kingly figure in the New York underworld, faces a maximum sentence of 31 years.

Johnny McNamara, president of Teamsters Local 295, also was found guilty of the same charge. He and Dio were accused of conspiring to commit extortion by shaking down two stationery firms for $4,700 in 1956.

Dio had escaped conviction last spring in the acid-blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel. But he was sentenced to two years imprisonment in September for extorting money from an employer in return for labor peace.

PRINCE CAN SIT IN LORDS

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Windsor, who ought to know, said today young Prince Charles is entitled to a seat in the House of Lords even if he is heir to the throne.

A writer in The Daily Express said in a recent story that "the heir to the throne traditionally does not take a seat in the Lords."

Setting the record straight in a letter to the editor, the duke said: "Having occupied that exalted position for 25 years, I wish to correct that statement. As Prince of Wales I took my seat in the House of Lords on Feb. 18, 1918."

Windsor became king nearly 29 years later, but abdicated to marry divorcee Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Red Armies Alerted As Anti-NATO Step

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet military newspaper announced today—at the height of a new propaganda barrage to Western Europe—that the armed forces of the Soviet Union have been placed on a "constant alert."

While Moscow radio kept up round-the-clock pounding at the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance meeting in Paris as a threat to world peace, the armed forces and the Soviet home audience were told defensive measures were being taken by all members of the Communist camp.

Hour after hour, Moscow radio drummed out the terms of the anti-NATO notes the Kremlin sent all United Nations members Thursday, while denouncing the Atlantic alliance as incompatible with UN principles. Foreign observers here said the drive is aimed at stimulating a will for neutralism in the Western camp.

GROWING THREAT

The newspaper Soviet Aviation said the Red military is on the alert throughout Eastern Europe because of "a growing threat that American aggressive circles will unleash a new war."

"The communist camp will continue to struggle for peace and the easing of international tensions," this ministry of defence publication added, "but at the same time it will heighten its vigilance against the aggressive plans of the imperialists."

It said Soviet missiles and "other weapons of modern warfare" are ready for instant retaliation in case of attack. It warned further that with these weapons, NATO bases surrounding the Soviet Union can "be destroyed instantaneously and completely."

"Under these conditions, the more sober-minded members of NATO have come to realize that the unleashing of war by the aggressive circles of the United States and its allies would amount to suicide," the paper said, and concluded that "the only sane alternative is to accept Soviet proposals for peaceful co-existence."

City and Saanich Say 'Yes'

VICTORIA AND SAANICH VOTERS have given their councils clear instructions to continue the study of amalgamation.

That is implicit in the result of municipal elections yesterday. In the city the referendum supporting a royal commission inquiry on the subject passed nearly four to one. In Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash, chief proponent of continued study on amalgamation, won a clear victory and was given new councillors pledged to support further investigation. His most outspoken opponents on the question were defeated.

The results of polling in Esquimalt and Oak Bay on that particular issue are less clear. Reeve A. C. Wurtele, whose enthusiasm for unification has never been warm, was returned to office. In Oak Bay, lacking a reevehip contest, incumbents and a former council member won seats. The old council in the latter municipality had adopted a most conservative approach to the amalgamation study—a traditional attitude there.

The elections in the four districts do, however, underscore the point that where amalgamation study was a sharp, well-defined issue, the voters were favorable to it.

The results are encouraging. If progress can now be made by Victoria and Saanich an excellent lead will be provided to Esquimalt and Oak Bay, both of which have been dragging their feet for some time on this question.

Less Than a Heartbeat Away

WHEN PRESIDENT EISENHOWER suffered his most recent illness, the countries of NATO assumed a new role.

They became an international pulse. Its beat would reflect the health of the alliances built around American strength, dependent on that country and its chief executive or the individual who would take over his duties.

If the pulse beat was erratic, it disclosed one surprising and definite fact. The NATO countries were prepared to accept Vice-President Richard Nixon in place of President Eisenhower if the health of the latter prevented his attendance at the Paris meetings.

The young man who three or four years ago—according to Britain's left-wing New Statesman—"seemed an unprincipled smart aleck, a witch-hunting demagogue and so ambitious that no price seemed too high for a chance at the presidency," had become acceptable to foreign allies of the United States.

They now see in the young man from California a person who has made himself a responsible party leader. They have recognized the strong position he took on civil rights for Negroes, his careful treatment of Africans and Asians, his pro-Israel position and stand for more foreign aid rather than less, his careful "understanding" of world affairs opposed to the brinkmanship of Mr. Dulles and his capacity for making firm decisions.

Such is the assessment of the New Statesman, an organ scarcely calculated to gild the lily of American political figures and consequently one competent to reflect the new attitude to Mr. Nixon.

With this change in international reaction to him, an equally important alteration has occurred in the domestic appreciation of the vice-president and his office.

Conventionally, the vice-presidency is a dead-end street in American politics. It is frequently a laurel bestowed upon an outstanding figure to mollify his adherents and to remove him from too active participation in future presidential scrambles. It has been a wreath beneath which the recipient is expected to lie quietly.

This was not the opinion held originally by President Eisenhower. When Richard Nixon came out of politically powerful California to give the state's Republican Party senior representation in Washington, he became General Eisenhower's "boy."

It apparently had been the hope of the politically unsophisticated President that his office might be lifted to a position akin to a constitutional monarchy with the vice-president holding a role analogous to that of prime minister. President Eisenhower was not permitted to hold that fancy long. He was informed that he, and he alone, was the chief executive. No other could take over his duties.

But while that point was made very definitely, it did not prevent a subtle change in the position of vice-president with Mr. Nixon in that post.

By what biologists call progressive evolution, Mr. Nixon became, to a substantial degree, an assistant president.

The accident of presidential death has, of course, lifted earlier vice-presidents from obscurity to presidential power. Such was the case with Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge and Harry Truman. But none of these had enjoyed the strength, as vice-president, now shown by Mr. Nixon. This is the result of a calculated policy.

Mr. Nixon has been despatched to various points of the world to represent his country and has performed his missions creditably.

In the present situation, with the United States facing problems that could be graver only with the outbreak of a hot war, Mr. Nixon has assumed leadership among the White House group handling executive affairs. He has acted diplomatically.

The Vice-President has tried on no crown in the ante-chamber. At the same time he has shown exceptional competence, vigor and ability to make decisions.

This is a much more mature Mr. Nixon than the one criticized for accepting campaign gifts from California's millionaires. He is no longer the man of television's famous "cloth coat" speech.

He is the figure less than a heartbeat away from the presidency—a person who has gained the confidence of important American allies and the respect of the United States.

If President Eisenhower should consider his own condition such that he could no longer discharge the duties of his office, Vice-President Nixon is the one who would succeed him. Succession would not cause the alarm it would have roused three or four years ago.

Four Per Cent Decision

THE VICTORIA BRANCH OF the B.C. Government Employees' Association has taken a serious step in joining the Victoria Labor Council.

The rights, privileges and responsibilities of membership in the council should be thoroughly appreciated by the civil servants. Whatever the consequences may be, one feature of the decision to join must leave the public with some misgivings.

The Victoria Branch has an enrollment of 2,468 employees. Of those, a little over 100 attended the meeting at which the vote was taken. Only 83 approved the affiliation. Twenty-five at the meeting did not.

In other words a major employees' organization is committed by the decision of about 4 per cent of its members. This is direction by default.

Surely an action as important as affiliation with the Trades and Labor Council merits the attention of the full membership.

Further Examination Needed

THE DIFENBAKER GOVERNMENT has indicated its intention to proceed with a plan to dam the South Saskatchewan River in order to irrigate more than 450,000 acres lying south of Saskatoon. It is estimated the project will cost some $250 millions.

In a general way all irrigation projects are considered Good Things, and worthy of support. But the Winnipeg Free Press casts some doubts on the current proposal. Even granted that there will be no repercussions from Alberta, upstream, or from Manitoba, downstream, there is still a question as to whether the South Saskatchewan River carries enough water for the tremendous job.

But having irrigated the land, what then? As the prairie paper points out, wheat needs no such expensive irrigation scheme. And if 450,000 acres are to be devoted to market gardening, where will markets be found? In California, where similar irrigation projects have been carried out, two or three crops a year are necessary if the farmer is to pay for the facilities. This would not be possible in Saskatchewan. Grain, even if feasible on the irrigated land, is not a sufficiently high-priced product to pay the year-round overhead of such a costly development.

The question remains, then: just why are the people of Canada to be asked to pay a quarter of a billion dollars, and who will benefit and by how much?

The Hidden Weakness

THE subway strike in New York City posed an almost insuperable problem for the inhabitants of that metropolis. Anyone who has seen New York, or an antiseptic or bestest, can envision pretty accurately the chaos that resulted from the breakdown of transportation. New York City is a highly integrated complex of trains, buses and thoroughfares, of office buildings that are themselves, and of residential districts that have spread out for many miles around the buzzing hive. The process of getting the millions of people from their homes to their working places each morning, and back again each night, is a daily miracle that no outsider can completely understand.

If any one of the three components—homes, transportation or working places—is interfered with, the whole machine is thrown out of kilter and may grind to a catastrophic stop.

A flood or some disaster that rendered a large proportion of New York's homes unusable would bring the city to a standstill. One of the three indispensable legs of the stool would have been removed and the whole thing would topple.

A few years ago an elevator operators' strike made many of New York's skyscrapers unusable. The city was thrown into confusion and if the interference had continued very long all the wheels would have halted.

All for One

The secret—and the vital weakness—of New York City is interdependence. Each factor, indeed each citizen, depends on the others, and any disruption in one section is likely to affect all. Great size, which endows with might and power, also has its Achilles heel—the thin tendon of co-operation, of co-ordination, or meshed human effort—which once cut can cause disaster.

It would not take a major disruption like a subway stoppage. That asserts itself most quickly, of course. Results are immediate when a major artery is plugged. But many less spectacular facets of the city's life are equally vital.

It could be some lowly activity such as garbage removal. A one-day breakdown in that service would fill New York's back alleys with refuse. A much longer delay would render the city almost uninhabitable.

Restaurants and hotels, office buildings and factories, if unable to make emergency arrangements, would soon be swamped. In desperation, dumping in the streets would begin. The city could literally become buried in its own trash. Even short-term interference with the electricity supply or the water supply could put the city out of business. But a strike of the men in freight sheds, of the clerks in food stores, of workers in any one of a score out-of-sight, seldom-thought-of, but very essential occupations, could quickly precipitate a major problem.

The giant is suspended on a chain, and failure of any one of the links could destroy him.

It takes little imagination to get an idea of the scenes that must have taken place in New York subway stations when service was cut to a fraction of normal. At the best of times, a look into a station at rush hour is like turning over a stone on an ant hill and observing the frenzied scurrying that results.

The train comes into the station with a rattling roar—a great eruption of sound that is almost terrifying to the uninitiated. The jammed mass of humanity on the platform surges forward, there is a struggle as the double doors in the dozen cars slide open automatically and a press of humans on the train fights to get off.

On and Off

Somewhat the new arrivals force their way through the panting throng. The would-be travellers push aboard, those near the door edge scraping by with clothes pulled askew.

Hats are knocked sideways, parcels are crushed, the lame, the aged, the timid are sandwiched in the unheeding scrum and borne aboard willynilly. The doors slide mysteriously shut and the train moves off.

At the multiple stations, such as Times Square, where several lines converge, perhaps at different levels, there is a mad scramble to get to another platform or to one of the exits—a blind herd movement of humans who have almost lost their individual identity in this stampede of buffalo-citizens.

With only half or three-quarters of the normal trains available during the strike, the frenzy must have been multiplied many times. The fight to get aboard or off the cars must have become a life-or-death struggle, of great interest to a student of mass psychology, but rather frightening, even sickening, to a detached observer heretofore convinced of the innate dignity of man.

The giant city has its glories. In it will be found evidence of the highest aspirations of mankind—the topless towers, the scientific wonders, the show-places which only vast accumulations of population and wealth can make possible.

But it has its inherent sicknesses too, the latent cancers which, with slight provocation, can swiftly spread through the body of the metropolis and cripple, if not destroy.

As Our Readers See It

Deterioration

"Sir, many people seem to think that owing to the great increase of knowledge that people are getting better and better. This may be true in some respects but certainly not spiritually.

About 60 years ago or less most people went to church on Sunday and had prayer and Bible reading in the home at least once a day. Now only a small percentage of the people go to church while prayer and Bible reading are almost a thing of the past.

It has been said the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. This is true to a large extent because a mother is the greatest influence in shaping the character of a child—which in turn helps to shape the destiny of the world.

Today many of the modern mothers smoke and do other things that would have shocked their ancestors, yet people wonder why there is so much juvenile delinquency and other crime.

These are just a few of the many instances where human nature has deteriorated badly. No doubt modern living is the main cause, which has 'distracted' peoples' minds away from the only thing that will improve human nature, namely spiritual knowledge and spiritual guidance.

The white people have brought many bad things since they came to the shores of Burrard Inlet, but the worst that they ever did bring was the P.G.E.

Grief and suffering has come to the Indians resulting from their booze disease, drugs and integration, but the worst of all is the excruciating P.G.E.

The Honorable the Premier of the shameful centennial province in Canada, with his mastermind Mr. Gunderson has built a freight yard right on the door step of the oldest settlement on the North Shore, the Mission Indian Reserve, where the peaceful slumber of some 300 Indian souls are awakened every morning from 3 to 6 a.m. not excepting their Sunday sport, of disturbing the innocent Squamish Indians.

In front of this Indian reserve they assemble their freight trains to be taken away by the C.N.R. as the P.G.E. is not wanted in Vancouver, flavored with the stench of cows, and what they will deposit on our already infested air.

Economy is so strictly practised by

Mr. Bennett that his cars, are without axle grease, bump, poukh, gong, acreech, and all the mental torment that can be administered at 3 a.m. What did we ever do to be so punished? I suppose they were not wanted in West Vancouver so they bring their filth in front of an Indian reserve, and we have spent $50,000 to connect with the city sewers.

They have no mercy on the sick Indians whose only comfort is a little sleep. Stacey and Bryan and Sinclair should listen to this excruciating noise.

SQUAMISH INDIAN.

The Wicked Headlines

No one possessed of a grain of what is regarded as the British sense of fair play would, at first thought, argue with any part of what Mr. Hutchison wrote under the above title.

However, I could not help but feel that more should have been made of those things which have, for several years, and still do provoke a large section of the British people into feeling as they do against Americanism (as distinct from Americans). And in this the British are not alone in the world.

While not forgetting that the press everywhere flourishes on the controversial, could it not be that those headlines in the British popular press took the realistic view, which most of us do not care to admit, in order to cater to their millions of readers.

I have spoken to several people on the subject of the American dilemma and no one has expressed one jot of sympathy only expressed their views with such remarks as—"serve them... well right, it will do them good." I see in such remarks a measure of proof that the headlines in the popular British press, which so many seem openly to dislike, had a goodly measure of reality in them. And those making the remarks were in no way people who live in accordance with the dictates of the popular press. Besides, the same sentiments have been expressed all over the world only in more acceptable terms.

I see in the headings, whether I like it or not, a case of the popular press meeting in its own special way, the feelings of a big and important slice of the inhabitants of the British Isles.

The United Kingdom owes much to the United States. However, obligations can sometimes be very hard to acknowledge, even when life itself is at stake.

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Mistakes of Judgment

IT is true, as Mr. Nixon said on Sunday about Vanguard, that there is nothing conclusive about a test which fails. It is true also that the operation could not have been secret owing to the fact that it is impossible to conceal everything that goes on at the launching site on the Florida beach.

This, however, raises the question of why the country and the world were not properly prepared for the possibility of a failure, why such large public expectations were allowed to build themselves up. The first Sputnik was launched on Oct. 4. The news was received in Washington the next day. On Oct. 9, as his reply to the Soviet achievement, the President issued a statement in which he announced the official schedule of "those charged with the United States satellite program."

Small test vehicles, he said, would be launched during 1957 to check the rocketry, instrumentation and ground stations, and the "first fully instrumented satellite vehicle would be launched in March of 1958. The first of these test is planned to be launched in December of this year."

That announcement was the origin of the fiasco on December 6. Who it was that wrote the President's statement for him, we do not know. He may have been a scientist who had no knowledge of public opinion, and did not realize that the public do not read the fine print. He would then have assumed that he was covering a possible failure by speaking of a "test" vehicle.

Only a Test

Or he may have been some kind of a lay-thought writer who had had an interview with some of the scientists. Then it would have been a man who did not know that a "test" vehicle can just as well fail as succeed in the test.

In any event, the whole world was allowed to think that the President had promised that a small satellite would be launched in December of this year and a fully instrumented one in March of the coming year.

Inquiry in Washington will show, I think, that with all the public relations officers there are in Washington, from Mr. Hagerty down the line, there was nobody who, with Sputnik circling the globe, could take charge of the problem of how the American government was to respond.

Any tyro could have told the President on Oct. 9 that—since there was no certainty of success in the test—he should see to it that no one else subjected the scientists to a public deadline.

Basic Error

If this were an isolated instance, it might be possible to accept it and dismiss it as a bumble, and just one of those things that are bound to happen now and then.

But the basic error in the advice which the President got and took after Sputnik was not limited to the deadline on the U.S. satellite to match the Russian satellite. The same error appeared again in the President's decision, during the visit to Washington of Mr. Macmillan and Mr. Spaak, to attend the NATO meeting in Paris this month.

Like the statement about the satellite, this decision was taken in an atmosphere of dismay and chagrin and alarm under the impulse to do something spectacular to counteract the Soviet achievement.

That this is a fair criticism is attested by the fact that the President was committed to a meeting at the "summit" before there was even an understanding of what was to be discussed, much less an agreement on what should be done.

Surely, it is a cardinal rule in diplomacy that there should not be a meeting of heads of governments unless and until their foreign ministers have made certain before they meet that there will be a useful and an important agreement. The mountain must not labor and bring forth only a mouse. Even less, must it labor and produce an earthquake.

But here, as in the case of the deadline, the President has committed himself hastily and recklessly to something which involves not only his own prestige but that of the country.

When the President was stricken recently, the first reaction of the state department, which must have been that of Mr. Dulles, was to "assume" that the President would not go to Paris. It was the right assumption. For on the very best conceivable medical diagnosis, his illness was a perfectly adequate diplomatic reason for undoing the mistake of having promised to go to Paris in the first place.

Doctors' Dilemma

It is said that it has been the President himself who overruled the state department, and that that is why we faced another one of those weird affairs when the President's doctors made the final decision on a great political issue.

It is a great pity. For granting the best, that he is physically able to make the journey, the political risk of his making it is enormous and unnecessary.

If there were any close friends of his who could tell him the truth, they should have told him to stay at home and instead have Mr. Dulles negotiate with the Allies and refer back to him the momentous decisions. These he could then make deliberately, in peace and quiet away from the hubbub of one of those tumultuous international conferences.

A lot is being said about how necessary to the future of NATO is the use of the President's prestige. The answer is that the President's prestige is at least as great here as it will be when he gets to Paris, and that if he stays here his prestige will last longer.

To My Child

The gift of God is a gift so rare,
Only a woman this gem to bear.
So tiny, so frail, like a flake of snow,
Only a woman this treasure can know.

She suffers pain, a matter of time,
A babe in her arms, a feeling sublime.
So fragile the gift, so soft and warm,
So rare the babe and tiny in form.

Little curled hands reaching out for love,
Hair as soft as the down of a dove,
Eyes as bright as the sky is blue,
Skin so soft with a radiant hue.

The hunger cry of the new-born child
Fed warm from the breast with a comforting smile.

As yes! the treasure, for when babe's asleep,
All the riches in the world you'd never keep.

No diamond, no ruby, no string of pearls
Can match the smile or baby's curls.
The arms that reach for mother's love,
Are God's great gift to her from above.

So treasure the love of your new-born child,
Treasure the warmth of her welcoming smile.

This love of ours to our child we give,
Though we may die so she can live.

Working to Keep You Warm

SOMETIMES I'm so modest about my modesty that people scarcely notice I have any.

Purely in the interests of science, I am putting aside my reluctance to talk about my good deeds. It is my intention to tell you how hard I am working to produce the balmy weather we're having this winter.

My efforts are personally costly in terms of funds, health and time. Still, it is my duty to my fellowmen to keep at the job. It leaves me weak physically and financially, yet I shall go on.

My determination rests on a scientific treatise which says: "Every time you start a car, light a fire or turn on a furnace you are joining the greatest weather 'experiment' men have ever launched. You are adding your bit to the tons of carbon dioxide sent constantly into the air as coal, oil and wood are burned at unprecedented rates. Collecting in the atmosphere, warming the earth, and influencing massive currents deep within the sea, this gas could in time substantially change the earth's climate."

"This invisible gas," the treatise goes on to say, "acts like the glass in a gardener's greenhouse. It lets solar energy pass right on through to the ground but tends to block the radiation of heat from the ground to the sky. The result is a small but significant warming influence all over the earth."

I'M WORKING ON IT

What am I doing about this? Plenty. Not only do I start my car frequently. I light fires, turn on the furnace, run my outboard motor and—above all—I smoke. I smoke continuously, filling the air with my own special brand of carbon dioxide and thereby building the "glass" to enclose the greenhouse of the world.

Almost imperceptibly I am adding my measure of warmth to the earth. And I'm making ground. Look at the weather we've been having, and this the thirteenth of December!

I'm prepared to accept the sacrifices imposed on me by my dedication to the production of carbon dioxide—the sacrifices and the risks I keep reading about in the newspapers. But there is one small corner of uncertainty in my mind. It is just conceivable, science tells me, that the production of all this carbon dioxide may have the opposite effect to that for which I labor.

I discount this possibility for reasons to be explained later. But since it has been suggested, it is only honest to outline the theory on which it is based.

The scientists say that weather is produced by the heating and cooling of land and water. Oceans, they explain, can store more of the energy drawn from the sun than land and yield it more slowly. Also, this energy is distributed widely through the great ocean currents.

The heat energy is given up to the air at various times and in many places. Conversely, the air is also cooled in many places by the oceans.

All this leads to what is called the overturning of the ocean, its yielding of warmth to the atmosphere and its flow of currents bringing cold water from great depths to the surface.

NO TURN-OVER

Now it appears that the Atlantic is not overturning as it should—probably because of the New York subway strike or communist efforts to inject fluorine into the water.

And the experts say the ocean won't overturn unless the climate turns colder. If this does not happen, the polar regions won't be cold enough to produce deep, cold-water bottom currents which, flowing equatorwards, push warmer water to the surface and cause the ocean waters to overturn. This has me confused. It seems to say that unless it gets colder it can't get warmer, but it might get warmer because of the "greenhouse glass" of the carbon dioxide layer.

Anyhow there's no apparent change in the water temperature at Foul Bay. My fishing partner washed off his hooks in it the other day just before we landed. With hands recently immersed he grasped the dock and I clumsily stood on his hand. It didn't hurt. The hand was numb. So I discount the theory of changing water temperatures.

That puts me right back to my job—which is to smoke like mad to make more carbon dioxide to build better greenhouse glass.

Pass the makings, will you partner?

'Robin Hood' Project

NEW YORK—One of the more horrible features of the post-war period has been the tendency to form international bodies and then put their initials together into proper names.

So we have NATO, and SEATO, and UNESCO, an UNICEF, to mention only the more obvious ones.

But there's one name made up of initials that is both meaningful and pleasing to the ear. It has to do with economic development—the provision of capital by the rich countries to those that are poor. Some people call it the "Robin Hood" project.

When it was first conceived, several years ago, it was suggested that its name be the United Nations Fund for Economic Development, but when the initials were put together into a name, it came out UNFED, which wasn't very satisfactory. So somebody had the bright idea of putting the word "Special" in front of it, and that made it SUNFED—very satisfactory indeed.

For a while, it seemed that SUNFED might provide the answer to many of the ailments of the world—and many countries still think that it would. But in the course of the many debates that have been held about SUNFED, differences have sprung up between the "Haves" and the "Have-nots"—the nations that would put money into the fund, and those that would take money out. The main contributors to the fund would be the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada—and they, the United States in particular, have become dubious about the advisability of putting up as much money as SUNFED would require.

MORE TAKERS

The point about SUNFED is that the nations putting money in would have to get it from their taxpayers—mainly the taxpayers of the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada, though many other nations would be expected to contribute. The fund would be administered by the United Nations, which of course has 82 members, a majority of whom would be takers rather than givers.

The principle at stake is, do you take money from your taxpayers and use it to set up a fund in which your nation is only one voice among 82?

When SUNFED was first approved in principle, back in 1953, it was stated that the money to put into it would come, in part, from the savings that would be made once disarmament gets under way. In other words, money saved on arms would go to help in the development of countries that lack sufficient capital to do the jobs themselves.

Disarmament, of course, has yet to materialize, so there have been no savings in that department. This fact, plus the reluctance of the United States Congress to channel enormous amounts of economic aid through the United Nations, has caused the U.S. to cool off on SUNFED, although continuing to approve it in principle, for possible action later.

The United Kingdom feels the same way about it, and this week, in the SUNFED debate in the Assembly's Economic Committee, a similar point of view was expressed by Canada.

Canada's Minister of State, Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, voiced support for an alternative to SUNFED that has been put forward by the United States.

It's estimated that 250-million dollars would be needed to get SUNFED going, and since that sort of money isn't in sight, the U.S. has proposed the setting up of a smaller fund, to a total of 100-million dollars. SUNFED envisaged vast projects in the fields of power, transport, communications, education and health. The new special projects fund proposed by the United States would have more modest objectives. These would include surveys of water, mineral and power resources in under-developed countries, plus research and training projects that might set the stage for something like SUNFED later on.

CANADA NOT HAPPY

Mrs. Fairclough said the Canadian government would consider asking Parliament to approve a contribution to such a fund. She expressed the hope that a compromise could be reached between the nations that want SUNFED right away and the supporters of the more modest United States special projects fund.

She went on to warn the committee that Canada wasn't happy to find aid projects in which she's involved becoming the subject of bitter debates at the United Nations. Canada has had considerable success and satisfaction, she said, in providing economic assistance outside the United Nations, and she hinted that Canada might be content to channel all of her projects outside the UN.

Efforts to reach a settlement are going on now, a decision is expected some time next week.

Ambassador Level Talks With Russ Urged on Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Mike Mansfield proposed today that President Eisenhower consider exploratory negotiations with Russia at the ambassador level before rejecting Premier Bulganin's call for new East-West talks.

But Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and a member of its foreign relations committee, said there should be no meeting of the two heads of government unless both the U.S. ambassador to Moscow and the Soviet ambassador to Washington agree it might be fruitful.

He said he had in mind preliminary negotiations by U.S. ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson and Georgi N. Zorin, the Soviet ambassador here.

STEVENSON AGREES

Mansfield outlined his views after Adlai E. Stevenson called on the president to give Bulganin's new letter a reply which is "affirmative in spirit."

The Bulganin letter, a 15-page document, was delivered here earlier in the week. Similar messages had gone to heads of NATO governments in Europe.

In his letter to Eisenhower, Bulganin called anew for top-level East-West talks and ending nuclear bomb tests on terms which have not been acceptable to the West in the past.

Mansfield said "The problem is to determine, on the ambassadorial level, whether there is any possibility that Russia would agree to any worthwhile action, or continue to talk peace while it threatens war."

Stevenson said he had offered "some suggestions" on how Bulganin might be answered. He did not elaborate.

KEEP MINDS OPEN

Mansfield told an interviewer Bulganin's letter should be given "due consideration."

While he said it appeared to be an attempt "to downgrade the significance of the NATO summit meeting" in Paris, "we should keep our minds open" on all such communications.

If there is even a possibility of achieving some degree of success on mutually beneficial proposals, those proposals "should be placed in the hands of the ambassadors of the two countries."

"If the ambassadors achieve a degree of success and agree on the value of a summit meeting, then, and only then, should a meeting of the heads of state be agreed to."

Stevenson criticized Bulganin's unwillingness to couple an end of nuclear testing with an agreement to halt manufacture of atomic-hydrogen weapons.

"I would like to think that Mr. Bulganin's letter is a good omen," Stevenson said. "But if the Russians want to ban the use of nuclear weapons I wonder why they won't agree to ban production?"

Jail Lively As Guitarist Held 2 Days

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP)—A couple of days in a cell wasn't too great an inconvenience for westerner Ross Stewart. Police let him take along his guitar.

Stewart was picked up when his wife in Brandon, Man., charged non-support. For two days the station corridors echoed to Stewart's warbles.

The concert ended Wednesday when Magistrate R. I. Moore told Stewart he was free as a prairie breeze. His wife had dropped the complaint.

The happy ending: radio station CKLY in this town 18 miles west of Peterborough tape-recorded Stewart's croonings and put them on a program. Stewart has been offered a job in the area.

THREE REASONS

'Peg Shows Loss

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers operated at an estimated deficit of $11,456 for the 1957 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

The figure was reported at a club meeting Thursday night by Gordon Lawson, vice-president and chairman of the budget committee, who said all figures are estimated as the books are not completed.

The club's total revenue reached $555,331, but expenses skyrocketed to a record high of $566,787. Last year, the club showed a profit of $8,223, after revenue of $490,017 and expenses of $481,794.

INJURIES COST $30,000

Lawson said there were three major reasons for the loss this year:

1. Attendance for the final three home league games dropped 9,000 below the figure for the corresponding games last year—causing an estimated revenue loss of $23,000.

2. The phenomenal string of injuries suffered by the team cost the club more than $30,000 in salaries and medical expenses, roughly $10,000 more than was budgeted.

3. Pre-season games—against Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders—brought about $20,000 less than expected.

After five home games, attendance was 5,700 ahead of the corresponding figure in 1956. This year, however, all playoff positions became apparent early in the season, including the order of the finish. As a result, attendance dropped to average of only 13,000 fans for the last three games. The club had budgeted for an average of 15,321.

TICKET OPTION COSTS

On injuries, Lawson said the club had to pay the full contract price for imports Bob Davenport, Bob McNamara and Buddy Leake and also had to pay the salaries of the players who replaced them.

Lawson also estimated the decision to allow season ticket holders to exercise an option on their seats for the pre-season games eliminated a possible $20,000 additional revenue.

Largest single expenditure was "team operating expenses," which included salaries, bonuses, travelling, training, hospital and away games expenses. The figure hit an all-time high — $414,496 — an increase of $84,165 over the same expenditures of last year.

On the credit side of the ledger, receipts for league games dropped off roughly $6,000, but most other revenues showed an increase, with play-off revenue the biggest single gainer. The figure was almost $60,000 higher than in 1956. Program sales, quarterback activities, memberships and pre-season game revenues were all higher than a year ago.

PIMLICO MEET HALTED

Freeze May Signal End of Old Hilltop

BALTIMORE (AP)—Faced with a frozen track, Pimlico closed out its 150th racing season Thursday night early. It is within the realm of possibility that Old Hilltop closed its gates for good.

About 1,000 fans, including a harry 80 from New York, were in the stands when executive director Lou Pondfield announced one hour before post time that the day's card was cancelled. He was forced to the decision by the jockeys, who voted 17-6 against riding.

Pondfield got permission from the Maryland Racing Commission to drop the remaining five days of the 28-day meeting.

It is possible that Pimlico will not be operating at its present stand in 1958. A bill will be considered by the 1958 legislature which would permit Pimlico to hold its 40 days of racing at Laurel, after closing down Old Hilltop.

The measure failed to pass last year. The Legislative Council, between-sessions arm of the Legislature, voted recently not to recommend passage this year.

SOCCKER GROUP FAILS TO HIT A HAPPY NOTE

Jim Lackie, chairman of a Victoria group seeking admission to the Pacific Coast Soccer League next summer, said this morning that local committee members had not reached a decision at a meeting Thursday night.

Stumbling block in the negotiations is a raise in the guarantee each home team must post, in accordance with the higher rates of transportation costs facing the league during their coming schedule.

Another meeting is planned for Tuesday evening.

NEW VOCATION

CHICAGO (AP)—Lou Boudreau is going to remain in baseball — as a radio announcer. Boudreau, deposed as manager of Kansas City Athletics last season, will team up with sportscaster Jack Quinlan to air the home and road games of Chicago Cubs in 1958.

Midget Puck Lead Loaded

With every game played, first place in the midget division of the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association becomes more of a scramble.

Thursday was no different as Americans joined Flyers, Cougars and Canucks in a tie for top place following their 3-2 win over Flyers at Memorial Arena.

Frank Wilson netted the winner for Americans with less than three minutes remaining in regulation time, following goals by Tom Birkenhead and Garry Webb. Flyer goals were scored by Jim Cathro and Russ Ashworth.

It was the first time in league history a team went scoreless. Melva Beardsell, five-foot-two speedster, scored 42 of her team's points.

'HEIGHT OF PRESUMPTION'

Celler called the Yankee territorial claim "The height of presumption" and said the void left in New York by the departure of the Giants and Dodgers "must be filled by another National League team."

The city of New York has appointed a four-man committee to investigate the possibility of luring another team to New York. However, the committee is holding off direct action until the territorial status is cleared up.

The matter came up at the recent major league meetings in Colorado Springs but was postponed until the next joint meeting on Jan. 25.

The leagues have appointed a four-man committee to investigate the situation, including attorney Roy Egan, Chicago; general manager Frankie Lane, Cleveland; general manager Dick Meyer of the St. Louis Cardinals; and general manager Gabe Paul, Cincinnati.

PAT DOESN'T WORRY ...

Crutches Are Different Story

By DOUG PEDEN
Pat Egan, like most good Irishmen, is superstitious. But he has to be convinced.

The Victoria Cougar coach will walk under a ladder or scoff at a black cat scooting across his path. Yet, because he can remember unpleasant incidents that followed such acts, he won't pick up dropped combs or gloves.

Although this is Friday the 13th, Pat doesn't blame the date for anything and expects his Cougars to start another Western Hockey League winning streak when they meet the Canucks at Vancouver tonight.

But if a blind man drops a cane or a cripple loses a crutch in his vicinity today, Egan will probably make a point of looking the other way.

Canes and crutches are on his hoodoo list. He can still remember when Tommy Anderson, his teammate with the old Brooklyn Americans suffered a severe skate cut on a leg at Montreal 15 years ago and had to hobble around on crutches for a few weeks.

The following week in Chicago, defenceman Wilf Shields was fooling around with the crutches. He broke a leg that night. In New York a few days later, Egan tried his hand with the sticks. He had his leg broken in a collision with Dit Clapper in Boston the following night. The date: Friday, Feb. 13.

"It wasn't the date," says Pat, "it was the crutches." It was - against Canucks that the Cats started a four-game win streak that ended with a 4-3 defeat in New Westminster Wednesday. And Egan hopes to trim the Vancouver club twice in two nights and start moving toward third place in the four-team Coast Division.

"We shouldn't have lost that one Wednesday," Egan said this morning. "We missed three breakaway chances and should have had four goals before they got their first one."

"But we're playing pretty well now and we'll catch someone before the season is over."

Cougars return to Memorial Arena Saturday night to face the Canucks in a return tussle and move over to Seattle against the Americans Sunday night.

"Friday the 13th may be unlucky for the Canucks tonight," says Pat.

Hard-Luck Habs Hit Again, Big Jean Injured This Time

Howe Flashes Old-Time Form As Wings Edge Beantowners

By The Canadian Press
Big Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings' great right-winger, is moving to regain his accustomed spot at the top of the National Hockey League scoring race.

The 29-year-old veteran scored two goals and assisted on a third Thursday night as Detroit edged Boston Bruins 3-2 and won their first home game since Oct. 24.

In Montreal, Montreal Canadiens slipped past Rangers by a similar score. It was Canadiens' first win over Rangers this year in four meetings and gave them a nine-point edge over New York at the top of the league standings.

The Montreal victory was costly. The hard-luck Habs were hit by the injury jinx for the fourth time this season. Jean Beliveau, their big centre star, will be lost to the team "indefinitely" because of a broken rib cartilage.

Beliveau, who joins the great Rocket Richard on the sidelines, suffered the injury in a collision with New York's Dave Creighton in the final minutes of the game.

The actual injury was described as a broken costal cartilage of the left rib. Team trainer Bill Head said Beliveau "would be out indefinitely... a minimum of two weeks."

A decision on Beliveau's replacement was expected to be made later today.

TISS HORVATH

Howe's brilliant display gave him a fourth-place tie with Bronco Horvath of Boston in the scoring race, but it left Red Wings still in fifth place, a point back of Toronto Maple Leafs. The third-place Bruins hold a three-point edge over Toronto.

After a scoreless first period Boston got the jump on Wings with Don McKenney's 13th goal at the halfway mark. Seconds later Howe scored his 11th and less than five minutes later his 12th of the season.

Centre Norm Ullman scored to open the third on Howe's pass and at 13:48 Allan Stanley scored Boston's second but they could do no more.

Howe's second goal was a splendid effort. With Wings' Bob Armstrong in the penalty box, he took the puck at midice, crashed through the Boston defence and blasted a 15-footer past Don Simmons with Bruins' Larry Regan draped around his shoulders.

He now has 12 goals and 15 assists for 27 points. At Montreal, the aroused Canadiens threw 48 shots at Marcel Paille, Rangers' rookie netminder. Paille's teammates managed only 26 shots on Canadiens' Jacques Plante.

SHARE HONORS
Don Marshall, Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrin and Marcel Bonin were the Montrealers who beat Paille—all in the first period. Rearguard Bill Gadsby gave New York one in the first and Dean Prentice rounded out the scoring with a 30-footer at 16:30 in the second.

Saturday Toronto is host to last-place Chicago Black Hawks; Boston is in Montreal and New York in Detroit. Sunday Toronto is at Boston; Montreal at Chicago and Detroit at New York.

Another Slant

By JIMMY BRESLIN

NEW YORK (NEA)—The first time Frank Bachman, the fight manager, was able to get a main event at Madison Square Garden he was handling Maxie Rosenbloom and by this time Slapsy had 150 bouts on his record.

Now Bachman has Rory Calhoun, the powerful middle-weight. Calhoun has had 34 fights, is only 23 and is one of three contenders for the title Carmen Basilio probably will defend against Ray Robinson in February in Chicago.

But Bachman still has to preach patience to Calhoun, which is why you always hear of Rosenbloom when Frank talks to his fighter.

"I tell him," Frank says, "that he's still young and look at the few fights he's had. The way we hear it now, if Robinson don't take the Basilio fight, then Joey Giardello will get it. Either way, my guy waits until late next year.

"So I tell him that in the old days 34 fights wouldn't entitle you to a six-round fight at the Garden, much less a championship shot."

Bachman talks of waiting in a different manner to trainer Charley Goldman.

"I don't want Calhoun doing anything but starting a round and never stopping until the whole thing is over and I keep reminding Charley about it," he says.

"The guy's lost two fights. We take Spider Webb in Chicago—we're fighting him back in San Francisco, Jan. 20—and Calhoun has him down in the third, but doesn't do much about it. Then he gets going and nearly takes Webb apart the last two rounds, but they give it to Webb.

"We lose to Giardello in Cleveland for the same reason. Charley kept worrying about Calhoun getting hit by a sneak punch. So Calhoun starts waiting. Giardello couldn't have lasted another 30 seconds in the 10th—he said so himself—but he gets the decision because Rory started too late."

There is another angle to the hurry up and wait course Bachman pursues. Calhoun is not the kind of fighter who can be idle between fights. He is a fighter in condition who mauls and chokes opponents and makes them work. No classic boxer, the bobbing, weaving Rory needs fights.

The Calhoun camp also needs income, otherwise Rory's habit of using up between $30 and $40 worth of sparring partners each day could become expensive.

"We have to get him light-heavyweights, because I won't have him taking it easy even in the gym," Bachman explains.

For a fight guy, Rory isn't easy to handle. It isn't girls or drink or any of the other pitfalls common to fighters. It's music. Rory, son of a Georgia minister, is a glutton for classical music.

In San Francisco for a bout with Joey Giambra, his idea of a big time was to meet Arthur Fiedler, the conductor, and attend a concert.

He brought Bachman along. After 50 years of managing fighters, the only music Frank likes is the Jacobs Beach theme song—the rustle of money being counted. So he sat through the evening as best he could.

"When a fighter is winning, you do anything to keep him happy," Frank Bachman says. "But why couldn't this guy like westerns?"

AUSTRALIAN SELECTORS NAME DAVIS CUP TEAM

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Australian selectors announced today their Davis Cup team that will defend the famed international tennis trophy in the challenge round Dec. 26-28.

The four players named were Mal Anderson, Ashley Cooper, Neale Fraser and Mervyn Rose. Harry Hopman is the non-playing captain.

Australia will meet the winner of the U.S.-Belgium inter-zone final.

BUT CUS NOT WILLING

Divorce May Be Machen's Answer

NEW YORK (UP)—Manager Sid Flaherty announced unexpectedly Thursday that he and top contender Eddie Machen would jump from the International Boxing Club to an independent promoter if it meant a heavyweight title shot for Machen.

Flaherty of San Francisco, generally considered the IBC's most enthusiastic west-coast partisan, telephoned this writer: "Machen is ready to challenge Floyd Patterson under any promotion that (manager) Cus D'Amato may select."

Moreover, Machen would agree to "the most reasonable terms" and post a sizeable guarantee for a return title fight in case of victory.

"And we'd sign any other legal agreement D'Amato deemed necessary," Flaherty stressed.

Flaherty's announcement admittedly was touched off by this week's disclosure that there was no hope of ending the feud between D'Amato and promoter Jim Norris. Although Norris was willing to sit down with D'Amato and "try to straighten things out," fiery Cus refused bitterly to meet him.

TOO LATE

When informed of Machen's readiness to challenge under independent promotion, D'Amato declared grimly, "they're too late. Machen, and Flaherty had their chance last June. I offered Machen a title shot then, but Flaherty said the fighter wasn't ready yet for a shot."

D'Amato charged that Flaherty's refusal last June had no bearing on Machen's "readiness," but instead was "part of an IBC plot to prevent any attractive contender from challenging under independent promotion."

Cus emphasized that he had told Flaherty at the time, "if you don't accept the title fight now, you'll never get another chance."

D'Amato said he had issued the same warning to Willie Pastrano, third ranking contender, and his manager when they refused the title bout.

Promoter Norris, expressing his willingness to confer with D'Amato last weekend, said, "this feud is one-sided. We never tried to prevent any fighter from challenging Patterson. In fact, Jackson's manager asked us if he should accept the title-fight offer, and we urged him to do so. And we would have done the same if the managers of Machen or Pastrano had asked us. We control no fighters, and we don't want to control any."

Boyd-Clark Combination Shows Way

Charlie Boyd and Johnny Clark are proving to be two of the most valuable players on the floor for Dairy Queen Eds in the Senior "B" Men's Basketball League, as they continue to lead Eds in the scoring department.

Playing Morrison Chevs on Thursday at Central Junior High School, Boyd dropped in 21 points and Clark 11 as Eds defeated Morrisons 62-32 to tie the Victoria College Vikings for top place.

In preliminary action, L. Heal scored 21 points to lead Victoria 5's to a 40-23 win over Brentwood's girls' team, while Polyettes came from behind to edge Meteors 35-32 with Millie Calhoun setting a 14-point pace.

Morrisons — Rittich 7, Macdonald, Northup 6, Devin 5, Olmstead, Fletcher 6, Moser, Garden 2, Turko 4, Parker, Total—32.

Dairy Queen Eds—Clark 11, Boyd 21, Saunders 2, Jones 6, Taylor 3, Briggs 2, Patterson 3, Ball 1, Strank 10, Bond, Total—62.

Blue Peter Mourned By British Turf Fans

LEIGHTON BUZZARD, Eng. (AP)—Blue Peter, one of Britain's greatest race horses and sires, has been destroyed after a heart attack.

The big stallion was 21. He won the 2,000 Guineas and Epsom Derby classics in 1939. The start of the war cancelled the St. Leger and denied him a try at the triple crown.

Rude Awakening For U.S. Pairing

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Belgium's Jackie Brichant and Philippe Washer staggered America's booming Davis Cup hopes with a fighting doubles exhibition today which upset Uncle Sam's prize tennis team of Vic Seixas and Gardnar Mulloy.

Their backs to the wall after the U.S. opening, singles triumphs Thursday, the veteran tandem from Brussels won 7-5, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3. With the U.S. ahead 2-1, the interzone final will be decided by Saturday's two final singles.

Herbie Flam, singles winner over Brichant, will face Washer and Seixas will meet his old nemesis Brichant, who licked him in a tremendous surprise on this same court in the 1953 interzone final.

On the basis of today's play there was no definite assurance America will go into the challenge round against Australia at Melbourne Dec. 26-28.

BELGIANS SNAP BACK

Both Brichant and Washer, who were nervous and unsure of themselves in the opening singles seemed to snap back into top form.

Mulloy, a 44-year-old veteran from Miami, Fla., failed to show the speed and reflexes needed. His volley errors and service failures were largely responsible for the U.S. defeat.

Adrian Quist, the famous Australian Davis Cup star of another era and now a prominent commentator on the game, said, "If the U.S. reaches the challenge round they obviously will have to make changes if they expect to win the doubles. Mulloy was a great doubles player in his day but he obviously has been out of competition too long."

Brichant, the scrappy 27-year-old Belgian, was easily the star of the day's show. He lost only one service and whenever the Belgians needed a point, it seemed Brichant always was there to hit a killing overhead or put away a sharp volley.

Seixas played well but lost his service twice at critical stages.

Edmonton Lefty Signed by Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Pitcher Dale Zeigler, who won 11 games and lost only three last season with Edmonton in the Western Canada Baseball League, Tuesday was signed by New York Yankees to a farm club contract.

Zeigler, 20, is to report next spring to Denver of the American Association, No. 1 farm club of the American League team.

Zeigler pitched a one-hitter for Edmonton in the Global World Series last fall in Detroit. A southpaw, he went to Edmonton from the University of Southern California, where he won 10 games and lost two.

Five Grocers Pay $15 Fines

Five Saanich grocers each were fined a nominal $15 in police court Thursday for keeping open for business and selling groceries on Sunday.

All were represented by lawyer Jack Gatehouse, who entered pleas of guilty.

One, Henry Eng, proprietor of Outdoor Market, 3475 Quadra, was previously found guilty in a test case and fined $15. Mr. Gatehouse said he is appealing the decision.

Eng was fined Thursday for being open Sept. 22, the same date the other four were charged with remaining open.

OFFENDERS

They were: Torquay Variety, 4101 Shelbourne; Gorge Produce, 76 Gorge West; Sevenoaks Community Store, 3935 Carey, and Harry's Grocery, 3268 Douglas.

Eng also is charged with violating the early Monday closing by-law in Saanich on Oct. 28 and Dec. 9, to which he has entered pleas of not guilty.

He faces a third charge, remanded with the others to next Thursday, of failing to comply with a fire marshal's order at 3468 Cook.

WATCHMAN SLUGGED, ROBBED

VANCOUVER (CP) — The night watchman of a Vancouver club was slugged unconscious and tied up Thursday by thugs who stole about $700. Police believe Sam Pagan, 60, watchman at Lumbermen's Social Club, unwittingly "locked himself in" with his attackers when the club closed Wednesday night.

Two Inquests Tonight In Three Island Deaths

Two inquests will be held in Nanaimo tonight into the deaths of three persons in two separate accidents on the Island Highway north of Nanaimo between 8 and 9 p.m. Thursday night.

Reg Patterson, 45, former business manager of the Victoria Athletics and Tyee baseball teams, and Mrs. Paul Auer of Wellington, were killed in a two-car collision near Northfield, about three miles north of Nanaimo.

Alexander W. Thomas, 79, Wellington pensioner and the strawberry farmer, was killed when struck by a small car on the highway near the Somerset Hotel, north of Wellington.

Police in Nanaimo said Mr. Patterson was driving south when his car was in collision with a second car in which Mr. Auer, a turkey farmer, was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital with severe internal injuries and is reported as "critically ill."

The Patterson-Auer inquest will be held at 7 p.m., and the Thomas inquest at 7:30 p.m. The accident occurred on the new Island Highway immediately south of the point where it crosses the old road on what used to be known as "dead man's curve," because of a number of accidents there years ago.

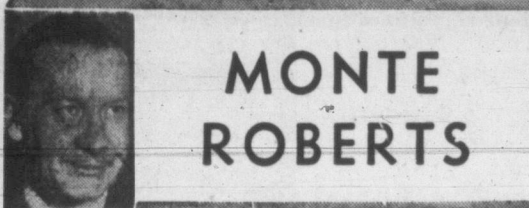

BALL PLAYER

Mr. Patterson, son of Magistrate T. M. Patterson of Port Alberni, came to Victoria during the Second World War as a crane operator, and played baseball for local teams. In 1946, with formation of the Victoria Athletics, in the Western International League, he became business manager, and continued with the Victoria Tyees.

When baseball expired, in mid-season of 1954 he turned to life insurance as a salesman, then a year ago joined Lucky Lager Brewing Co. Ltd. as a salesman.

Survivors include the widow, Janet, at home, 1796 Kings Road; one son, Douglas Allen, well known city soccer and basketball player; his parents, in Port Alberni; two brothers, Kenneth, in Cloverdale, and Terrence, Port Alberni.

The funeral will be held at McCall's chapel Tuesday at 1:30 p.m., and will be followed by cremation.

MONTE ROBERTS

Things I sometimes think about...

I sometimes think about being invited as the guest speaker of the Kennel Operators' Association, Inc. at its annual banquet... because I would so enjoy opening my remarks with "Ladies and Gentlemen..." I often think about Dave, the kennelman at the SPCA shelter here in Victoria... a man with an inborn love of animals, who knows how to handle them... and the animals, I might add, know how to handle him... which gives me a chance to say what I think about the SPCA taking over all pound duties in Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and (I hope) Saanich... what I think about this is, "peachy dandy."

I sometimes think about scatter rugs, because they certainly do... and today I have been thinking about the statement Mayor Percy Scurrell should make... so when I thought out loud to the mayor, suggesting his statement should be "It was a hard fight, maw, but I won," the mayor said "you may quote me..." I sometimes think about mysterious initials created by the Royal Canadian Navy, such as ABCD... but I have stopped thinking about this since meeting Lt.-Cmdr. Neil Russel, staff officer, ABCD, Pacific Command... after noting what coveys around in Neil's back yard, ABCD obviously means Able Bodied Cats and Dogs...

Among other things I sometimes think about, are these: I think about the possibility of Christmas being celebrated as the birthday of Christ (an unlikely possibility if I ever thought of one); I think about what is going on in outer space, and I am glad I am here so I can't find out what is going on in outer space; I think about what is going on in the minds of the female-type doggie in our house, namely Judy Boots Streak, and the female-type cat in our house, namely Little Miss Muffet, and I am NOT glad I can't figure out what is going on in their minds.

Also, sometimes I think about how high is up, how low is down, how broad is wide, and how round is a circle. Mostly, however, I think about how is why.

If I could ever arrive at the answer to how is why, I would never again think about it when is now.

I guess I shouldn't have mentioned some of the things I sometimes think about.

$1,000,000 RCMP Station Seen for City

A new $1,000,000 building to house headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in B.C. is slated for construction here it was learned by the Times today.

The report, which squelches rumors in the recent past of a planned move of E Division headquarters to Vancouver, stated the new building is in early planning stages. Estimates have still to go before the federal cabinet and it is thought likely construction will not begin before 1960.

It is understood the lease now held by the headquarters division of a former hotel at 716 Courtney Street, is due to expire within the next 18 months.

About 35 officers are employed at the headquarters building. Administration is headed by Assistant Commissioner C. W. Harvison, who was out of town and unavailable for comment today.

ROBERT MILKS

Scout Chief Takes Post In Toronto

Robert E. Milks, executive commissioner of the Victoria district of the Boy Scouts Association, resigned Thursday to become field commissioner of the Greater Toronto area, it was announced today.

Mr. Milks, 31, has been commissioner of this area for three years and three months. He has been associated with scouting 19 years, and in an executive capacity 11 years.

His resignation is effective January 15, and he assumes his new duties immediately on arrival in Toronto.

A decentralization of scouting is underway in the district—which now embraces about 2,700 scouts aimed at bringing individual boys closer to district operations. In effect, this means smaller units.

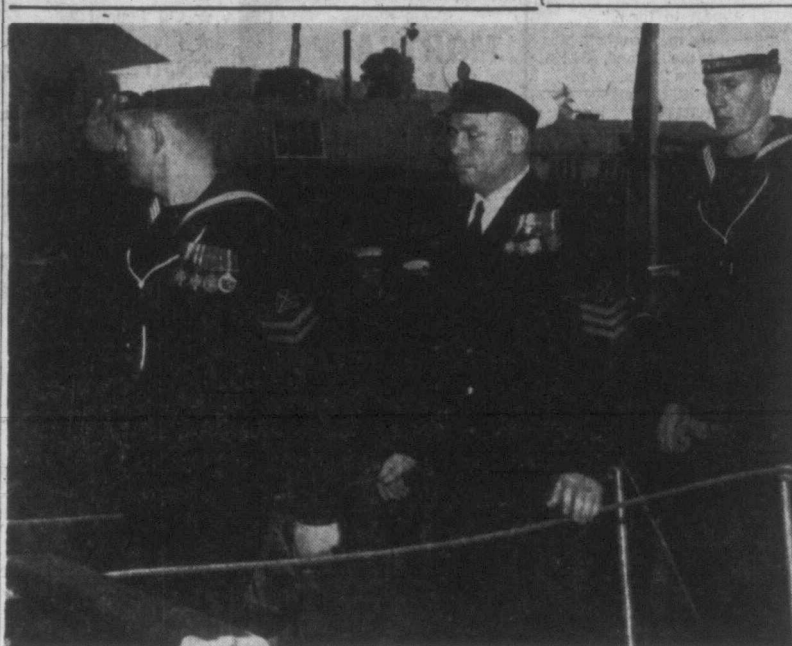

"I hope that the reorganization in the district meets with success and proves to be an aid to scouting," Mr. Milks said.

Replacement for the executive commissioner has not yet been decided.

SETTLE SQUABBLES

Fence Viewers Appointed In Esquimalt

The government today appointed three new "fence viewers" for the unorganized territory of the Esquimalt electoral district.

Their job will be to settle squabbles between farmers over property-dividing fences.

Often farmers get in a scrap with their neighbors over the condition of a fence, sharing of costs and upkeep.

To arbitrate the dispute, the government appoints three farmers from the same area, who are paid $5 a day and travelling expenses while they are on the case.

Findings of the "fence viewers" are binding. Their services can be obtained by request of either of the disputing parties, who must then pay the costs.

At one time, there were "fence viewers" appointed in almost all unorganized territories of the province. Now they are appointed only when needed.

There have been occasional disputes in the Cobble Hill and Metehosin areas, and the government today added three new "fence viewers" to the two already functioning there. Only three will sit at one time.

New viewers are, James Chidlow, 3670 Happy Valley Road; Ralph Willing, 3639 Happy Valley Road, and Aubrey Hall, Jacklin Road, Langford.

POLITICIANS SEE STRAWS IN WIND

Politicians of the opposition parties in B.C. took some comfort from Thursday's municipal elections, noting that candidates identified with the Social Credit movement fared poorly.

Although party line politics are normally eschewed in municipal contests, they saw as possible straws in the wind the de-

Auto Insurance Rates Jump 10%

Victoria motorists can expect an increase of about 10 per cent in car insurance rates in the New Year following a general increase throughout British Columbia, insurance officials said today.

In other parts of the province rates will be about 14 per cent higher than they have been since August and 20 per cent higher than in the early part of 1957.

"The increase will be less in Victoria and the area south of Bamerton because they are already lower than anywhere else in the province," said the manager of a local insurance firm.

The higher cost of cars, higher repairs and higher costs of hospital and medical expenses were blamed for the increase.

DAMAGE UP

B.C. Motor Vehicles Branch statistics show that property damage costs throughout the province jumped from $7,013,565 in the first nine months of 1956 to $8,262,365 in the same period this year.

The All Canada Federation announced various refinements in a further effort to relate premiums to claims in various areas and among different driver categories. For instance:

GOOD DRIVERS

1. Prudent drivers will be rewarded further with a 35 per cent discount for a three-year accident-free record rather than the previous 30 per cent discount off the basic rate.

2. Cost of "comprehensive" insurance will be reduced generally because of introduction of a $25 deductible feature on glass coverage.

3. A new rating territory—British Columbia's seventh—will be created for the Prince Rupert-Kitimat-Terrace area. Rates there will be higher than in any other B.C. region because of hazardous driving conditions and extremely high claims experience.

NEW AUTOS

Insurance leaders point to new car design as the greatest single factor pushing up the cost of claims.

"We all pay for the fishtail and the fancy chrome," one spokesman said.

Kenneth Sabiston, manager of B.C. Underwriters' Association, emphasized that the industry is continuing to introduce refinements to distribute the premium load equitably.

"Our records show that a typical policy for an accident-free driver in the 1A category cost about 25 per cent more in 1949 than it will in 1958."

"But the accident-prone and careless driver now pay a great deal more proportionately."

He added that almost 50 per cent of B.C. drivers are in the 1A category, qualifying for the lowest rates.

BORROWING BY PGE HITS LIMIT

The government-owned PGE reached the limit of its borrowing powers today.

Borrowings of $4,212,242.80 to pay construction costs on the northern extension were approved by the cabinet.

This raises the total borrowings of the PGE to exactly $80,000,000, the limit set at the last legislature session.

It is expected the government will introduce legislation at the up-coming session to raise the limit still higher.

Business Tax Must Be Paid By Tuesday

A 5 per cent penalty and possible legal action faces almost 1,100 Victoria businesses unless their 1957 business tax is paid by Tuesday.

A total of $125,000—about 25 per cent of the total 1957, $474,000 levy by the city on the business community is still unpaid today, it was learned at City Hall.

Due date for payment actually is Sunday, according to the business tax bylaw. However, as this is a holiday, city comptroller Dennis A. Young says the final collection date has been advanced and no penalty will be imposed on payments made Monday.

"This will give merchants opportunity to mail cheques over the weekend," he said.

APPLIED TUESDAY

The 5 per cent penalty will be applied Tuesday, and if payment is then not made by early January, legal action will be taken to collect the amount owing.

About $290,000 of the total levy had already been paid into City Hall when business tax bills were issued in November.

This had been paid in form of trade licence fees.

Under the city system, adopted for the first time this year, merchants are required to pay either trade licence fees or business tax, whichever is greater.

Trade licence fees are normally payable in January and in June. If the total paid is greater than the amount charged in business tax, no further payment is due. If, however, trade licence fees are less than the business tax levy, the balance must be paid to City Hall by Tuesday.

UP 50%

Trade licence fees have been paid in the city for years. The business tax was brought in when it became necessary to increase the levy on business by 50 per cent, jumping the overall revenue from $300,000 to $474,000.

Although trade licence fees were established arbitrarily on the basis that largest firms paid the greater fee, business tax is worked out on an assessment basis.

Each firm in the city was given an appraised rental value, based on actual rents paid in the adjoining area.

Tax is computed by applying to this a 6 1/2 per cent tax rate. The tax rate was the lowest which would provide the $474,000 revenue called for in the 1957 budget.

There were 106 appellants against the business tax assessment at a court of revision at City Hall, Oct. 7 and 8. About 20 appeals were withdrawn. Less than 1 per cent of the gross tax roll was deleted by the court.

Drive Against Brucellosis Getting Results

The drive to stamp out brucellosis among cattle on Vancouver Island is beginning to bring results.

They made the disclosure in announcing that the Gulf Islands and Vancouver Island brucellosis control areas are being merged into one.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Please tell me what age a person has to be to obtain a hunting licence in B.C., and what age a person must be to obtain a licence for a gun?

—W. P. W.

A—You can get a licence for hunting at the age of 14; but to do so between ages of 14 and 18 years requires the consent of parents or guardians. Also, the 14-18 hunter must be accompanied in the field by an adult. To get a gun licence, obtainable at the same age, it is necessary to have a form signed by parents or guardians issued by the game department of the provincial government. Any sporting goods store will issue them, if authenticated.

STATEMENT IN ARSON TRIAL

'She Called It Little Oakalla'

A Saanich man charged with arson was quoted in Saanich court Thursday as saying "I set fire to my house. I built it all myself. She called it little Oakalla . . ."

Emerson Eugene Michael, 33, 4384 Robinwood, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to Jan. 9 for presentation of defence evidence.

Michael was charged in connection with a fire at his home Sept. 1 at about 3:30 p.m.

The statement was quoted by Dr. Lloyd McNiven, who examined Michael for sobriety at 4:45 p.m., Sept. 1. He said the accused, in his opinion, was impaired by alcohol as if he had been drinking for a considerable time.

Next door neighbor Richard Friesen, 4382 Robinwood, said he noted considerable argument going on at the Michael home, Sept. 1. He said there was evidence of drinking.

At one point Mrs. Michael came out of the house with a glass in her hand, he said.

RETURNED ALONE

In the early afternoon Michael, his wife and another man left the house and some time later Michael returned alone.

Around 3 p.m. Friesen said he saw Michael go into his garage and bring out an armful of square cans including one he knew to contain gasoline used for Michael's power mower.

He took them in the house, Friesen said, and after a while Michael came out the back door.

" . . . I saw fire coming out of what would be the bathroom window. I ran outside and asked Mr. Michael what had happened.

"He said he had built the house and he was going to burn it down. He went and sat in the garage door to watch," Friesen said.

The neighbor then called firemen, who arrived within about three minutes.

DENSE SMOKE

Fireman Harold B. Gains saw smoke coming from doors and windows, "the densest smoke I ever came across," he said. Gains put on a smoke mask to make a search of the premises.

He went through and noticed fire burning in the hall and back bedroom and an oily-type substance scattered over floors, walls and furniture.

Coming to the back door, he went out and saw Michael sitting in the garage doorway, laughing and shouting, "You'll never put that fire out."

Fire Capt. Arthur J. Logie said he thought the dark substance found staining furniture and walls was creosote.

Analyst T. W. McC. Davis said the substances were creosote and two types of solvent.

IGY Promises Carried Out By Russians

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—One of the scientists directing the U.S. satellite tracking program says the Russians are living up to all their promises for the International Geophysical Year.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, assistant director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, told a reporter Thursday night:

"As far as I am concerned, the Russians have met all the IGY agreements so far."

Hynek was commenting on a Russian proposal that a code be developed for rapid exchange of satellite tracking information.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian director, said an unidentified Soviet scientist made the proposal in a letter to him about six weeks ago.

Whipple said the code suggested by the Russian would employ a simple number system and would be used primarily to save money on cable costs and ensure accuracy.

Charges listed against Victoria motorists are:

1. Failure to come to a dead stop at stop signs.
2. Following cars going through with the leader at a stop sign.
3. Turning out from the curb without looking to see if the road is clear.
4. Opening the left-hand front door and stepping out regardless of oncoming traffic.
5. Crossing the centre line in the face of oncoming traffic.
6. Ignorance or lack of experience.
7. Lack of courtesy or bad manners.
8. Carelessness or "just plain stupidity."

"One of our directors has suggested that authorities of the four municipalities of Greater Victoria can be blamed not only for laxity in correcting these abuses, but for making such abuses necessary on certain streets and roads," Mr. Warren said.

"There are many streets with a painted line down the centre where, if a car is parked at the curb, it is impossible to continue without crossing over the line."

"In such cases it is suggested that parking should be prohibited or else limited to one side of the street with the centre line placed off centre."

Gave Liquor To Juvenile

Sidney resident Tony Enamelo Pastro was fined $300 or three months at hard labor for supplying liquor to a juvenile and $35 or 7 days for speeding over 50 when he appeared Thursday in Saanich police court.

He indicated he would serve the time rather than pay the fines and Magistrate H. C. Hall made the second option consecutive to the first.

Proudfoot Edges Smith; Edgelow Again Leads Poll

NEW FACE ON VICTORIA CITY COUNCIL is that of Capt. D. J. Proudfoot (right) who upset the dopesters by defeating Ald. J. Donald Smith in close race. Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow (left), topped the polls in six-way race for four council seats. Also re-elected were Ald. Millard Mooney and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

Referendums Passed By Big Margin

By PETE LOUDON

The election of Capt. D. J. Proudfoot and defeat of Ald. J. Donald Smith were the only changes in city council following civic elections Thursday.

Returned to office were Ald. G. I. Edgelow, Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

The smallest turnout of voters in 15 years, 27.5 per cent, passed both the library by-law and the referendum on a royal commission to probe amalgamation by wide majorities.

School board incumbents Kenneth Leeming and A. H. Wilson were returned to office.

The defeat of Ald. Smith, considered earlier as a dark horse candidate for mayor, came as a surprise. He has served five years on council and last year was its most controversial member.

His defeat will reduce chances that the present business tax will be altered to provide a classified system of taxation.

Two Positions

Ald. Smith, who is also a Victoria School M.L.A., said his defeat was due partially to public concern at his attempts to fulfill both positions.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot won his council seat after many years of civic endeavor.

He is at present finance chairman of the Victoria Library Board and secretary of the Greater Victoria centennial committee, and a member of the provincial centennial committee.

A former Liberal M.L.A., he has also served on the board of Royal Jubilee Hospital. He is a First World War veteran, a former school teacher and at present describes himself as a "student at law." He was defeated in his last bid for council two years ago.

Victorians overwhelmingly supported the two opinion votes.

A new library agreement which gives voting powers to members from surrounding municipalities, and confirms a recently adopted basis for sharing library costs, was passed 3,963 to 527.

On the question of asking for a provincial government-appointed royal commission to investigate amalgamation, the vote was 4,196 yes, and 1,276 no.

Early Trend

The final pattern of the vote was indicated after counting of the first 160 ballots.

Later Ald. Smith climbed ahead of Capt. Proudfoot, but by the time the first half of the count was complete, Capt. Proudfoot had again taken the lead. He finally edged Ald. Smith by 161 votes.

Greatest evidence of disregard of voting rights and privilege came from View Royal which votes with Victoria for school board members only.

The count there showed only 17 out of 400 eligible voters cast ballots. Results for the area were: Leeming, 12; Williams, 14 and Wilson, 8; each person voting for two candidates.

Here are the comments of candidates and other aldermen who appeared with Mayor Percy Scurrell to watch the final figures posted:

Ald. G. I. Edgelow, who led the polls as he did in 1955:

"It is my intention to press for continued operation of the city with economy. I think we should aim to develop our dormant assets such as the Gorge, and continue our beautification program." He has won his third two-year council term.

Big Surprise

Ald. M. H. Mooney, five years on council and at present chairman of public works: "The biggest surprise to me was the defeat of Ald. Smith."

"My pet project next year will be completion of our new garbage wharf and disposal system. I would also like to see a powerful and workable inter-municipal committee. It should be a first step toward amalgamation."

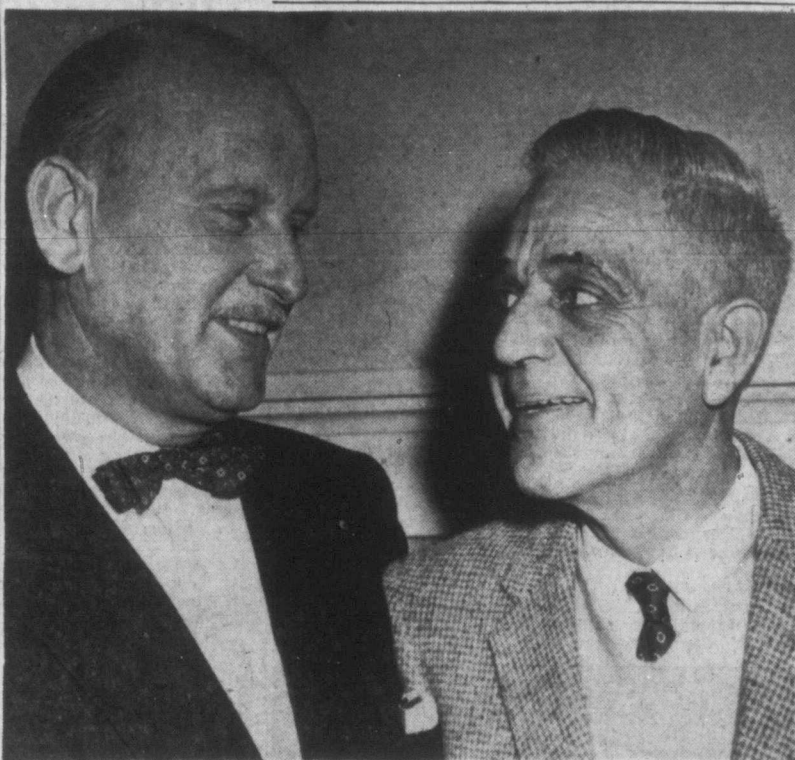

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson, who goes back to council for a second term, said: "I hope I can continue next year in health and welfare." (She was 1956-57 chairman.)

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot said: "We have several projects ahead of us, one of the main ones being to obtain relief from costs of education."

Ald. Don Smith said his defeat would be welcomed by his wife and two little daughters, who could expect to see him more often.

"I knew it would be close and thought I'd be fourth elected. However, some people do not approve of my holding two offices."

Mayor Percy Scurrell, who was elected by acclamation on nomination day, said: "I am very happy at the results. We've got a busy year ahead of us."

SMILING IN DEFEAT was Eugene Diespecker, who lost his bid to unseat Reeve Arthur Ash (left) of Saanich.

Mr. Diespecker, who resigned his council seat to contest the reeveship, went ahead in early rural returns but fell behind when urban polls reported.

'Old Guard' Defeated In Saanich; Ash Wins

By JOHN MIKA

Saanich's "old guard" took a beating Thursday night and the controversial Dec. 12th Group made good with the election of all four candidates it endorsed—Reeve Arthur Ash, Coun. George Chatterton, Stanley Murphy, Charles Nelles and Harold Todd.

Coun. Eugene Diespecker, who resigned his seat in mid-term to contest the reeveship, was defeated along with 17-year veteran Coun. Leslie Passmore and budding "old guard" candidate Ronald Grant, an ex-councillor.

All three were unconditionally opposed to amalgamation although Coun. Diespecker was the only one to make a strong stand against a royal commission investigation.

Reeve Ash polled 3,878 votes

to Mr. Diespecker's 3,011.

Mrs. Frances Thompson, past president of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher Council, led James McPherson and George McWilliam to win the two-year term on School District 61 (Saanich) School Board.

read the writing on the wall early in the evening.

He gave reporters a prepared statement conceding defeat after only three polls out of 13 had reported even though he was strongest contender for the third council seat at the time.

He took the step when faster reporting on the reeveship race at that moment showed the Lansdowne poll returns had turned the tide running against Reeve Ash by a 537-163 margin against Coun. Diespecker. This poll sent the reeve in to the lead for the first time and he never looked back.

33 Per Cent of Voters Turn Out

About 6,900 voters out of a possible 20,684 went to the polls to hit slightly better than a 33 per cent turnout—average for a reeveship election year.

They gave strongest support to Coun. Chatterton and Mr. Murphy, who polled 4,988 and 4,161 votes, respectively.

Although the Dec. 12th Group advertised it was "not opposed" to Coun. Chatterton, he voiced strong objection to this diluted form of endorsement after refusing to accept its support.

Coun. Passmore, who landed at the bottom of the heap in the race for a two-year term despite several ups and downs,

Cadboro Bay Poll Killed Him

Despite his move, it looked for a while as though Coun. Passmore would make it. He was only six votes behind Mr. Nelles with four polls left but the Cadboro Bay poll finally killed his chances when it gave him only 135 votes against 304 for Mr. Nelles.

Further returns from Lansdowne, in the Saanich "pan-handle," marked the turning point for Mr. Nelles and Mr. Todd too. Until that poll came in, Gregory Cook, a surprising early starter, had the firmest grip on the third two-year term and Mr. Grant was ahead of Mr. Todd for the one-year seat.

The Cadboro Bay poll also proved the final blow for Mr. Grant, favoring Mr. Todd by 300 to 184.

Reeve Arthur Ash congratulated Coun. Diespecker on "a good fight" and admitted he thought he would lose when early returns favored the challenger.

"I think the over-all vote can be taken as a mandate from the people to press forward the decision to seek a royal commission investigation of amalgamation," the reeve said as he looked ahead to his second two-year term in office.

Coun. Diespecker, who gives up the seat he held three years as soon as Mr. Todd is sworn in when the official count is completed, congratulated the reeve and wished the new council "good luck and good management in 1958."

Declaring he had "no regrets but rather a sense of relief that I can stay home with my wife now," Coun. Passmore said: "I have always believed that any incumbent who runs often enough will ultimately be defeated."

"During a period extending over 21 years, I have been privileged to serve Saanich and I have always received wonderful treatment from the ratepayers."

Wurtele Scores Easy Win; Sammon Gets Back Old Seat

A landslide victory in Esquimalt elections Thursday returned Reeve A. C. Wurtele for his fourth consecutive term.

By swamping his opponent Magistrate A. I. Thomas, 1,034 to 567, he achieved the biggest majority in his four attempts at office.

Veteran councillor before his defeat last December, G. K. Sammon ran second in the four-way race for three seats with 1,148 votes.

Others elected were second-term Councillor Arthur Fields, who led the poll with 1,202 votes, and Councillor Walter Holder for his fourth term with 1,079 votes.

Loser was Donald A. Douglas who polled 773 votes in his first try for office.

Of the 3,432 registered voters in the municipality some 1,600 or 47% cast ballots.

Reeve Wurtele said of his opponent, who was not available for comment: "My opponent, as usual conducted a very fair and friendly campaign." My reaction is one of great delight that so many people voted for me and I look forward greatly to being reeve of this wonderful community for another 2 years.

"We expect the overall expenditures to be more in the nature of $750,000 instead of last year's $692,000. This increase can be attributed to higher school and public works appropriations and we hope that we can meet as many as possible of the petitions for local improvement."

Elected for his second term, Councillor Arthur Fields said "the electorate had demonstrated to the reeve and council that they were pleased with what has been done in the last six years. A continuation of the present policy of progress and improvement throughout the community is envisaged."

Mr. Sammon, re-elected for

REEVE WURTELE ... fourth term

COUN. FIELDS ... leads poll

his third term after defeat last December, said:

"The one thing I will strive for is to support the realization of a new and effective Greater Victoria Municipal Committee which will truly act in the best interests of the residents of Greater Victoria."

"I strongly support the suggestion that the new inter-municipal committee be composed of the reeves, the mayor and one other councillor from each municipality."

Councillor Walter Holder, re-elected for his fourth consecutive term, thanked the taxpayers who had voted for him and said, "I hope to serve them to the best of my ability."

Donald L. Douglas, defeated in his first attempt at election, congratulated the newly-elected council and reeve, expressed his appreciation for those who had worked with him and said with a smile:

"I'll be in there pitching next year."

'CORPORATION SOLE'

Poll Clerk Balks. As Bishop Appears

The Bishop of Victoria had difficulty casting his vote in Thursday's municipal election.

Corporations' votes are cast only by their authorized agents named in the voters' list.

No name appeared in the list after "The Bishop of Victoria,"

so the poll clerk hesitated to give Most Rev. James Hill his ballots.

Returning Officer M. F. Hunter intervened on his behalf, explaining to the clerk that the bishop was an exception to the rule, a "corporation sole."

GOOD NEWS in Saanich election returns is studied by three winning candidates for two-year council seats. George Chatterton (left), a council member for the past year, won a resounding victory by topping every poll. Newcomers to council are Stanley Murphy (centre) and Charles Nelles.

Birley Returns To Lead Poll In Oak Bay

Oak Bay voters, Thursday, returned two councillors to office but gave a former councillor their biggest vote.

Television technician George Murdoch and lumber company executive Fred Hawes were returned, with 1,384 and 1,333 votes, respectively, while architect Patrick Birley topped the poll with 1,392 votes.

Losing candidates in the council race were lawyer Kenneth Murphy, 1,114 votes, and investment dealer Kenneth Boorman, 1,071.

29.1% TURN OUT

There were 2,180 voters, only 29.1% of those eligible. Last year the vote was 40.56%.

This year there were 7,473 eligible voters; last year about 7,100.

W. R. Freethy, B.C. Electric rural representative, came out on top to take the Oak Bay seat vacant on the Greater Victoria School Board with 1,023 votes. His opponents were John Ford, 747, and Gordon Schenck, 320.

Reeve Fred Norris was elected by acclamation.

GOV'T REJECTS CANADA HOUSE OFFICE SPACE

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government has decided not to lease office space in New York's Canada House, now under construction.

The decision was outlined by Jules Leger, deputy external affairs minister, in a letter last month to the manager of Canada House New York Limited.

Originally, it had been reported to the department that a substantial part of the building would be occupied by Canadian firms or United States firms having Canadian interests. We are informed that this is not the case and that the building will not be a Canadian centre.

The government had planned to rent office space in Canada House for its consular and United Nations staff in New York.

Time Bombs Blast U.S. Greek Area

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Three time bombs rocked American areas of Greece today, slightly injuring four U.S. Air Force men and a Greek employee and starting a fire that destroyed the U.S. Information Service library.

Some sources blamed Communists for what official quarters described as acts of terrorism.

The first two explosions were in the American sector of the Athens airport. The airman and the Greek employee of the air force were investigating the first blast when the second one caught them.

The airport bombs destroyed a small building housing two wireless station electric generators. They were thought to be home-made.

But police said the library blast by a bomb weighing at least 10 pounds appeared to be a NANAIMO (CP)—Construction will soon begin on the Mayo forest products plant on the waterfront here, Dr. H. E. Machamer, company controller, said Thursday.

Dr. Machamer said he could not set a date for the building to begin but that the site had begun to be cleared.

The all-electric plant will be designed to utilize all the logs consumed by the mill in the manufacture of lumber and press board.

A-War Unlikely Says Pats' Leader

Lieut. Col. Thomas deFaye, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, said Thursday he saw no indication of an atomic war in the future.

He added, however, that nations would not have "moral scruples" about using either gases or nuclear weapons if they thought they could "obtain an advantage."

But the power of effective retaliation destroyed possibility of such an advantage, he said.

MUST OCCUPY

Even in an atomic war, the infantry would be essential as "you have to have somebody to go in there and occupy."

The colonel arrived here earlier this week after motoring across the continent with his wife and three boys from Montreal. After settling into married quarters he takes command of his unit which has just ended a tour of duty with NATO forces in Germany and is now stationed at Work Point Barracks.

Firemen Were Called To Solve Her Problem

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Mrs. Janie Kirk shivered outside her home for 45 minutes because her 18-month-old son, Jeff, slammed the night-latched door behind her when she went out for the mail.

It took the fire department to get her back in.

Work on Hall For Amputees Begins Monday

Work will begin Monday on a meeting hall and club rooms for the Victoria branch of War Amputees Association of Canada, president Lorne Heath said today.

A $16,000 contract to Dillabough and Loney, has been approved by the general membership. Previously another $16,000 was paid for property at 1608 and 1610 Oak Bay Avenue as site for the club rooms, which will be called a Memorial Centre.

Mr. Heath said the building, formerly occupied by stores, contains 3,000 square feet on one floor. Plans call for complete renovation, and facilities including a meeting hall, a lounge, kitchen and cloak rooms.

The Amputees hope to make the memorial centre self-supporting by renting it for receptions, banquets, and small parties.

Scientists Urge U.S. Trip to Moon

NEW YORK (AP)—A United States expedition to the moon is one of the objectives of an all-out effort to pioneer in outer space proposed by 27 scientists in rocket and satellite research.

The scientists said Thursday human progress and national welfare make it imperative that the United States carry out scientific exploration and eventual habitation of outer space.

They said the present state of rocket technology will lead inevitably to attempts to explore outer space by manned expeditions. They asked for an expenditure of $10,000,000,000 in the next 10 years for the program.

The scientists, known as the rocket and satellite research panel, suggested the creation of a government body to be called "The National Space Establishment."

Unveiling Of Memorial In Burma Set

OTTAWA (CP)—A memorial built in Burma to commemorate the names of 27,000 officers and men of Commonwealth armies who died in Burma and Assam during the Second World War will be unveiled Feb. 9, the Canadian section of the Imperial War Graves Commission announced Thursday night.

The memorial, built 20 miles north of Rangoon in the form of two long open garden courts flanked by covered walks and joined in the middle by an open rotunda. The names of the fallen are carved on the broad faces of rectangular piers on the inner sides of the covered walks.

Pubs Closed Election Day For Good Reason, or Is It?

By TONY DICKASON
In the dear dead days long ago, sale of liquor to influence votes was "not unknown" in British Columbia provincial and civic politics.

That's the reason dispensaries of the cup that can blar are closed during voting hours, and government liquor stores remain shut throughout the day. It's a tradition, now, that liquor outlets remain shut. Some think this is archaic, asking "why should we not celebrate the victory of our candidate?"

Good thought though it may be, supplies must be laid in beforehand.

Generally, the shut-down of liquor outlets pertains across Canada during voting hours.

In the past, persons with more palate than politics would vote for anything, provided the booze flowed. Present regulations are designed to prevent this.

But many persons are asking, in this age, is this closure now necessary?

Michael Thomas, 1067 Roslyn, $10 for driving without a rear plate light.

BUDGET CALLED BUDGIE 'STRICTLY FOR BIRDS'

OTTAWA (CP)—Was it a budget that Finance Minister Donald Fleming presented in the Commons last Friday night?

He described it in the Commons Thursday as a "statement of the financial policies of the government and the financial situation of the country." It included tax-cut proposals.

Fred S. Zaplitny (CCF-Dauphin), said it was not a budget.

"The only thing we could call it is a budgie—because it's strictly for the birds."

Two New Mayors In Up-Island Voting

Two new mayors and a new village commission chairman have broken into the ranks of Vancouver Island civic leaders as a result of municipal elections Thursday.

New chief magistrate at Courtenay is William Moore, newspaper publisher and former CCF MLA, who defeated Mayor Geoff Browning 479 to 297.

Alberni's Mayor Ben Wright was defeated 346 to 291 by former alderman John Luckhurst.

New village commissioner at Campbell River is Joe Bundy, who defeated Barnard Box, past chairman, by a vote of 352 to 321. Mr. Box was opposed to the controversial waterfront development in Campbell River.

Woman Newcomer to Courtenay Council

Ald. John Larsen, 585, and Ald. Dr. W. Bruce Gordon, 556, were re-elected to Courtenay. Joining them on the council will be Mrs. Myrtle Vickberg, 448. Defeated candidates were Robert Salter, 295, and Gerald R. Merrill, 305.

Port Alberni returned Aldermen Fred Weaver, 1,059; Norman Odgers, 923, and Walter C. Hamilton, 841. Defeated candidates were Douglas Mallory, 786; George McKnight, 622; and Murray Grant, 521. Mayor Loran Jordan had been elected by acclamation.

At Alberni newcomer R. R. Foxcroft led the aldermanic race with 614 votes. Also elected were Aldermen Charles Blair, 563, and Ald. George McKee, 534, while James McNiff and Ald. T. L. Thomson were out of the running with 377 and 223 votes, respectively.

Mrs. Jean Barnes was third with 267 votes.

At Sidney, Dr. C. H. Hemmings was returned to office as commission chairman, defeating George L. Baal 314 to 205.

Nanaimo re-elected three aldermen. Taking office will be Ald. John Cook, 2,534; Ald. William McGregor, 2,448, and Ald. Halg Burns, 2,218. Defeated candidates were Mladen Guinjo-Zorkin, 861, and Louis Balicki, 700. Mayor Pete Maffeo was re-elected by acclamation.

Three new commissioners elected at Campbell River were Robert Jamieson, 506; Jack K. Lee, 450, and Ole Schultz, 440. Defeated candidate was Robert Denholm, 394.

At Sidney, Commissioner Joseph Bilgeri was re-elected, and will be joined on the commission by J. E. Boshier, a newcomer, who polled 236 votes. Defeated candidates were Harold Fox, 219; G. William Laird, 169, and H. Herman Shade, 96.

Money by-laws fared well in Island elections. Nanaimo passed an $850,000 school building by-law 1,237 to 1,237, and Comox-Courtenay-Cumberland passed a $385,000 school building by-law.

NEW HALLS VOTED

At Lake Cowichan voters approved a $34,000 by-law to build a joint municipal hall, fire hall and library, and Port Alberni approved a $150,000 by-law to build a new city hall.

Support of fluoridation referendums was divided.

In favor of fluoridating water supplies were North Cowichan, 204 to 116; Campbell River, 611 to 333, and Ucluelet, 75 to 38. Duncan rejected fluoridation 249 to 232 votes, and Nanaimo turned it down by a vote of 1,925 to 1,350.

HADASSAH PROJECT

Ambassador's Wife Organizer of Plans for New City

By KITTY DIXON
Her husband's appointment as Israel's ambassador to Canada made it imperative for Mrs. Arthur Lourie to leave Jerusalem just as a dream began to come true.

Before she left, the first sod was turned on a "garden city" being constructed in the Hills of Judea under sponsorship of the Jewish women's organization, Hadassah. The little city will surround a medical centre now being erected on the outskirts of Jerusalem and will house staff members and their families.

As administrator of housing project plans since their conception three years ago, it was disappointing for Mrs. Lourie to have to leave just as construction got under way.

Interviewed in her suite at the Empress Hotel, Thursday, while on a brief visit to Victoria, Mrs. Lourie said she expects to return to Israel to see her garden city, or "Kiryat Hadassah," after its completion. "Kiryat means 'city of.' You see, it will literally be a City of Hadassah, as Hadassah gave half a million dollars for construction of community facilities in the new city," explained Mrs. Lourie.

Mrs. Lourie can easily envisage Kiryat Hadassah—a modern community on a terraced hillside.

"Climate there is similar to yours in Victoria and flowers will bloom all year 'round, because it is so temperate."

"British Columbians might have a particular interest in our little city, because the town planner was Albert Mayer, the same man who designed Kitimat," said Mrs. Lourie.

Kiryat Hadassah follows the same overall plan as Kitimat, although buildings vary greatly because of a different way of life.

According to Mrs. Lourie, a competition was held among Jerusalem architects for the job of designing houses and community buildings for 600 residents.

"I was so happy that two young men were appointed to the job," said Mrs. Lourie. "One was just 26, the other, 32 years old."

His Excellency and Mrs. Lourie lived in Israel for four years while His Excellency was assistant director-general for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Mrs. Lourie discovered that most Israeli women are too preoccupied with housework to think of being career women, as facilities in their homes are not very modern.

"It is the exceptional house that has a refrigerator or electric range," she said. Despite the fact that she'll miss seeing her City of Hadassah grow into reality, the ambassador's wife is happy to be back on the North American continent. It means she is closer to her two children.

Her son, Daniel, is attending Harvard graduate school, majoring in Middle East politics, and her married daughter, Barbara Leah, who received her master's degree in music at Columbia University in New York, is now living in Princeton.

His Excellency and Mrs. Lourie left Thursday afternoon, to return to their new home in Ottawa.

A New Yorker by birth, Mrs. Arthur Lourie is a former national executive director of Hadassah in the United States.

Christmas Shopping Or Not
Hubby Still Wants Dinner

By PENNY SAVER

You've been Christmas shopping all day and now it's late and you haven't thought of dinner! Ooh!... hubby isn't going to be happy when he comes home from work starving and exhausted. Also by now, the children have probably raided your Christmas cookie store!

Calm down, my lady! For a meal that has the appearance of a day's labor, this one I've planned might be the answer to your wishes... and it only takes you 45 minutes to prepare and place on the dinner table!

We start with a large and tender trying chicken. He comes at 49 cents a pound.

Cut the fowl into generous serving pieces, place in a large paper bag with desired amount of flour seasoned with salt and pepper. Shake the bag vigorously until pieces are completely covered with the mixture.

Into a large pan, containing shortening put the flour and pieces and fry in oven until golden brown. Now add a quarter cup of hot water to the chicken, and cover the container. Oven-cook until tender, and there you are. A meal for a king in no time flat!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Situation, Parents' Opinion
Rule 'Baby Sitting' Clothes'

Q—"When baby sitting, is it correct to wear shorts, slacks or Bermuda's, or should I wear a dress or skirt all the time?"

A—"I think this should depend on how the parents feel about it and on where they live. If you are going to take the baby out in its buggy on the streets, or the little children to a park, I myself would prefer that you wear a skirt. On the other hand, if you are going to stay right at home, it does save your better clothes to wear play things. Ask the parents of the children what they think is best."

Q—"My problem is that my skin tends in the morning to be very dry but by midday it is very oily. My skin has a nice color when I get up in the morning but by 3 o'clock it is a greasy, dark color."

A—"I suggest that you take a little kit with you to work and wash your face with soap and water at your lunch hour. Also, wash your face and neck just before leaving in the morning, when you first get home in the afternoon and before going to sleep at night. Also apply an astringent twice daily, after washing your face."

Q—"I am 5 feet tall and weigh 115 pounds. My bust measures 34, waist 28 and hips 37 inches. I am 29 years old and medium build. What I want to know is how much off am I? It means a lot to me."

A—"Your weight is just about right. You might be five pounds overweight; depending on your frame. Take bust developing exercises to add an inch to your bust measurement and waist-slimming exercises to lose an inch there."

Q—"I am 14 years old, 5 feet 1 inch tall and weigh 98 pounds. My bust is 33 inches, waist 23 inches and hips 30 inches. I would like to get about five inches more on my hips. I bite my nails. How can I stop that? My arms are very hairy—awful. What can I do to get rid of this unpleasant hair?"

A—"You are not overweight. In fact, you should gain about five pounds. If your hips were five inches larger they would be out of proportion. You might add two or three inches with exercise. Remove the hair on your arms with a depilatory and repeat the treatment whenever necessary. Have a good manicure at a beauty salon. Maybe then you can remember not to bite your nails. Also ask your family and friends to remind you."

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Christmas Cards for Recent

Widow
I lost my husband this past summer. Now with the holiday season approaching would you please inform me the correct procedure about sending and receiving Christmas greeting cards.

Louise Davis answers:
There couldn't possibly be any objection in sending Christmas cards. Even though you are in mourning, Louise Davis wish your friends and relatives a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. I suggest that you use care and discretion in your selection of cards, that they be of a serious nature rather than facetious. Receiving your cards wouldn't be any reflection against you. The reaction should be just the opposite, indicating nobility of spirit. Undoubtedly you will be receiving cards which will be difficult for you, but I am sure you can try to steel yourself and appreciate the thoughts behind them: It is possible that some of your friends might hesitate in sending you cards this year. If they don't send them it will be because they will be trying to be kind, thoughtful and considerate.

National Women's Group Discusses Policy Making Resolutions With PM

A delegation from the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs met with the prime minister last week to discuss resolutions from the organization for the attention of the federal government. Members of the delegation were: Mrs. Maude Baylay, national president; Miss Isabel Menzies, first vice-president; Mrs. Florence Chinn, honorary secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Margery Pewness, international relations chairman.

Mr. Diefenbaker was congratulated on the action taken by his government in removing the discrimination against newly married women workers when section 161 of the Unemployment Insurance Act was rescinded. This section had long been a matter of great concern to the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The delegation urged strongly for more women in policy making positions, women well qualified and ready to accept their responsibilities. More women in the senate is and has been a constant appeal from this organization, and while talking with the prime minister the appointment of women senators was stressed once more.

A further resolution from the Canadian Federation that Canada accept a seat on the Status of Women Commission at the United Nations is now an accomplished fact. Improving the status of women is one of the prime objectives of this organization nationally and it feels that Canada has a great opportunity to make a fine contribution to this commission at the international level.

6 B.C. Mayors Suffer Defeat

By The Canadian Press

Six mayors of British Columbia cities were turned out of office in Thursday's civic elections.

And in Burnaby, a suburban municipality adjoining Vancouver, the voters changed their reeve and all but one of the former elected officials in the district.

These are the cities with new mayors:

Grand Forks—Where former Mayor Ora Stephenson was defeated by Archer Davis.

Courtenay—Where former mayor Geoff Browning was defeated by W. C. Moore (see page 16).

Nelson—T. S. Shorthouse out ran two other hopefuls in defeating incumbent Joseph Kary.

North Vancouver—Frank Goldsworthy stopped a bid for re-election by Charles Cates.

Prince George—A woman council member for six years, Mrs. Carry Jane Gray ousted former mayor John Morrison.

Prince Rupert—Peter J. Lester defeated George Hills by the slender margin of 1,363 votes to 1,323. Mr. Lester, a cellulose mill worker, is at present on strike with other pulp workers in B.C.

The big upset in Burnaby saw the end of a four-year career as reeve for Charles MacSorley and the Non-Partisan Association.

Alan Emmott, the new reeve, headed a slate of candidates entered by the Burnaby Citizens' Association. Mr. Emmott defeated Mr. MacSorley by 2,430 votes. Only one NPA candidate was elected, Mrs. Dorothy McKee-Wilson, a school trustee.

Those endorsing fluoridation were Ucluelet, North Cowichan, Kitimat, Campbell River and North Vancouver district. Duncan and Nanaimo voters defeated their plebiscites. In Richmond, a Vancouver area municipality, incomplete returns were indecisive.

Voters in North Vancouver City and the districts of West and North Vancouver agreed to build a $1,000,000 hospital for the North Shore communities. A similar proposal in Langley district was rejected.

Selkirk Spruce Halts Operation

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—Selkirk Spruce Lumber Company, a subsidiary of Black Diamond Lumber of Seattle, has suspended operations. It is located north of Golden, B.C.

The suspension affects 60 men at its sawmill, planer and dry kiln plant, as well as small contract logging and mill crews which contracted for the firm.

The company did not recover fully after part of its $1,500,000 plant, built in 1955, was destroyed by fire a year ago.

Job Insurance Ease Refused For Fishermen

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Michael Starr said today "I cannot see my way clear" to a relaxation of unemployment insurance regulations to meet requests of British Columbia fishermen for special payment of seasonal insurance benefits this winter.

He was replying in the Commons to Thomas Barnett (CCF, Comox-Alberni), who said many salmon fishermen cannot qualify for the seasonal benefits because they have not made 15 weekly contributions into the insurance fund.

Mr. Starr said a request to relax the 15-week requirement has been received from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers of B.C. After careful study he had decided that "a further relaxation is not in order at this time."

Granting of the request would lead to similar demands from other groups. The government had only recently revised the insurance benefits to allow payment of seasonal benefits between Dec. 1 and May 15, two months longer than the former period.

OFFICE BUILDING SET FOR CALGARY

ALCAN (CP)—A $5,000,000, 15 or 20-story office building is planned for the south-west corner of 7th Avenue and Sixth Street Southwest, it has been learned.

Planning to erect the building is the Lord Iveagh group. (Lord Iveagh is a member of the well-known Guinness family).

The height of the building, and accordingly the total cost is dependent on the zoning by-law which governs the number of permissible floors on such buildings.

R. L. MacFarlane, western representative for the group, said the frontage would be 362 feet on 7th Avenue and extend 130 feet down Sixth Street.

The representative stated that the property "lends itself to a 15 or 20-story structure."

The quality of the building, he said, would be comparable to the 20-story Marine Building built by the group in Vancouver.

Construction is expected to begin early in 1958.

Norman McKibbin (717) Discovered, was fined $250 for impaired driving and $25 for driving without a licence when he pleaded guilty to charges in city police court Thursday.

Financier Faces Charge of Fraud

TORONTO (CP) — Montreal financier Clifford J. Butler is to appear in court here today on a charge of fraud in connection with alleged "wash sales" of shares of Aconic Mining Corporation on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Hopes of Power From Fundy Bay Tides Dwindle

OTTAWA (CP)—The long-held dream of harnessing the Bay of Fundy's giant tides for power production may sink in the muddy bottom of Passamaquoddy Bay.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, said Thursday he doesn't "want to hold out too much hope" that the Passamaquoddy project on the New Brunswick-Maine border will be found economically feasible.

He told the Commons external affairs committee that "novel" engineering would be required for dams to carry it out.

Outside the committee, informants said engineers have bored 50 feet into the sea bottom and found only mud. The problem would be to find a solid footing for dams.

Gen. McNaughton said the studies, due to end in October, 1959, are "advancing satisfactorily."

Canada has committed $300,000 and the U.S. $3,000,000 to the study. It also will cover the possible effects on the area's rich herring fisheries.

WASH SALES

Water from the Amazon River freshens the Atlantic Ocean as far as 100 miles out to sea.

He was arrested Thursday night at his home in Montreal's suburban Westmount. Two detectives brought him to Toronto by plane. He had no bail and spent the night in a cell.

Butler, 57-year-old former general manager of the mining firm, declared himself personally bankrupt last August with claims of $6,000,000 against his estate.

His arrest followed a complaint from the Toronto Stock Exchange, which suspended Aconic stocks from trading Aug. 6 after they dropped to $1 from $11.37 in two hours.

ILLEGAL SALES

"Wash sales" are an illegal means of making it appear a busy market exists for a stock by a single person or group buying and selling stock among themselves.

The Ontario attorney-general's department has appointed Toronto lawyer Roland F. Wilson to investigate trading of Aconic shares here to determine what grounds exist for criminal action.

The collapse of Aconic stock was never explained.

In his bankruptcy proceedings Butler told of frantic efforts on his part to obtain sufficient stock to gain control of the company for United States interests.

Aconic was organized in 1952 to exploit iron ore deposits in the Natashquan area of the lower St. Lawrence River. Plans for a $10,000,000 concentrating plant fell through when Aconic failed to put up 20 per cent of the cost as agreed in a contract with a German firm.

Fire Damages Synagogue In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Fire Thursday ravaged part of the oldest section of the Temple Emanu-El Synagogue, bringing down a section of the roof and threatening the front wall.

Damage was estimated tentatively at $500,000. It was Montreal's second major blaze in three days, following the overnight fire Tuesday at the Windsor Hotel.

Rabbi Harry J. Stern and his staff managed to save the 10,000-book library and a host of religious manuscripts, including two 17th-century Talmudic works. No one was injured.

8 U.S. Airmen Die In Jet Bomber Crash

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP) — A B-52 jet bomber crashed shortly after takeoff from Fairchild air force base Thursday and a base spokesman said eight of the nine men aboard were killed.

The big nuclear weapons carrier crashed two miles west of the big base after an apparent power failure in at least one of the eight jet pods, a base spokesman said.

"It was an abnormal takeoff," Col. W. B. Atwell, base commander, said. "The plane climbed almost straight up, winged over and cartwheeled when it crashed into a muddy, plowed wheat field."

The plane was on a routine training mission, which explained the large crew. A normal crew is six.

There were no explosives aboard although B-52s are armed with nuclear weapons which would not explode in the event of a crash, Atwell said. "I saw the plane go down," said Mrs. C. L. Mellum, who lives nearby. "There was a series of little flashes, then it went straight to the ground and out of sight."

The fuselage was broken up and debris was scattered for a half mile and there were small fires all along the way.

The survivor was believed to have been in the tail section. He was not seriously hurt, the base said.

Last of Bodies In Slide Found

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) — The last of the bodies of seven persons killed Nov. 22 in a landslide at nearby Mount Hays were recovered Thursday.

City works superintendent Carl Gustafson said the bodies of George Henderson, 64, and Mrs. Thomas Perry, 31, had been unearthed 160 feet from a place where two other bodies were found earlier this week.

The seven were buried beneath a layer of mud, trees and rock when the side of the mountain slipped during a weekend of wind and driving rain.

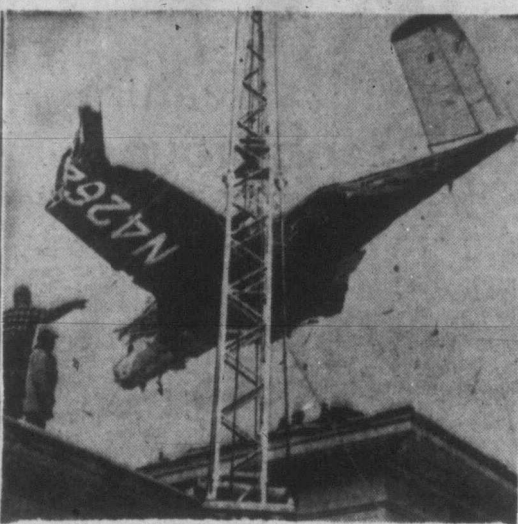

A joint inquest is planned into the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Perry, Mr. Henderson and John Vandal, as well as five-month-old James Murray, whose body was found the day of the slide. Selma, 18-month-old daughter of the Murrays, rode the slide for 200 feet and was rescued unharmed.

Crews with bulldozers and shovels have worked for 20 days to free the bodies of the victims.

U.S. Recovers Air Speed Mark

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A U.S. Air Force fighter-bomber Thursday won back from Britain the official world speed record by averaging 1,207.6 miles an hour in two passes over a measured course. The old mark was 1,132 miles.

The announcement was made at a press conference with Maj. Adrian E. Drew, the pilot. He stood beside the swept-wing F-101A Voodoo jet with which he earlier had made the runs over a 10.1 mile course in the Mojave desert.

He said upper air temperature conditions were good during the flight, made at 39,000 feet.

11 Killed as Gale Hits Sicily School

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—A terrific windstorm smashed a two-story schoolhouse today in nearby Altotondo, trapping 30 children of kindergarten age.

Soldiers, firemen and volunteers dug out 11 dead, including Sister Giuseppina Giordano, 42, head mistress of the convent school. Eleven children were injured, four severely. The children ranged from three to six years of age.

Five other teaching sisters and the remainder of the children escaped unhurt.

The storm struck with 75-mile winds, ripping off the tile and wooden roof. The roof broke through to the first storey of the building and crashed on children at play. Residents for

ADVERTISING ROYALTY BAN TO BE LIFTED?

LONDON (Reuters)—A long-standing ban against the use of royalty for advertising purposes may be lifted, the Daily Herald says today.

The Labor newspaper says that Buckingham Palace is considering the issue of a poster showing Prince Philip wearing a safety helmet suitable for mines, factories and building sites.

The duke was photographed wearing a safety helmet on a much-publicized visit to a coal mine in Lancashire.

The Herald says the British Safety Council wants to use the poster in a national campaign and has sent a copy of it to the prince.

Subway Service Best Since Strike Began

NEW YORK (AP)—A state legislator called today for an investigation of New York City's Transit Authority in connection with the subway motormen's strike which has bedeviled millions of travellers since 5 a.m. Monday.

FACTS AGREED 'IN PRINCIPLE' ON BRITANNIA

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Davie Fulton said today that "certain understandings were arrived at in principle" at a meeting Thursday to seek means of keeping the big Britannia Copper mine north of Vancouver in operation. It employs 600 men.

He told the Commons he hopes to make "a fuller and perhaps a final statement" Monday or Tuesday.

Representatives of the mining company, the mine union and B.C. Mines Minister Kiernan met with Mr. Fulton and Works Minister Howard Green. The representatives are to report back to their own groups on the meeting.

GAG THAT MISFIRED

Doctor Suing CBC For Life Made 'Hell'

MONTREAL (BUP)—Dr. E. E. Robbins, 77, a Montreal physician, Thursday, told the Quebec superior court how his life had been made a "little hell" by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's television show Tabloid.

Dr. Robbins, who is suing the CBC for $10,000 told the court how he had written a letter to Dick MacDougall, MC of the show, who died earlier this year, describing the antics of the show as "asinine."

Robbins enclosed in his letter a review of the program by Montreal Star drama critic Walter O'Hearn and invited the producers of Tabloid to read his letter on the air.

MacDougall read the doctor's letter on the program Dec. 8.

And also flashed his name and address on the screen, urging viewers to phone Robbins and "cheer him up."

Doctor Robbins said within minutes his telephone began ringing and he was forced to take his phone off the hook. Someone sent him a barbecued chicken COD and abusive letters began to pour in.

The doctor said he was forced to change his telephone number for a month in order to stop the rain of calls. He is claiming loss of revenue on this account because he said his patients could not reach him.

He told Chief Justice W. B. Scott he could not go to the Montreal General Hospital for several months due to what he described as "embarrassment."

Fickle Fashion Lifts Hope of Fur Raisers

NEW YORK (BUP)—Canada's far-flung fur industry is starting the annual pelt auction season this month with brighter prospects because American women are turning again with a rush to fur-trimmed clothes.

"So far the samplings of spring coats and suits show a ten-fold increase in fur trim over last year," actuary Charles Glaser of the Fur Buyers' Association of the coat and suit industry told British United Press.

"That comes on top of a huge increase in fur-trimmed coats, jackets and sweaters for this fall over last year," Glaser continued. "The stores, sold the autumn garments so well the manufacturers are going more into fur-trimmed for spring than they have in years."

Some fur sellers and some garment makers are talking of a return to the hey-day of fur-trimmings in the 1920s—when almost no American woman would be seen in a coat or jacket without a fluffy fur collar and cuffs. But Glaser warned, "we'll have to wait and see how well the fur-trimmed garments for spring really sell."

A visit to New York's biggest department store, Macy's, confirmed the rage for furs. Over half of the coats on Macy's racks are fur-trimmed. Quite a number are fur-lined too—but these are in nutria, which Canada doesn't produce.

But the proportion of Canadian ranch mink, beaver and of northern furs in the collar was high. "Also many mink had jackets lined with assimilated ranch mink, much of it marked "Canadian" on the tags.

FOR WORKSHOP EQUIPMENT

$3,000 Asked By 'Goodwill'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Handicapped men and women living in the Victoria area are looking to Goodwill Industries for employment in the New Year.

But unless Goodwill can raise at least $3,000 for workshop equipment these unfortunate folk will be disappointed. Victoria Rotary Club has sponsored the organization to the extent of spending $12,000 on renovating and rebuilding its aged premises at 560 Yates—and there is nothing left over for equipment.

"We had to spend much more on this work than we expected," said George Gray, president of the management committee appointed by Rotary.

"The premises are at least 100 years old and all kinds of unforeseen repairs had to be effected. Even then we were fortunate. The contractors actually gave us $20,000 worth of work for $12,000."

When Victoria Rotarians adopted Goodwill as its special charity two months ago, they expected to spend only $8,000 on renovations, leaving something over for equipment.

Truck Needed for Collections

"We are therefore compelled to ask for public donations to carry the project through," said Mrs. J. Evelyn Lamont, recently appointed executive director of Goodwill Enterprises. (Telephone: 2-8315.)

"We also need money for office equipment and more for the purchase of a truck with which to collect the raw material we need for our workshops."

The raw material consists of used clothing and household bric-a-brac suitable for reconditioning by handicapped workers. The reconditioned articles are then sold and the income from sales goes to pay the workers' wages and the cost of operations.

If money and materials are forthcoming, Goodwill will give full employment to 15 handicapped persons before the end of January.

Needed workshop equipment are electric sewing machines, steam presses, industrial cessil irons and industrial darning.

Required for the office are tables, chairs and a filing cabinet which can be locked.

"If we had $1,000 we could buy a serviceable truck which has been offered to us by a local firm," Mrs. Lamont said. "Again, we shall have to depend on public generosity in raising this money."

"We have set ourselves an uphill task but we know it is well worth carrying through and we believe the good people of Victoria will come to our aid."

Hundreds Work in Portland

"I am sure they are as generous as the people of Seattle and Portland who have enabled their Goodwill organizations to employ hundreds of handicapped workers."

Eben Govan, as vice-president of Rotary's management committee, will take over its leadership during the absence of Mr. Gray who is returning to his home in Honolulu for two months.

"I have devoted my whole time to Goodwill Enterprises for the past few months," Mr. Gray said. "But I have a responsibility to my family and my own business in Honolulu."

Mr. Govan, a successful Winnipeg businessman who retired to Victoria last year, is also devoting his full time to Goodwill.

"We simply must make a go of it," he said.

Fred Blakeney, himself a handicapped worker, started Goodwill Enterprises in January, 1956—before it was sponsored by local Rotarians.

He will continue to give his services as manager of the silk screening process department.

"Our resources were severely limited in the early days," he said. "With Rotary's help we have the makings of a first-rate enterprise that will give new hope to people who cannot earn their living in private industry."

FIERY BLAST KILLS WORKER

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—Solid fuel being produced for rockets and missiles went up with a fiery flash today, killing one worker and leaving two others missing. Three other employees at the Thiokol Chemical Corporation plant a mile from this northeast Maryland town were admitted to hospital.

Happy Ending to 4-Month Blackout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harry Gallon, whose memory blacked out for four months, came back to a tearfully joyous reunion with his wife, Betty, today. He seized her in his arms and they kissed, while photographers' flash bulbs popped at Los Angeles International Airport.

Gallon, 31, San Francisco insurance man, flew from New Orleans where bits of memory returned in the last two weeks.

Mrs. Gallon flew here from San Francisco to await him.

Last Aug. 16 in San Francisco Gallon went to keep an appointment with an insurance client, telling his wife to meet him later at the railway station in San Mateo where they then lived. He disappeared.

Police found his wallet, briefcase and a bloodstained jacket and feared he had been robbed, kidnapped, perhaps murdered. But he said that on Nov. 28 or 29 he came to in New Orleans, 2,300 miles away, and discovered he was working on a construction job. He said he knew his name but has no idea how he got to New Orleans.

Bit by bit he put together information as to his situation in New Orleans, then sent a letter to his wife which she received last month.

Melodrama originally meant a musical play or one in which music formed a principal part.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Johnny Steinhoff, age 8, of Hornick, Iowa, for his question:

Why Do We Blink Our Eyes?

We blink about 10 times a minute, two little sinks, one for minute. Each time our eyes get a salty bath. This gentle bathing removes any small speck of dust which may have landed on the bright surface of the eyes. Most of the time this blinking is automatic. The eyelids act like windshield wipers whether we order them to do so or not.

The bath water is the same juice we use to shed tears. It is a salty liquid made in the tear glands. Each gland is about the size and shape of an almond. Each has a home under an upper lid at the outside corner. These little factories produce a constant supply of warm, salty tear juice.

The main job of this juice is to bathe our bright eyes and keep them free from dust. It oozes gently under the lids, soothing the shiny surface of the eyes. Then down come the soft eyelids in a blink. They smooth the bath water down to the lower lid, sweeping along any small speck of dust.

The bath water then runs

Hearty Laughs Produce Tears

When something is very funny we may laugh until we cry. Laughing puckers up the face muscles. The tear glands are squeezed. When this happens, extra tear juice pours into the eyes. The streaming bath water is too fast to drain down the tear ducts. Some of it spills over the lower lids. We are laughing with tears pouring down our cheeks.

The automatic muscles which blink our eyes have another important job to do. Suppose something flies past your face when you are not expecting it. The eyes must be protected and this is the job of the eyelids. They close down over the eyes in a flash. We blink without knowing it.

Blinking is one of the daily chores carried on by the body. It bathes the eyes and removes a lot of fine dust.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Beverly Winslow, age nine, of Kakabeka Falls, Ont., for her question:

What is a Portuguese man-of-war?

The Portuguese man-of-war is not a battleship. However, at times you might mistake it for some fairy's sailing boat. Actually it is a colony of sea dwellers living together under one umbrella. The umbrella is a beautifully colored balloon. Below it, down through the water, there is a mass of stinging tentacles. Some of them may be 40 feet long. The stinging power is as bad as that of a wasp or bee. Sometimes an unlucky swimmer brushes against one of these stinging tentacles. They even sting after the Portuguese man-of-war has been washed up high and dry onto a beach.

From a ship, a group of these fellows look like a fleet of fairy fishing boats. Their balloons, scudding before the wind, are glowing shades of purple. When scared, the colony of creatures under each umbrella balloon lets out the air. The little boats sink down out of sight. When they want to float again they give off a gas which fills the balloon and carries it to the surface.

Poland Forced To Recognize Right to Worship

By COLETTE BLACKMOORE

WARSAW (UP)—This is one of the few countries in the world where the Communist Party not only excuses religion among its members but even publicly defends their right to believe in God and go to church.

But the party's defence of religion is undertaken not by choice. It comes of necessity.

Catholicism predates Communism in Poland by about 1,000 years and today still claims the souls of more than 90 per cent of the population of 28 million.

If the united workers (Communist) Party refused to accept practising Catholics into its ranks, it would have very few people left to choose from.

Since most of the atheists, agnostics and other non-believers are in every country traditionally found among the intellectuals, the professional and white collar workers, a Communist Party made up of these people alone could scarcely call itself a working class party.

The leading party in Poland has had to face up to this fact.

The result is that more than half the country's one million-plus card-carrying Communists attend party meetings during the weekend mass on Sunday.

A situation strange to anyone who regards Communism and religion as incompatible.

Such a situation does not exist in the Soviet Union where the Russian Orthodox Church was never a cultural and unifying force like Catholicism in Poland, and where the Communist Party has conducted with considerable success a militant, 40-year campaign to wipe out religion.

JUSTIFY POLICY

It is not enough for the Polish Communist leadership to tolerate an "ideological enemy" in its midst. From time to time the party has to explain publicly and justify its policy of religious toleration.

One of these times is now, during the nationwide house-cleaning of the party ranks.

Some of the leaders charged with the "verification" program seized on religion as a reason to toss out colleagues.

The party's top leadership has immediately come to the defence of the accused. It is reiterating its stand that religion is a private matter even for Communists and that the door to party membership should not be closed to those who practise Catholicism.

The Communists' tolerance of religion within their own ranks is a part of their overall compromise agreement with the Catholic Church in Poland headed by Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński.

Sentence Lifted For $1,000 Theft Of Logging Gear

Lorne Earl Saunders, 3500 Saanich, was given two years suspended sentence in Sooke RCMP court Wednesday on a charge of theft of more than $1,000 worth of logging equipment a year ago last July.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas ordered restitution in the amount of $1,002.50 to Highway Sawmills, whose camp near Sooke was looted of an industrial engine, gasoline, batteries, tools and other items.

Saunders offered no defence in the case, but called character evidence.

STUDIOUS AND EAGER

There were a number of "incompletes" on the Negro students' report cards for the first six weeks of school but most of the work has been made up. One boy flunked a subject.

"The Negro children seem very studious and they are eager to make up the work they have missed," a teacher said. "Like any students who come in late they don't take much part in answering questions in class."

The youngsters and their parents are reluctant to talk for publication. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has thrown a protective curtain around them.

Most of the Negro youngsters say they want to attend Central because it is closer to their homes than Horace Mann, Little Rock's Negro high school.

All of the nine Negroes are above average in intelligence. They are the survivors of 60 Negroes who applied to enrol in Central. They all come from homes that seem to be financially a notch or two above the average Arkansas Negro family. And their parents are well above the average in education.

NEGRO STUDENTS STILL GUARDED IN LITTLE ROCK

By ADREN COOPER

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Now that the first flames of student resentment have subsided, the day-to-day lives of the integrated Little Rock nine have settled into a pattern.

It is classes under guard each school day for the nine Negro youngsters whose enrolment at previously all-white Central High touched off violence, federal intervention and constitutional controversy.

Their relations with more than 1,900 white classmates after three months of school range from open hostility to furtive friendliness. There is no socializing.

They experience threats, social pressure and, most of all, the loneliness of being in a crowd yet not of it. But none of them has given any indication of withdrawing.

Twenty-seven white students have dropped out, transferred or been expelled since the Negroes started classes under the eyes of federal troops last September.

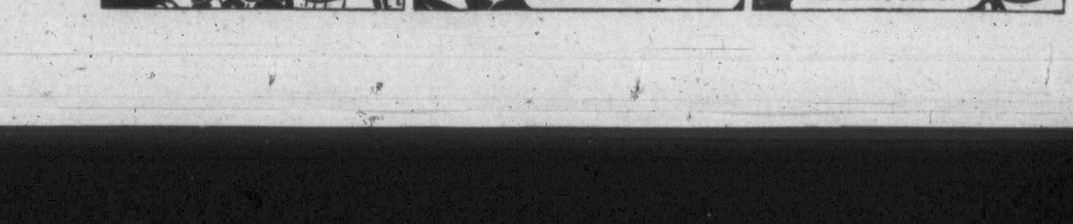

One school source estimates "there are fewer than 50 students actively hostile to the Negroes." But there might be more were it not for the presence of national guardsmen in the school corridors.

Ingrid to Rejoin Family at Yule

ROME (UP)—Ingrid Bergman will play the role of a happy mother Christmas day in a Rome family reunion with her three children. Her estranged husband, director Roberto Rossellini, will be there too.

The couple's attorney, Ercole Graziadei, announced the Christmas party. It was Graziadei who negotiated the couple's legal separation last month.

Graziadei, who returned to Rome Thursday after a trip to London and Paris, said he had witnessed "cordial" telephone calls between Ingrid and Rossellini which were "surprising."

"Never before in my life have I witnessed such cordial telephone calls between a couple which had just separated," he said.

PRINCE, QUEEN ENJOY DANCES WITH SERVANTS

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip waltzed with a Buckingham Palace housemaid Thursday night at the annual Christmas party of the Royal household's domestic staff.

With Miss Jessie Hamilton in his arms, Philip whirled around the floor of the palace supper room while Queen Elizabeth tripped by as the partner of chef Ronald Aubrey.

The dance was the first of a series of Royal staff parties. The Queen wore an evening gown of ivory satin embroidered with gold sequins. She arrived with Philip at 10 p.m. when the party was just warming up.

Both started off by dancing the samba—the Queen with steward Tim Hailey and Philip with Miss Mabel Anderson, who looks after Princess Anne in the Royal nursery.

Child Brides Get Reprieve

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The era of the child bride will end in Mississippi next July 1.

For decades, the United States has been shocked by the marriages in Mississippi of girls as young as 10 or 11, often to men old enough to be their grandfathers.

The state legislature Wednesday replaced Mississippi's lax marriage law with one that requires a blood test, a three-day waiting period and sets minimum ages of 15 for women and 17 for men.

Publicity about child brides this year probably helped pass the bill. Present state laws set no minimum age for marrying.

Last July, 11-year-old Portia Johnson was married at Senatobia to Jesse H. Scott, Sr., 44. This week, Scott was convicted at Covington, Tenn., of trying to rape his child bride's two younger sisters, aged eight and 10. He was sent to prison for 10 years.

Boy Survives 5 Days Trapped in Truck

PORTLAND (AP)—Francis Clow, a 13-year-old school boy, is recovering at his home here from what he said was five days and nights spent trapped inside an abandoned truck body.

During his ordeal, the boy lost 13 pounds and contracted an infection of the feet, his mother, Mrs. Kenneth M. Clow, said.

The boy finally escaped by beating open an emergency door with a heavy piece of pipe he found inside the enclosed truck body, he told his parents.

Francis disappeared Friday, Nov. 29. He said he went to play with a friend and en route got into the truck body and the door slammed shut and locked from the outside.

Francis said he yelled, but apparently no one heard him. He found the pipe and began pounding on the door, which finally gave way after the long period of intermittent beating.

The boy had nothing to eat, but said he managed to get some moisture by reaching through a hole in the side of the truck body and wetting his hand with rain. Then he licked his hand, he said. His thirst was his worst suffering, he said.

After escaping from the truck a week ago Wednesday, the boy said he walked 2 1/2 miles to his home, stopping at a grocery store to get warm on the way.

Coal Dealer Sets Trade Aside For Unique Christmas Charity

HALIFAX (CP)—Arthur Funt believes in giving from his heart at Christmas.

For almost 20 years, Christmas trees have caused the Polish-born coal dealer to make business almost a sideline during the Yuletide season while he concentrates on his own, unique brand of charity.

Since bombs rained on Britain during the days of 1940, Mr. Funt has bought Yuletide trees with profits from his small business.

Each year, people and organizations are invited to call and ask for a tree. What they pay is up to them.

"I send the tree and accept a donation," Mr. Funt says. "If it's a poor family and they can't pay me, well, that's charity, too. Sometimes I get 50 cents for a tree; sometimes $25 or $30."

His annual supply of trees—he sometimes buys 300 to distribute—usually cost between $75 and $100. Mr. Funt has no idea of the added cost of delivery in his company truck or the stands made to hold the trees.

During the Second World War, donations for the trees went to the Queen's Canadian Fund for the relief of air raid victims.

More about
Eaton's

Cast an eye on the gifts which take up the larger part of this page. Pretty snazzy, eh? Some of these items really fall into the rich uncle clan, but mostly they can be bought with just one or two short sharp-shrieks from the over-strained budget. And even those shrieks can be muted by a careful study of the following paragraphs on the subject of painless payments.

Budget Plan

Anything you buy at EATON'S totalling 15.00 or over (as long as it's not food) may be bought on the Budget Plan. You pay only 10% down, and in many cases (e.g. TV, freezer, floor polishers, sewing machines) a great deal less, and the balance is spread over not less than 10 months, depending on the amount of the purchase. A reasonable carrying charge is made to cover bookkeeping costs, etc.

Revolving Credit

This is a smart little scheme which entails a fixed payment each month. You decide how much a month you wish to pay, and on approval we at once extend you credit of six times that amount. (At once, you notice—no down payment is needed.) Every time you make a payment your credit is renewed. Small carrying charge on the unpaid balance every month. Get the full details on this convenient credit plan from our Third Floor Accounts Office.

Cash Cheques? Certainly

Perhaps you decide to pay cash, and want to use a cheque. That's Irish, but you know what we mean. Nothing simpler—your cheque can be accepted for the amount of purchases right in the selling departments, or you may cash it at the Cheque Cashing Wicket on the Third Floor. While up there don't forget that B.C. Electric, B.C. Telephone and many water bills may be paid at the convenient Utility Bill Centre by the Trim-a-Tree Shop.

Relax and Refresh

One floor up from the accounts office you'll find that old-world retreat, the Victoria Room. Relax and enjoy a delicious meal in pleasant surroundings, and if you're only a pitchfork's length away from old devil diet—why then, relax some more! Our Victoria Room is noted for the excellence of its service, lovely to look at, delightful to eat, and heavenly low (in calories)! Why not meet your friends there!

The Zenith of Service

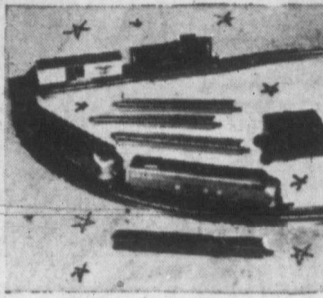

If you're reading this at some distance from Victoria, don't for a minute believe we've forgotten you. Maybe you can't drop into the Victoria Room, or pay a bill on our third floor, but you can open an EATON account (just write us for an application form) and you can shop at EATON'S (by phone, without stirring from your chair)! If you're on the Sidney, Sooke, Keating, Cobble Hill, Ganges or Gulf Islands exchanges, ZENITH 6100 is your toll-free line to EATON'S. You order—We deliver.

CALAMITY HITS LIBERAL CRITIC—LOSES VOICE

By VICTOR J. MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—One of the worst calamities that can happen to a politician has hit Hon. James Sinclair, chief financial critic for the Opposition—he has lost his voice.

The financial proposals put forward by the Diefenbaker government were under study today. But Mr. Sinclair had to sit quietly on the sidelines and say nothing—almost.

During the question period he could only barely make himself heard as he croaked out a question, concerning progress in the Britannia Mines negotiations. He smiled wryly as Hon. E. D. Fulton, Minister of Justice, said with a grin that the government was glad Mr. Sinclair had been able to ask the question.

U.K. Can Tame H-Power Blast Scientists Say

PARIS (AP)—Britain tonight was reported to have won the race to be first in taming the power released when hydrogen bombs burst.

U.S. CHEMIST UREY CONFIRMS BRITISH CLAIM

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel Prize winning chemist, believes Britain may have found the secret of tapping the heavy hydrogen in ordinary sea water as an unlimited source of power.

"Infer from the newspaper reports that they have made progress in getting the fusion of deuterium heavy hydrogen," Urey said.

Commons Behind PM At NATO

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he hopes the NATO summit meeting in Paris next week will achieve a new spirit of unity and a rededication to the alliance's aims.

The prime minister spoke in the Commons after Opposition leaders extended good wishes to him and his cabinet colleagues who attend the NATO council meeting.

Liberal leader St. Laurent said Mr. Diefenbaker can feel that all members of the Commons and Canadians generally are behind him in the "extraordinary" NATO conference.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower heads for Paris today to lead the U.S. drive to revitalize the North Atlantic Alliance.

He was scheduled to take off late this afternoon.

WORLD MISSILES RACE

U.S. Rockets Tipped Russ

This is the first of a series of weekly articles by Dr. Willy Ley, noted missiles expert. The second article will appear next Friday.

By WILLIE LEY

The Russians did not give any military secrets away when they paraded a number of rockets at the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Anybody who knew anything about rockets could see at a glance that the large missiles on their trailers were somewhat enlarged V-2 rockets and that the smaller ones shown were anti-aircraft missiles of the same type as the U.S. Navy's Terrier.

Although the Russians did not disclose any secrets on that occasion a good deal about the Russian missile arsenal has become known in various ways. To understand what they built and why they built what they did it is necessary to go back to the last year of the Second World War. Most Americans, at that time, saw a movie about the battle of Stalingrad and may recall having seen large salvos of rockets being launched against the encircled German army group. It so happens that most of these rockets had been made in Tennessee and were lend-lease ammunition.

These rockets were not missiles in the sense in which this term is now used. They were simple unguided bombardment rockets. The Russians did have a similar rocket of their own manufacture with a diameter of 3 1/2 inches, used as an anti-tank rocket from launchers nicknamed Stalin Organs. Right after the war the Russians began to mass produce two additional rocket weapons of the same type, one with a diameter of five inches and one larger one with a diameter of 11 1/2 inches.

The current Russian bombardment rockets are the offspring of these early types. There are two such rockets with a range of three to five miles.

Election Results Give Push To Amalgamation Move

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER TEAM

350 Killed By 'Quake In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A heavy earthquake shook western Iran today and unofficial accounts, reaching Tehran said at least 350 persons were killed and thousands were injured.

Tehran radio said the towns of Sahneh and Farsinak were badly damaged and that most villages in that area were "completely ruined." Heavy snowfalls created harsh conditions for several thousand made homeless by the tremor.

Survivors scrambled in blizzard weather to rescue loved ones trapped in crumbled buildings. Large numbers were left homeless.

A quake also rocked buildings in Athens, Greece, causing a minor panic. It was centered, the Athens Observatory said, about 30 miles northeast of Athens in the Marathon area where a destructive earthquake occurred in July, 1938.

FOOD FOR HOMELESS

The quake in Iran occurred at 5:15 a.m. local time (5:45 p.m. PST) Thursday night and lasted for two minutes.

It shook most western parts of Iran and many houses and government buildings were ruined in Hamadan, Murdistan, Assadabad and Kangavar.

The government started moving food and medicine for the thousands of homeless.

The earthquake was reported as strong as the shock which struck Damavand and the Caspian Sea area last July in which about 2,000 persons were killed, 10,000 injured and 100,000 made homeless.

Damage was estimated at about $1,000,000.

Students Save Selves As Train Crashes Bus

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—12 teenage school students escaped serious injury today in a level-crossing collision between a school bus and a passenger train that sheared off the rear end of the bus.

Four were taken to hospital and allowed to go home after treatment of minor injuries.

A spokesman for the Greater Winnipeg Transit Commission, owners of the bus, said the children helped save themselves by running to the front of the vehicle when they saw the train coming.

The injured are: Bill Coble, 14; Jerry Parker, 15; Robert Misseggers, 17; and Doug Ole-suk, 16.

A transit commission spokesman said driver Henry P. Schmidt stopped the big diesel bus before starting over the level crossing.

APPEARING DEJECTED by thumbs-down vote, Ald. J. Donald Smith was consoled by Mrs. Percy Scurrah, wife of the mayor, as final results were posted at city polling centre. Ald. Smith still retains Victoria seat in B.C. Legislature. He was five years on city council.

Medium Missiles Wanted by France

PARIS (Reuters)—France will ask the United States for intermediate-range ballistic missiles, a government spokesman announced today.

The foreign ministry spokesman told a press conference the request will be discussed at a meeting between French and American representatives after the NATO summit meeting here.

Damage was estimated at about $1,000,000. Britain now is in the final stages of negotiating a missile agreement with the United States.

France's attitude toward rocket bases—in the face of strenuous Soviet opposition—was expected to be a key factor at the three-day summit meeting starting Monday.

Premier Felix Gaillard indicated to the National Assembly's foreign affairs commission this morning that France would not object to rocket bases in NATO countries.

Mr. Gadsby said the salmon runs would be eliminated "unless Gen. McNaughton has some new engineering and biological data that will ensure the safe passage of migrating salmon over power dams."

PRAYER FOR TODAY
We thank Thee, O God, for the crisp beauty of the autumn, the fertility of this good land, the faithful labor of the farmer, and the abundant harvest which reminds us of all these blessings. May they also remind us of Thee. Stab us awake to the need of those who go continually in hunger. Bless every person who is giving of himself, of his time, and of his produce to bring nourishment to our brother men around the world; in Jesus' name. Amen.

Looks like Saanich has staged a Changin' o' th' Guard—th' old guard, that is.

From th' city vote, I'd say that on amalgamation folks want less words an' more facts.

Mister Khrushchev seems t' be tryin' t' vote nay to NATO.

MURDOCH TOPS POLL

Oak Bay councillor George Murdoch in a municipal vote recount replaced Patrick Birley as top man on the council poll.

Here are final results: Murdoch, 1,379; Birley, 1,365; Fred Hawes, 1,335; Kenneth Murphy, 1,116, and Kenneth Boorman, 1,087.

B.C. Cautious On Power-Fish Controversy

McNaughton Idea Sparks Argument

Provincial government leaders reacted cautiously today to the blunt suggestion by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton that power should be given precedence over salmon in development of the Fraser River.

Gen. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, told the House of Commons external affairs committee Thursday that an immediate start should be made on harnessing the Fraser's great hydro potential.

Diversion of the flood waters of the Columbia River into the Fraser would be involved in the scheme.

Lands Minister Ray Williston said more time is needed to research the fish-power problem before such a decision is made.

"I think eventually we can combine the two to a degree," Mr. Williston said.

BENNETT SILENT

Premier Bennett declined to comment on Gen. McNaughton's statements, saying he would let Mr. Williston speak for the government.

Previously the premier has said his government would never allow the Fraser to be dammed if it would mean destruction of the salmon run.

One reason for Mr. Bennett's reluctance to comment today could be the fact that on Tuesday he is meeting Douglas McKay, new chairman of the American section of the IJC.

Other officials, including Mr. McKay, were quick to react to the proposal, however.

In Salem, Ore., Mr. McKay said the U.S. is opposed to such a development.

OBJECTED STRONGLY

He said the U.S. delegation had objected strongly to it at recent meetings of the Commission. He added that he doesn't believe the program will be carried out.

Ron Gadsby, spokesman for the Fisheries Association of B.C., said Gen. McNaughton's proposal would eliminate the $50,000,000 Fraser River salmon run.

Gen. McNaughton's proposal is apparently based on a preliminary engineering report, said Mr. Gadsby.

Mr. Gadsby said the salmon runs would be eliminated "unless Gen. McNaughton has some new engineering and biological data that will ensure the safe passage of migrating salmon over power dams."

Amalgamation proposals for the Greater Victoria area were given a big boost forward in Thursday's municipal elections.

Only Victoria City voted directly on the issue, and citizens voted better than 3 to 1 in favor of a royal commission investigation of ways in which it could be done.

But, in the second largest municipality of Saanich, voters returned Reeve Arthur Ash and a complete slate of council candidates who have strongly backed the idea of studying amalgamation plans.

The Saanich poll was a full victory for the self-styled "December 12 group" and defeat for reevehip candidate Eugene Diespecker, and 21-year council veteran and former reeve Leslie

Passmore, who have been opposed to amalgamation.

The issue did not bulk very largely in Esquimalt, but it was significant that former councillor G. K. Sammon, a strong supporter of amalgamation studies, was put back in office with a good vote.

And in Oak Bay, long the main "hold out" municipality, the point was not raised in a quiet election.

Jaycees to Push Petitions

As a result of the polling, the Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to go ahead with public petitions in Oak Bay and Esquimalt to get public support for a royal commission study.

Eric Charman, who sponsored the Jaycee drive for the royal commission, said:

"The results in Victoria and Saanich clearly illustrate substantial support for the royal commission proposal."

"They also encourage the Jaycees to go forward with their petition in Oak Bay and Esquimalt."

He said the organization had held off its petition raising until after the municipal elections because it did not wish to influence the vote.

"We did not spend one nickel on advertising or holding meetings about it in Victoria because we wanted a pure expression of opinion. Now we have it," he said.

Regardless of the further action toward a royal commission, it is expected early moves will be made toward forming a strong intermunicipal committee, including the mayors and reeves of each municipality. Several candidates spoke in favor of such a plan.

Outside of amalgamation main interest in Thursday's elections surrounded the defeat of Alderman Donald Smith, Social Credit M.L.A. He was trying for his third term on city council, and at one time was considering running for the mayoralty. He was edged out by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot for the fourth council seat.

2 B.C. Slayers Spared Gallows

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences passed on Joseph McKenna, 22, of Vancouver, and Calvin Henry Klingbell, 23, of Kelowna, B.C.

McKenna was convicted of murder June 14, 1957, at Vancouver in the fatal shooting of John Henry Donaldson, a 25-year-old Vancouver ambulance driver, in a Vancouver night club.

Klingbell was convicted at Vancouver Sept. 25, 1957, of the stabbing murder in Vancouver of Lee Yick Yung, a 63-year-old Chinese grocer.

Both men had been scheduled for execution Tuesday, Dec. 17. Donaldson was shot in Vancouver March 23, 1957. McKenna's appeal was dismissed by the British Columbia Court of Appeal Oct. 2 and his application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was refused Nov. 11.

His case for leave to appeal was taken to the Supreme Court by John R. Taylor, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Vancouver-Burrard and Arthur Maloney, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Parkdale. Later, Mr. Taylor made personal representations to Solicitor-General Leon Balcer and the Cabinet.

Yung was stabbed to death during a robbery in Vancouver May 18, 1957. Klingbell, a mechanic's helper, did not appeal his conviction.

T-BRICKS FOR KOREA

Target: $6,500 in 12 Days; Big Hurdle But Let's Try It

By DINAH KERR

The war babies of Korea don't receive Easter eggs at Easter time; they don't receive presents on their birthdays.

And unless we can raise $6,500 by Christmas, they won't receive a Christmas present either.

It's too bad—because the gift of an outpatients' TB pavilion for sick and hungry children isn't just another present.

In many cases it would mean the awful difference between life and death.

We wouldn't learn of the deaths, of course, except through an occasional news story, coldly statistical.

We wouldn't have to share a mother's grief or a jobless father's despair. We wouldn't feel the hopelessness of trained doctors and nurses who don't have the facilities to care for thousands of "street" children carrying the extra burden of TB on their narrow shoulders.

We're safe and comfortable here, buying Christmas toys and warm woollens for our children.

We're troubled now and then by the "commercialization of Christmas" but we go on buying.

That bright toy your child doesn't really need—would you trade it for bricks to build a wall against death and disease in Korea?

Would you deny your child one bauble to help another child who has nothing?

Your children have the essential gifts of happiness and health. Would you help another child, whom you will never see, fight his desperate battle for life?

Ten cents would buy one brick to build the pavilion in Seoul.

Ten dollars would buy 1,000 bricks.

We could raise the money if you would help us.

Instead, as we approach Christmas—the Christians' day of thanksgiving—donations to The "Times" "T-Bricks for Korea" fund are steadily decreasing.

Thursday we received only $228 in the mail—a far cry from that wonderful day when we received $669.

We have only 12 days in which to raise another $6,500. Will you help us build the pavilion?

Send donations to the Victoria Daily Times, Douglas Street, or The Times downtown office, Broad Street. Make cheques payable to the Unitarian Services Committee: "T-Bricks for Korea" Fund.

'Not Deposed' Sukarno Says Before Departing

miles, the larger of them measuring 5.2 inches in diameter. The large type of a calibre of nearly a foot has been converted into an air-to-air missile, a rocket to be fired from airplanes against other airplanes. It is now a guided rocket, but the nature of the guidance system is not publicly known. Its Russian designation is M-100A. All the rockets mentioned so far are propelled by solid fuels.

With the end of the war the Russians captured tons of German documents. They captured the production engineers of the V-2 factory (but not the planning and research staff who had fled in time and surrendered to the Americans) and they might have captured a few rockets. From the documents they learned that the Germans had planned to extend the 200 miles range of the V-2 by equipping it with wings.

The idea was that the winged rocket could add about 100 miles to its range by performing like a glider when it returned into dense air after reaching its 60-mile peak. Of course this rocket could not be accurate unless it was piloted and the Germans had had that in mind. The pilot was to bail out as soon as he was sure that his rocket would hit the target. The Russians also learned from captured documents that the Germans intended to develop solid fuel rockets to be fired from submarines.

Since these German plans were not based on whim but on solid engineering logic the Russians carried them out—with their own men. The submarine-launched, solid-fuel missiles are now under development; one with an intended range of 100 miles is called Comet-1, another with an intended range of 500 miles is called Comet-2.

The Russian development of the German V-2 rocket is called the T-1, also M-101. It has the same diameter as the original V-2, namely, 5 1/2 feet, but is 50 feet long (V-2 was about 46 feet) and has a different fuel—kerosene instead of alcohol. Its range is given as 400 miles, double the original V-2 range. It is in production. So is the T-4 (or M-102), which is the winged version. Claims are that it may have a range of as much as 1,000 miles, which sounds somewhat exaggerated. The figure may have to read 1,000 kilometers, which would be 620 miles, and more likely what one could expect.

More Stages Needed

For ranges beyond 600 miles rockets of two or more stages are needed. The Russian T-2 missile (also designated as M-103) is their IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile) with a range of 1,500 miles. At least a hundred of them have been test fired. It is a two-stage liquid fuel missile with a take-off weight of about 85 tons. The upper stage is a T-1, the lower stage is a T-2, a very heavy booster. It was probably the T-2 which was converted into a satellite carrier for firing the first Sputnik.

Another Russian rocket missile in production is the T-7A. Propelled by a solid fuel, it is 25 feet long with a diameter of 2 1/2 feet and a range of up to 60 miles. The T-7A is the Russian equivalent to our Corporal missile which, however, is a liquid fuel rocket.

So far the only facts known about the Russian ICBM (Intercontinental Ballistic Missile) are that it is designated as T-3 or as M-104, that its goal is a range of 5,000 miles and that two or three of them have been test fired. It must be a three-stage rocket and, of course, its warhead must be heavy enough to be either a uranium or a hydrogen bomb. It just does not pay to shoot ordinary high explosives over such a distance. A modified T-3 probably fired Sputnik No. 2.

The lesson that can be drawn from this quick survey is quite simple. As regards the intercontinental missile the Russians are somewhat ahead of us. But they are far ahead with respect to the intermediate range missile.

By JAMES WILDE

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno prepared today to leave the country, for what is officially described as a rest, in the midst of a national crisis over the campaign against the Dutch. He denied he has been deposed.

The 56-year-old president, looking tired and tense, appeared before newspaper men and denied reports from The Netherlands that he was a prisoner of the army in his palace and had been ousted from power. He laughed and smiled but refused to answer questions.

Earlier, in a signed, handwritten note issued through government officials, he made the same denial. The note said he was carrying on his duties as usual and that "Amsterdam" is full of wishful thinking.

Premier Djuanda asked Parliament earlier today to swear in Speaker Sartono, a moderate nationalist, as acting president in Sukarno's absence. Sartono, also 56, was willing to serve "during the period of President Sukarno's recuperation," an official announcement said.

Sukarno, it was said, was going to a friendly neighbor country.

Although the president's need of rest was given as the official reason for his departure, some informants indicated security also was a reason. Four grenades were thrown at the president on Nov. 30 in an effort to kill him.

SECOND ATTEMPT

The Peiping radio in Red China quoted an Indonesian newspaper as saying a second attempt on Sukarno's life was made two days ago.

The Amsterdam stock market, which spurred upward Thursday when rumors of Sukarno's ouster spread, continued to rise Friday despite Sukarno's denials. Among stock issues advancing were KPM the Dutch shipping line whose properties in Indonesia have been seized.

RUMORS OF ARREST

A government spokesman indicated, however, that Sartono would only be a figurehead. He said Premier Djuanda and Maj. Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, the army chief of staff, "will be in charge during Sukarno's visit abroad."

Shipyard Future Laid Squarely In Ottawa's Lap

Heads of Victoria's two big shipyards agreed Friday that prospects of stopping mass layoffs depend entirely on orders from the Canadian government—and that none are in prospect.

At commissioning ceremonies for HMCS Cowichan at Yarrow's Ltd., H. A. Wallace, managing director of Yarrow's, and Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., painted a bleak picture of increasing unemployment for shipyard workers.

Mr. Husband is also president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, which represents all major yards in Canada.

LAST ONE

In his address turning over the Cowichan to the navy, Mr. Wallace pointed out the completion of the Cowichan was Yarrow's last naval shipbuilding contract.

"We are sad," he said, "Shipbuilding calls for a combination of skills and collective experience, and it has taken us years to build up our fine organization."

"It is with deepest regret that, because of lack of work, we see our great team about to be dissolved."

(Yarrow's work force has already been cut back from a post-war peak in August of 1,150 to 600, with more layoffs coming.)

Mr. Wallace referred to previous statements by Mr. Husband explaining the necessity of a continuing shipbuilding program, and expressed complete agreement.

"The western world has recently and forcibly seen how quickly a nation can get behind technologically, and it is of vast importance to our survival that we keep ourselves strong with the most up-to-date weapons available," he said.

"It is the intention of the government to place contracts for two additional destroyer escorts... we feel that Yarrow's deserves favorable consideration... and we hope the government will act quickly and wisely, so that we may be able to retain a nucleus of our highly skilled people."

Mr. Wallace also urged the government to develop a program to assist in the construction of merchant vessels in Canada.

"We are in a vulnerable position when we realize that almost 70 per cent of our foreign trade is carried—not even in U.K. ships—but in foreign bottoms," he said.

Speaking as president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, Mr. Husband said the two new DDEs had not yet been allocated.

He agreed that one of them should be built in a West Coast yard, but added: "Even if the contract were awarded now, the effects on manpower would not be felt very largely for several months."

He pointed out component parts—such as boilers, tubing and engines—would have to be procured before a full work force could be employed. "The shipbuilding picture is gloomy," he said. "Unless the government acts quickly on a long-range program of steady work, we cannot hold trained personnel together."

Oil Companies Merge In $200 Million Deal

CALGARY (CP)—One of the largest oil deals ever negotiated in Western Canada was completed here Thursday, when the shareholders of Merrill Petroleum Ltd., approved a merger involving about $200,000,000 between their company and Pacific Petroleum Ltd.

A total of 1,469,984 shareholders voted for the merger, 98.5 per cent, and 21,839 votes were against.

The merger involves a trade of two shares of Merrill for one of Pacific.

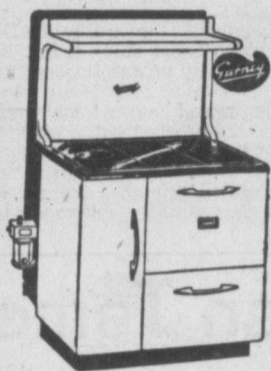

It was also announced at the meeting that Merrill president Clifford R. Walker will become a member of the board of directors of Pacific.

When the merger was first proposed in July, Mr. Walker said the move would give Merrill stockholders a much more diversified investment and would increase growth potential.

At that time, Frank McMahon, chairman of Pacific's board of directors, stated the merger would create a strong, integrated, independent company. Pacific holds a 20 per cent interest in the Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., in addition to interests in 7,500,000 acres of exploration land in Western Canada and 7,500,000 acres in Venezuela, large marketing outlets, vast gas reserves, a refinery, a gas plant and varying interests in a number of oil wells.

Merrill, 11th ranked producer in Western Canada this year, produced 2,227,705 barrels of oil in 1956. The company has interests in 1,000 wells and 100 per cent interest in 132 wells. The net wells are in Pembina, Joffre-Red Deer, Sylvan Lake, Gilby, Leduc, Maimo and Erskine.

Canada Sets Changes In Diplomatic Corps

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's first high commissioner to the new federation of Malaya will be Arthur R. Menzies, until recently head of the Far Eastern division of the external affairs department, the department announced today.

Appointment of the 41-year-old Mr. Menzies—who will take up his duties next spring—was one of several shifts in Canada's representation abroad announced by the department.

Nik Cavell, 63, who has been responsible since 1951 for administration of Canada's participation in the Colombo Plan, has been appointed high commissioner to Ceylon, effective next March.

He will succeed James J. Hurley, 59, who becomes high commissioner to the Union of South Africa. Mr. Hurley succeeds Evan W. T. Gill, whose appointment as high commissioner to Ghana, the former Gold Coast colony, was announced earlier. Mr. Hurley will take up his new duties in March.

SUCCESSOR LATER

George R. Heasman, 59, now ambassador to Indonesia, has been appointed high commissioner to New Zealand, replacing Kenneth Kirkwood, re-assigned to Ottawa last May.

Mr. Heasman will take up his new post in March and his successor will be announced later.

E. Benjamin Rogers, 46, now ambassador to Peru, has been appointed ambassador to Turkey, effective February. His successor in Peru will be announced later.

He succeeds Herbert O. Moran, previously announced as high commissioner for Canada in Pakistan. Paul A. Beaulieu, 44, now counsellor in the Canadian high commissioner's office in London, becomes charge d'affaires in Beirut, Lebanon, effective in March. He succeeds Lionel V. J. Roy.

William G. M. Olivier, 42, who has been acting head of the department's information division here, has been named Canadian commissioner to the International Supervisory Commission in Indo-China to succeed P. G. R. Campbell. His appointment took effect earlier this month.

Two Inquests Tonight In Three Island Deaths

Two inquests will be held in Nanaimo tonight into the deaths of three persons in two separate accidents on the Island Highway north of Nanaimo between 8 and 9 p.m. Thursday night.

Reg Patterson, 45, former business manager of the Victoria Athletics and Tyee baseball teams, and Mrs. Paul Auer of Wellington, were killed in a two-car collision near Northfield, about three miles north of Nanaimo.

Things I sometimes think about . . .

I sometimes think about being invited as the guest speaker of the Kennel Operators' Association, Inc., at its annual banquet . . . because I would so enjoy opening my remarks with "Ladies and Gentlemen." . . . I often think about Dave, the kennelman at the SPCA shelter here in Victoria . . . a man with an inborn love of animals, who knows how to handle them . . . and the animals, I might add, know how to handle him . . . which gives me a chance to say what I think about the SPCA taking over all pound duties in Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and (I hope) Saanich . . . what I think about this, "peachey dandy."

I sometimes think about scatter rugs, because they certainly do . . . and today I have been thinking about the statement Mayor Percy Scurrell should make . . . so when I thought out loud to the mayor, suggesting his statement should be "It was a hard fight, maw, but I won," the mayor said "you may quote me." . . . I sometimes think about mysterious initials created by the Royal Canadian Navy, such as ABCD . . . but I have stopped thinking about this since meeting Lt.-Cmdr. Neil Russell, staff officer, ABCD, Pacific Command . . . after noting what cavorts around in Neil's back yard, ABCD obviously means Able Bodied Cats and Dogs. . .

Among other things I sometimes think about, are these: I think about the possibility of Christmas being celebrated as the birthday of Christ (an unlikely possibility if I ever thought of one); I think about what is going on in outer space, and I am glad I am here so I can't find out what is going on in outer space; I think about what is going on in the minds of the female-type doggie in our house, namely Judy Boots Streak, and the female-type cat in our house, namely Little Miss Muffet, and I am NOT glad I can't figure out what is going on in their minds.

Also, sometimes I think about how high is up, how low is down, how broad is wide, and how round is a circle.

Mostly, however, I think about how is why.

If I could ever arrive at the answer to how is why, I would never again think about it when I was now.

I guess I shouldn't have mentioned some of the things I sometimes think about.

SETTLE SQUABBLES

Fence Viewers Appointed In Esquimalt

The government today appointed three new "fence viewers" for the unorganized territory of the Esquimalt electoral district.

Their job will be to settle squabbles between farmers over property-dividing fences.

Often farmers get in a scrap with their neighbors over the condition of a fence, sharing of costs and upkeep.

To arbitrate the dispute, the government appoints three farmers from the same area, who are paid $5 a day and travelling expenses while they are on the case.

Findings of the "fence viewers" are binding. Their services can be obtained by request of either of the disputing parties, who must then pay the costs.

At one time, there were "fence viewers" appointed in almost all unorganized territories of the province. Now they are appointed only when needed.

There have been occasional disputes in the Cobble Hill and Metochin areas, and the government today added three new "fence viewers" to the two already functioning there. Only three will sit at one time.

New viewers are, James Chidlow, 3670 Happy Valley Road; Ralph Willing, 3639 Happy Valley Road, and Aubrey Hall, Jacklin Road, Langford.

Christmas Frolic For Tourist Traders

Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group will hold a Christmas frolic at the Olde England Inn next Thursday at 7 p.m. The chamber's 1958 goodwill tour will be discussed followed by dancing to midnight.

POLITICIANS SEE STRAWS IN WIND

Politicians of the opposition parties in B.C. took some comfort from Thursday's municipal elections, noting that candidates identified with the Social Credit movement fared poorly.

Although party line politics are normally eschewed in municipal contests, they saw as possible straws in the wind, the defeat of such persons as Ald. Donald Smith, who is a Victoria Social Credit MLA; Eugene Diespeker for reeve and Ronald Grant for council in Saanich, and Kenneth Murphy for council in Oak Bay.

At Alberni, Ben Wright, who ran as federal Social Credit candidate, was defeated two to one for mayor.

Auto Insurance Rates Jump 10%

Victoria motorists can expect an increase of about 10 per cent in car insurance rates in the New Year following a general increase throughout British Columbia, insurance officials said today.

In other parts of the province rates will be about 14 per cent higher than they have been since August and 20 per cent higher than in the early part of 1957.

"The increase will be less in Victoria and the area south of Vancouver because they are already lower than anywhere else in the province," said the manager of a local insurance firm.

$1,000 Bail Set by Court In Meter Case

Ronald Hill, 18, of 342 Arnold, appeared in city police court today on a charge of stealing money from parking meters, and was remanded to Wednesday for judgment.

Bail of $1,000 was set by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Hill told the court he had been with four other youths Wednesday night, but parted company with them when one said he was going to break open some parking meters.

"I told them I didn't want any part of it," Hill said.

He stated he walked away, stopping to look into a store window. About 10 minutes later the youths caught up with him.

"Then a patrol car came by," Hill said, "and we were told to empty the contents of our pockets on the hood of the car."

"I had a wallet, a comb, an unemployment insurance card and a nickel."

He is charged in connection with breaking into 12 meters on Yates Street and six on Blanshard. Police found 15 coins and $1.11 from the meters.

BORROWING BY PGE HITS LIMIT

The government-owned PGE reached the limit of its borrowing powers today.

Borrowings of $4,212,242.80 to pay construction costs on the northern extension were approved by the cabinet.

This raises the total borrowings of the PGE to exactly $80,000,000, the limit set at the last legislature session.

It is expected the government will introduce legislation at the up-coming session to raise the limit still higher.

Business Tax Must Be Paid By Tuesday

A 5 per cent penalty and possible legal action faces almost 1,100 Victoria businesses unless their 1957 business tax is paid by Tuesday.

A total of $125,000 — about 25 per cent of the total 1957, $474,000 levy by the city on the business community is still unpaid today, it was learned at City Hall.

Due date for payment actually is Sunday, according to the business tax bylaw. However, as this is a holiday, city comptroller Dennis A. Young says, the final collection date has been advanced and no penalty will be imposed on payments made Monday.

"This will give merchants opportunity to mail cheques over the weekend," he said.

APPLIED TUESDAY

The 5 per cent penalty will be applied Tuesday, and if payment is then not made by early January, legal action will be taken to collect the amount owing.

About $290,000 of the total levy had already been paid into City Hall when business tax bills were issued in November.

This had been paid in form of trade licence fees.

Under the city system, adopted for the first time this year, merchants are required to pay either trade licence fees or business tax, whichever is greater.

Trade licence fees are normally payable in January and in June. If the total paid is greater than the amount charged in business tax, no further payment is due. If, however, trade licence fees are less than the business tax levy, the balance must be paid to City Hall by Tuesday.

UP 50%

Trade licence fees have been paid in the city for years. The business tax was brought in when it became necessary to increase the levy on business by 50 per cent, jumping the overall revenue from $300,000 to $474,000.

Although trade licence fees were established arbitrarily on the basis that largest firms paid the greater fee, business tax is worked out on an assessment basis.

Each firm in the city was given an appraised rental value, based on actual rents paid in the adjoining area.

Tax is computed by applying to this a 6 per cent rate. The tax rate was the lowest which would provide the $474,000 revenue called for in the 1957 budget.

There were 106 appellants against the business tax assessment at a court of revision at City Hall, Oct. 7 and 8. About 20 appeals were withdrawn. Less than 1 per cent of the gross tax roll was deleted by the court.

Drive Against Brucellosis Getting Results

The drive to stamp out brucellosis among cattle on Vancouver Island is beginning to bring results.

Provincial agriculture department officials said today conditions have improved measurably in recent months.

They made the disclosure in announcing that the Gulf Islands and Vancouver Island brucellosis control areas are being merged into one.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—Please tell me what age a person has to be to obtain a hunting licence in B.C., and what age a person must be to obtain a licence for a gun?

—W. P. W.

A—You can get a licence for hunting at the age of 14; but to do so between ages of 14 and 18 years requires the consent of parents or guardians. Also, the 14-18 hunter must be accompanied in the field by an adult. To get a gun licence, obtainable at the same age, it is necessary to have a form signed by parents or guardians issued by the game department of the provincial government. Any sporting goods store will issue them, if authenticated.

'She Called It Little Oakalla'

A Saanich man charged with arson was quoted in Saanich court Thursday as saying "I set fire to my house. I built it all myself. She called it little Oakalla..."

Emerson Eugene Michael, 53, 4384 Robinwood, pleaded not guilty and was remanded to Jan. 9 for presentation of defence evidence.

Michael was charged in connection with a fire at his home Sept. 1 at about 3.30 p.m.

The statement was quoted by Dr. Lloyd McNiven, who examined Michael for sobriety at 4.45 p.m., Sept. 1. He said the accused, in his opinion, was impaired by alcohol as if he had been drinking for a considerable time.

Next door neighbor Richard Friesen, 4382 Robinwood, said he noted considerable argument going on at the Michael home, Sept. 1. He said there was evidence of drinking.

At one point Mrs. Michael came out of the house with a glass in her hand, he said.

RETURNED ALONE

In the early afternoon Michael, his wife and another man left the house and some time later Michael returned alone.

Around 3 p.m., Friesen said he saw Michael go into his garage and bring out an armful of square cans including one he knew to contain gasoline used for Michael's power mower.

He took them in the house, Friesen said, and after a while Michael came out the back door.

"... I saw fire coming out of what would be the bathroom window. I ran outside and asked Mr. Michael what had happened."

"He said he had built the house and he was going to burn it down. He went and sat in the garage door to watch," Friesen said.

The neighbor then called firemen, who arrived within about three minutes.

DENSE SMOKE

Fireman Harold B. Gains saw smoke coming from doors and windows, "the densest smoke I ever came across," he said. Gains put on a smoke mask to make a search of the premises.

He went through and noticed fire burning in the hall and back bedroom and an oily-type substance scattered over floors, walls and furniture.

Coming to the back door, he went out and saw Michael sitting in the garage doorway, laughing and shouting, "You'll never put that fire out."

Fire Capt. Arthur J. Logie said he thought the dark substance found staining furniture and walls was creosote. Analyst T. W. McC. Davis said the substances were creosote and two types of solvent.

IGY Promises Carried Out By Russians

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—One of the scientists directing the U.S. satellite tracking program says the Russians are living up to all their promises for the International Geophysical Year.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, assistant director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, told a reporter Thursday night:

"As far as I am concerned, the Russians have met all the IGY agreements so far."

Hynek was commenting on a Russian proposal that a code be developed for rapid exchange of satellite tracking information.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, Smithsonian director, said an unidentified Soviet scientist made the proposal in a letter to him about six weeks ago.

Whipple said the code suggested by the Russian would employ a simple number system and would be used primarily to save money on cable costs and ensure accuracy.

Proudfoot Edges Smith; Edgelow Again Leads Poll

NEW FACE ON VICTORIA CITY COUNCIL is that of Capt. D. J. Proudfoot (right) who upset the dopesters by defeating Ald. J. Donald Smith in close race. Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow (left), topped the polls in six-way race for four council seats. Also re-elected were Ald. Millard Mooney and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

Referendums Passed By Big Margin

By PETE LOUDON

The election of Capt. D. J. Proudfoot and defeat of Ald. J. Donald Smith were the only changes in city council following civic elections Thursday.

Returned to office were Ald. G. I. Edgelow, Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson.

The smallest turnout of voters in 15 years, 27.5 per cent, passed both the library by-law and the referendum on a royal commission to probe amalgamation by wide majorities.

School board incumbents Kenneth Leeming and A. H. Wilson were returned to office.

The defeat of Ald. Smith, considered earlier as a dark horse candidate for mayor, came as a surprise. He has served five years on council and last year was its most controversial member.

His defeat will reduce chances that the present business tax will be altered to provide a classified system of taxation.

Two Positions

Ald. Smith, who is also a Victoria School M.L.A., said his defeat was due partially to public concern at his attempts to fulfill both positions.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot won his council seat after many years of civic endeavor.

He is at present finance chairman of the Victoria Library Board and secretary of the Greater Victoria centennial committee, and a member of the provincial centennial committee.

A former Liberal M.L.A., he has also served on the board of Royal Jubilee Hospital. He is a First World War veteran, a former school teacher and at present describes himself as a "student at law." He was defeated in his last bid for council two years ago.

Victorians overwhelmingly supported the two opinion votes.

A new library agreement which gives voting powers to members from surrounding municipalities, and confirms a recently adopted basis for sharing library costs, was passed 3,963 to 527.

On the question of asking for a provincial government-appointed royal commission to investigate amalgamation, the vote was 4,196 yes, and 1,276 no.

Early Trend

The final pattern of the vote was indicated after counting of the first 100 ballots.

Later, Ald. Smith climbed ahead of Capt. Proudfoot, but by the time the first half of the count was complete, Capt. Proudfoot had again taken the lead. He finally edged Ald. Smith by 161 votes.

Greatest evidence of disregard of voting rights and privilege came from View Royal which votes with Victoria for school board members only.

The count there showed only 17 out of 400 eligible voters cast ballots. Results for the area were Leeming, 12; Williams, 14 and Wilson, 8; each person voting for two candidates.

Here are the comments of candidates and other aldermen who appeared with Mayor Percy Scourrah to watch the final figures posted:

Ald. G. I. Edgelow, who led the polls as he did in 1955:

"It is my intention to press for continued operation of the city with economy. I think we should aim to develop our dormant assets such as the Gorge, and continue our beautification program." He has won his third two-year council term.

Big Surprise

Ald. M. H. Mooney, five years on council and at present chairman of public works: "The biggest surprise to me was the defeat of Ald. Smith."

"My pet project next year will be completion of our new garbage wharf and disposal system. I would also like to see a powerful and workable inter-municipal committee. It should be a first step toward amalgamation."

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson, who goes back to council for a second term, said: "I hope I can continue next year in health and welfare." (She was 1956-57 chairman.)

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot said: "We have several projects ahead of us, one of the main ones being to obtain relief from costs of education."

Ald. Don Smith said his defeat would be welcomed by his wife and two little daughters, who could expect to see him more often.

"I knew it would be close and thought I'd be fourth elected. However, some people do not approve of my holding two offices."

Mayor Percy Scourrah, who was elected by acclamation on nomination day, said: "I am very happy at the results. We've got a busy year ahead of us."

SMILING IN DEFEAT was Eugene Diespecker, who lost his bid to unseat Reeve Arthur Ash (left) of Saanich.

Mr. Diespecker, who resigned his council seat to contest the reeveship, went ahead in early rural returns but fell behind when urban polls reported.

'Old Guard' Defeated In Saanich; Ash Wins

By JOHN MIKA

Saanich's "old guard" took a beating Thursday night and the controversial Dec. 12th Group made good with the election of all four candidates it endorsed—Reeve Arthur Ash, Coun. George Chatterton, Stanley Murphy, Charles Nelles and Harold Todd.

Coun. Eugene Diespecker, who resigned his seat in mid-term to contest the reeveship, was defeated along with 17-year veteran Coun. Leslie Passmore and budding "old guard" candidate Ronald Grant, an ex-councillor.

All three were unconditionally opposed to amalgamation although Coun. Diespecker was the only one to make a strong stand against a royal commission investigation.

to Mr. Diespecker's 3,011.

Mrs. Frances Thompson, past president of the Greater Victoria Parent-Teacher Council, led James McPherson and George McWilliam to win the two-year term on School District 61 (Saanich) School Board.

33 Per Cent of Voters Turn Out

About 6,900 voters out of a possible 20,684 went to the polls to hit slightly better than a 33 per cent turnout—average for a reeveship election year.

They gave strongest support to Coun. Chatterton and Mr. Murphy, who polled 4,988 and 4,161 votes, respectively.

Although the Dec. 12th Group advertised it was "not opposed" to Coun. Chatterton, he voiced strong objection to this diluted form of endorsement after refusing to accept its support.

Coun. Passmore, who landed at the bottom of the heap in the race for a two-year term despite several ups and downs, read the writing on the wall early in the evening.

He gave reporters a prepared statement conceding defeat after only three polls out of 13 had reported even though he was strongest contender for the third council seat at the time.

He took the step when faster reporting on the reeveship race at that moment showed the Lansdowne poll returns had turned the tide running against Reeve Ash by a 537-163 margin against Coun. Diespecker. This poll sent the reeve in to the lead for the first time and he never looked back.

Cadboro Bay Poll Killed Him

Despite his move, it looked for a while as though Coun. Passmore would make it. He was only six votes behind Mr. Nelles with four polls left but the Cadboro Bay poll finally killed his chances when it gave him only 135 votes against 304 for Mr. Nelles.

Further returns from Lansdowne, in the Saanich "pan-handle," marked the turning point for Mr. Nelles and Mr. Todd too. Until that poll came in, Gregory Cook, a surprising early starter, had the firmest grip on the third two-year term and Mr. Grant was ahead of Mr. Todd for the one-year seat.

The Cadboro Bay poll also proved the final blow for Mr. Grant, favoring Mr. Todd by 300 to 184.

Reeve Arthur Ash congratulated Coun. Diespecker on "a good fight" and admitted he thought he would lose when early returns favored the challenger.

"I think the over-all vote can be taken as a mandate from the people to press forward the decision to seek a royal commission investigation of amalgamation," the reeve said as he looked ahead to his second two-year term in office.

Coun. Diespecker, who gives up the seat he held three years as soon as Mr. Todd is sworn in when the official count is completed, congratulated the reeve and wished the new council "good luck and good management in 1958."

Declaring he had "no regrets but rather a sense of relief that I can stay home with my wife now," Coun. Passmore said: "I have always believed that any incumbent who runs often enough will ultimately be defeated."

"During a period extending over 21 years, I have been privileged to serve Saanich and I have always received wonderful treatment from the ratepayers."

Wurtele Scores Easy Win; Sammon Gets Back Old Seat

A landslide victory in Esquimalt elections Thursday returned Reeve A. C. Wurtele for his fourth consecutive term.

By swamping his opponent Magistrate A. I. Thomas, 1,034 to 567, he achieved the biggest majority in his four attempts at office.

Veteran councillor before his defeat last December, G. K. Sammon ran second in the four-way race for three seats with 1,148 votes.

Others elected were second-term Councillor Arthur Fields, who led the poll with 1,202 votes, and Councillor Walter Holder for his fourth term with 1,079 votes.

Loser was Donald A. Douglas who polled 773 votes in his first try for office.

47% TURNOUT

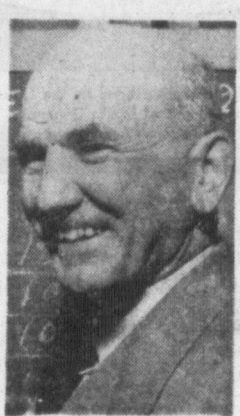

Of the 3,432 registered voters in the municipality some 1,600 or 47% cast ballots.

Reeve Wurtele said of his opponent, who was not available for comment: "My opponent, as usual conducted a very fair and friendly campaign." My reaction is one of great delight that so many people voted for me and I look forward greatly to being reeve of this wonderful community for another 2 years.

"We expect the overall expenditures to be more in the nature of $750,000 instead of last year's $692,000. This increase can be attributed to higher school and public works appropriations and we hope that we can meet as many as possible of the petitions for local improvement."

Elected for his second term, Councillor Arthur Fields said "the electorate had demonstrated to the reeve and council that they were pleased with what has been done in the last six years. A continuation of the present policy of progress and improvement throughout the community is envisaged."

Mr. Sammon, re-elected for

REEVE WURTELE ... fourth term

COUN. FIELDS ... leads poll

his third term after defeat last December, said:

"The one thing I will strive for is to support the realization of a new and effective Greater Victoria Municipal Committee which will truly act in the best interests of the residents of Greater Victoria."

"I strongly support the suggestion that the new inter-municipal committee be composed of the reeves, the mayor and one other councillor from each municipality."

Councillor Walter Holder, re-elected for his fourth consecutive term, thanked the taxpayers who had voted for him and said, "I hope to serve them to the best of my ability."

Donald D. Douglas, defeated in his first attempt at election, congratulated the newly-elected council and reeve, expressed his appreciation for those who had worked with him and said with a smile:

"I'll be in there pitching next year."

'CORPORATION SOLE'

Poll Clerk Balks As Bishop Appears

The Bishop of Victoria had difficulty casting his vote in Thursday's municipal election.

Corporations' votes are cast only by their authorized agents named in the voters' list.

No name appeared in the list after "The Bishop of Victoria,"

so the poll clerk hesitated to give Most Rev. James Hill his ballots.

Returning Officer M. F. Hunter intervened on his behalf, explaining to the clerk that the bishop was an exception to the rule, a "corporation sole."

member for the past year, won a resounding victory by topping every poll. Newcomers to council are Stanley Murphy (centre) and Charles Nelles.

COUN. MURDOCH

Oak Bay Re-Elects 2 Councillors

Oak Bay voters, Thursday, returned two councillors to office and gave a former councillor a big vote.

Television technician George Murdoch and lumber company executive Fred Hawes were returned, with 1,384 and 1,333 votes, respectively, while architect Patrick Birley had 1,392 votes on the second count.

Losing candidates in the council race were lawyer Kenneth Murphy, 1,114 votes, and investment dealer Kenneth Boorman, 1,071.

29.1% TURN OUT

There were 2,180 voters, only 29.1% of those eligible. Last year the vote was 40.56%.

This year there were 7,473 eligible voters; last year about 7,100.

W. R. Freethy, B.C. Electric rural representative, came out on top to take the Oak Bay seat vacant on the Greater Victoria School Board with 1,023 votes. His opponents were John Ford, 747, and Gordon Schenck, 320.

Reeve Fred Norris was elected by acclamation.

GOV'T REJECTS CANADA HOUSE OFFICE SPACE

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government has decided not to lease office space in New York's Canada House, now under construction.

The decision was outlined by Jules Leger, deputy external affairs minister, in a letter last month to the manager of Canada House New York Limited.

Originally, it had been "reported to the department that a substantial part of the building would be occupied by Canadian firms or United States firms having Canadian interests. We are informed that this is not the case and that the building will not be a Canadian centre."

The government had planned to rent office space in Canada House for its consular and United Nations staff in New York.

Time Bombs Blast U.S. Greek Area

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Three time bombs rocked American areas of Greece today, slightly injuring four U.S. Air Force men and a Greek employee and starting a fire that destroyed the U.S. Information Service library.

Some sources blamed Communists for what official quarters described as acts of terrorism.

The first two explosions were in the American sector of the Athens airport. The airman and the Greek employee of the air force were investigating the first blast when the second one caught them.

The airport bombs destroyed a small building housing two wireless station electric generators. They were thought to be home-made.

But police said the library blast by a bomb weighing at least 10 pounds appeared to be a professional job. No one was hurt in the explosion or the fire.

Work Starts Soon On Nanaimo Plant

NANAIMO (CP)—Construction will soon begin on the Mayo forest products plant on the waterfront here, Dr. H. E. Machamer, company controller, said Thursday.

Dr. Machamer said he could not set a date for the building to begin but that the site had begun to be cleared.

The all-electric plant will be designed to utilize all the logs consumed by the mill in the manufacture of lumber and press board.

A-War Unlikely Says Pats' Leader

Lieut.-Col. Thomas deFaye, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, said Thursday he saw no indication of an atomic war in the future.

He added, however, that nations would not have "moral scruples" about using either gases or nuclear weapons if they thought they could "obtain an advantage."

But the power of effective retaliation destroyed possibility of such an advantage, he said.

Work on Hall For Amputees Begins Monday

Work will begin Monday on a meeting hall and club rooms for the Victoria branch of War Amputees Association of Canada, president Lorne Heath said today.

A $16,000 contract to Dillabough and Luney has been approved by the general membership. Previously another $16,000 was paid for property at 1608 and 1610 Oak Bay Avenue as site for the club rooms, which will be called a Memorial Centre.

Mr. Heath said the building, formerly occupied by stores, contains 3,000 square feet on one floor. Plans call for complete renovation, and facilities including a meeting hall, a lounge, kitchen and cloak rooms.

The Amputees hope to make the memorial centre self-supporting by renting it for receptions, banquets, and small parties.

Scientists Urge U.S. Trip to Moon

NEW YORK (AP)—A United States expedition to the moon is one of the objectives of an all-out effort to pioneer in outer space proposed by 27 scientists in rocket and satellite research.

The scientists said Thursday human progress and national welfare make it imperative that the United States carry out scientific exploration and eventual habitation of outer space.

They said the present state of rocket technology will lead inevitably to attempts to explore outer space by manned expeditions. They asked for an expenditure of $10,000,000,000 in the next 10 years for the program.

The scientists, known as the rocket and satellite research panel, suggested the creation of a government body to be called "The National Space Establishment."

Unveiling Of Memorial In Burma Set

OTTAWA (CP)—A memorial built in Burma to commemorate the names of 27,000 officers and men of Commonwealth armies who died in Burma and Assam during the Second World War will be unveiled Feb. 9, the Canadian section of the Imperial War Graves Commission announced Thursday night.

The memorial, built 20 miles north of Rangoon is in the form of two long open garden courts flanked by covered walls and joined in the middle by an open rotunda. The names of the fallen are carved on the broad faces of rectangular piers on the inner sides of the covered walks.

6 B.C. Mayors Suffer Defeat

By The Canadian Press

Six mayors of British Columbia cities were turned out of office in Thursday's civic elections.

And in Burnaby, a suburban municipality adjoining Vancouver, the voters changed their reeve and all but one of the former elected officials in the district.

These are the cities with new mayors:

Grand Forks—Where former Mayor Ora Stephenson was defeated by Archer Davis.

Courtenay—Where former mayor Geoff Browning was defeated by W. C. Moore (see page 16).

Nelson—T. S. Shorthouse outran two other hopefuls in defeating incumbent Joseph Kary.

North Vancouver—Frank Goldsworthy stopped a bid for re-election by Charles Cates.

Prince George—A woman council member for six years, Mrs. Carrie Jane Gray ousted former mayor John Morrison.

Prince Rupert—Peter J. Lester defeated George Hills by the slender margin of 1,363 votes to 1,323. Mr. Lester, a cellulose mill worker, is at present on strike with other pulp workers in B.C.

The big upset in Burnaby saw the end of a four-year career as reeve for Charles MacSorley and the Non-Partisan Association.

Alan Emmott, the new reeve, headed a slate of candidates entered by the Burnaby Citizens' Association. Mr. Emmott defeated Mr. MacSorley by 2,430 votes. Only one NPA candidate was elected, Mrs. Dorothy McKee-Wilson, a school trustee.

Those endorsing fluoridation were Ucluelet, North Cowichan, Kitimat, Campbell River and North Vancouver district. Duncan and Nanaimo voters defeated their plebiscites. In Richmond, a Vancouver area municipality, incomplete returns were indecisive.

Voters in North Vancouver City and the districts of West and North Vancouver agreed to build a $1,000,000 hospital for the North Shore communities. A similar proposal in Langley district was rejected.

Selkirk Spruce Halts Operation

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—Selkirk Spruce Lumber Company, a subsidiary of Black Diamond Lumber of Seattle, has suspended operations. It is located north of Golden, B.C.

The suspension affects 60 men at its sawmill, planer and dry kiln plant, as well as small contract logging and mill crews which contracted for the firm.

The company did not recover fully after part of its $1,500,000 plant, built in 1955, was destroyed by fire a year ago.

Job Insurance Ease Refused For Fishermen

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Michael Starr said today "I cannot see my way clear" to a relaxation of unemployment insurance regulations to meet requests of British Columbia fishermen for special payment of seasonal insurance benefits this winter.

He was replying in the Commons to Thomas Barnett (CCF, Comox-Alberni), who said many salmon fishermen cannot qualify for the seasonal benefits because they have not made 15 weekly contributions into the insurance fund.

Mr. Starr said a request to relax the 15-week requirement has been received from the United Fishermen and Allied Workers of B.C. After careful study he had decided that "a further relaxation is not in order at this time."

Granting of the request would lead to similar demands from other groups. The government had only recently revised the insurance benefits to allow payment of seasonal benefits between Dec. 1 and May 15, two months longer than the former period.

Toronto on Upside To End Loss Streak

The Toronto market was higher today in light trading. All sections were up for the first time this week, thus snapping a four-session losing streak.

Industrial gains held an edge of about four-fifths over losses, but nearly all price changes in the entire section were fractional. A few debentures and warrants gained or lost about a point and Dominion Stores was off a point at 48 1/2.

Steels paced a moderate stock rise at New York and rails continued to lead the upside in quiet trading.

Shell to Spend $40 Millions Throughout West

EDMONTON (CP)—Shell Oil Company Ltd. will spend $40,000,000 in 1958 on exploration, production, operation and capital costs in the western provinces. Paul L. Kartzke, vice-president of Shell's western region, said today.

In the next year, Shell plans to continue exploratory work west of Fort Simpson, N.W.T. and at the McMurray, Alta. Oil Sands, Mr. Kartzke said. He said 20 test holes will be drilled.

The vice-president said Shell would wait for a build-up of retail sales before deciding on construction of a western refinery.

GIFTS OF DISTINCTION

and over

Gift suggestions that will bring exclamations of delight from those you love most... gifts that will be treasured long after Christmas Day has passed... these are but a few of the tremendous Gift Selection you'll find here at EATON'S... everything from a $4,950 mink coat to penny items for "stocking stuffers." You can shop with confidence that your gift will be right, when you shop at EATON'S.

More about
Eaton's

Cast an eye on the gifts which take up the larger part of this page. Pretty snazzy, eh? Some of these items really fall into the rich uncle clan, but mostly they can be bought with just one or two short sharp shrieks from the over-strained budget. And even those shrieks can be muted by a careful study of the following paragraphs on the subject of painless payments.

Budget Plan

Anything you buy at EATON'S totalling $5.00 or over (as long as it's not food) may be bought on the Budget Plan. You pay only 10% down, and in many cases (e.g. TV, freezer, floor polishers, sewing machines) a great deal less, and the balance is spread over not less than 10 months, depending on the amount of the purchase. A reasonable carrying charge is made to cover bookkeeping costs, etc.

Revolving Credit

This is a smart little scheme which entails a fixed payment each month. You decide how much a month you wish to pay, and on approval we at once extend you credit of six times that amount. (At once, you notice—no down payment is needed.) Every time you make a payment your credit is renewed. Small carrying charge on the unpaid balance every month. Get the full details on this convenient credit plan from our Third Floor Accounts Office.

Cash Cheques? Certainly

Perhaps you decide to pay cash, and want to use a cheque. That's Irish, but you know what we mean. Nothing simpler—your cheque can be accepted for the amount of purchases right in the selling departments, or you may cash it at the Cheque Cashing Window on the Third Floor. While up there don't forget that B.C. Electric, B.C. Telephone and many water bills may be paid at the convenient Utility Bill Centre by the Trim-a-Tree Shop.

Relax and Refresh

One floor up from the accounts office you'll find that old-world retreat, the Victoria Room. Relax and enjoy a delicious meal in pleasant surroundings, and if you're only a pitchfork's length away from old devil diet—why then, relax some more! Our Victoria Room is noted for the excellence of its salads, lovely to look at, delightful to eat, and heavenly low (in calories)! Why not meet your friends there!

The Zenith of Service

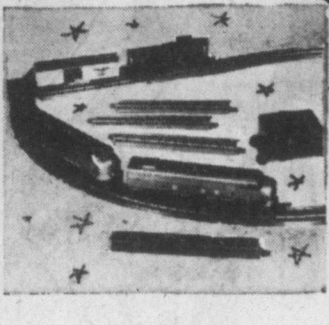

If you're reading this at some distance from Victoria, don't for a minute believe we've forgotten you. Maybe you can't drop into the Victoria Room, or pay a bill on our third floor, but you can open an EATON account (just write to us for an application form) and you can shop at EATON'S (by phone, without stirring from your chair)! If you're on the Sidely Sooke, Keating Cobble Hill, Ganges or Gulf Islands exchanges, ZENITH 6100 is your toll-free line to EATON'S. You order—We deliver.

GRAYS WOULD KEEP BANK ACCOUNTS SECRET

VANCOUVER (CP)—H. Wilson Gray and John M. Gray, charged with conspiracy along with former Forest Minister Robert Sommers, have taken action to prevent inspection of their bank accounts.

The writ asks that the bank be restrained from showing any records in its possession "under any search warrant now in existence or which may be issued."

The court is also asked to restrain examination of the accounts of Pacific Coast Service Limited and Evergreen Lumber Sales Limited. Both companies are charged with conspiracy.

WORLD MISSILES RACE

U.S. Rockets
Tipped Russ

This is the first of a series of weekly articles by Dr. Willy Ley, noted missile expert. The second article will appear next Friday.

By WILLIE LEY

The Russians did not give any military secrets away when they paraded a number of rockets at the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. Anybody who knew anything about rockets could see at a glance that the large missiles on their trailers were somewhat enlarged V-2 rockets and that the smaller ones shown were anti-aircraft missiles of the same type as the U.S. Navy's Terrier.

Although the Russians did not disclose any secrets on that occasion a good deal about the Russian missile arsenal has become known in various ways. To understand what they built and why they built what they did it is necessary to go back to the last year of the Second World War. Most Americans, at that time, saw a movie about the battle of Stalingrad and may recall having seen large salvos of rockets being launched against the encircled German army group. It so happens that most of these rockets had been made in Tennessee and were "lend-lease" ammunition. These rockets were not missiles in the sense in which this term is now used. They were simple unguided bombardment rockets. The Russians did have a similar rocket of their own manufacture with a diameter of 3½ inches, used as an anti-tank rocket from launchers nicknamed Stalin Organs. Right after the war the Russians began to mass produce two additional rocket weapons of the same type, one with a diameter of five inches and one larger one with a diameter of 11½ inches.

The current Russian bombardment rockets are the offspring of these early types. There are two such rockets with a range of three to five miles. Continued on Page 2

B.C. Cautious
On Power-Fish
ControversyMcNaughton Idea
Sparks Argument

Provincial government leaders reacted cautiously today to the blunt suggestion by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton that power should be given precedence over salmon in development of the Fraser River.

Gen. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, told the House of Commons external affairs committee Thursday that an immediate start should be made on harnessing the Fraser's great hydro potential.

Diversion of the flood waters of the Columbia River into the Fraser would be involved in the scheme.

Lands Minister Ray Williston said more time is needed to research the fish-power problem before such a decision is made. "I think eventually we can combine the two to a degree," Mr. Williston said.

BENNETT SILENT

Premier Bennett declined to comment on Gen. McNaughton's statements, saying he would let Mr. Williston speak for the government.

Previously the premier had said his government would never allow the Fraser to be dammed. If it would mean destruction of the salmon run.

One reason for Mr. Bennett's reluctance to comment today could be the fact that on Tuesday he is meeting Douglas McKay, new chairman of the American section of the IJC.

Other officials, including Mr. McKay, were quick to react to the proposal, however.

In Salem, Ore., Mr. McKay said the U.S. is opposed to such a development.

OBJECTED STRONGLY

He said the U.S. delegation had objected strongly to it at recent meetings of the Commission. He added that he doesn't believe the program will be carried out.

Ron Gadsby, spokesman for the Fisheries Association of B.C., said Gen. McNaughton's proposal would eliminate the $50,000,000 Fraser River salmon run.

Gen. McNaughton's proposal is apparently based on a preliminary engineering report," said Mr. Gadsby.

Mr. Gadsby said the salmon runs would be eliminated "unless Gen. McNaughton has some new engineering and biological data that will ensure the safe passage of migrating salmon over power dams."

Students
Save Selves
In Crash

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—12 teenage school students escaped serious injury today in a level-crossing collision between a school bus and a passenger train that sheared off the rear end of the bus.

Four were taken to hospital and allowed to go home after treatment of minor injuries.

A spokesman for the Greater Winnipeg Transit Commission, owners of the bus, said the children helped save themselves by running to the front of the vehicle when they saw the train coming.

The injured are: Bill Coble, 14; Jerry Parker, 15; Robert Misseggers, 17, and Doug Oleuk, 16.

A transit commission spokesman said driver Henry P. Schmidt stopped the bus before starting over the level crossing.

France Wants
Missiles
From U.S.

PARIS (Reuters)—France will ask the United States for intermediate-range ballistic missiles, a government spokesman announced today.

The foreign ministry spokesman told a press conference the request will be discussed at a meeting between French and American representatives after the NATO summit meeting here.

Britain now is in the final stages of negotiating a missile agreement with the United States.

France's attitude toward rocket bases—in the face of strenuous Soviet opposition—was expected to be a key factor at the three-day summit meeting starting Monday.

Premier Felix Gaillard indicated to the National Assembly's foreign affairs commission this morning that France would not object to rocket bases in NATO countries.

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he hopes the NATO summit meeting in Paris next week will achieve a new spirit of unity and a rededication to the alliance's aims.

The prime minister spoke in the Commons after Opposition leaders extended good wishes to him and his cabinet colleagues who attend the NATO council meeting.

Liberal leader St. Laurent said Mr. Diefenbaker can feel that all members of the Commons and Canadians generally are behind him in the "extraordinary" NATO conference.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower heads for Paris today to lead the U.S. drive to revitalize the North Atlantic Alliance.

He was scheduled to take off late this afternoon.

Area Rocked Tonight
By Fresh Tremors

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters)—Fresh earth tremors jolted western Iran tonight while reports reaching here said 600 persons were killed in a violent earthquake that shook the area early today.

Tehran radio said the towns of Sahneh and Farsinak were badly damaged and that most villages in that area were "completely ruined." Heavy snowfalls created harsh conditions for several thousand made homeless by the tremor.

Survivors scrambled in blizzard weather to rescue loved ones trapped in crumbled buildings. Large numbers were left homeless.

A quake also rocked buildings in Athens, Greece, causing a minor panic. It was centred, the Athens Observatory said, about 30 miles northeast of Athens in the Marathon area where a destructive earthquake occurred in July, 1938.

The quake in Iran occurred at 5:15 a.m. local time (5:45 p.m. PST) Thursday night and lasted for two minutes.

It shook most western parts of Iran and many houses and government buildings were ruined in Hamadan, Murdistan, Assadabad and Kangavar.

The government started moving food and medicine for the thousands of homeless.

The earthquake was reported as strong as the shock which struck Damavand and the Caspian Sea area last July in which about 2,000 persons were killed, 10,000 injured and 100,000 made homeless.

Damage was estimated at about $1,000,000.

Election Results
Back New Study Of Amalgamation

Amalgamation proposals for the Greater Victoria area were given a big boost forward in Thursday's municipal elections.

Only Victoria City voted directly on the issue, and citizens voted better than 3 to 1 in favor of a royal commission investigation of ways in which it could be done.

But, in the second largest municipality of Saanich, voters returned Reeve Arthur Ash and a complete slate of council candidates who have strongly backed the idea of studying amalgamation plans.

The Saanich poll was a full victory for the self-styled "December 12 group" and defeat for reevehip candidate Eugene Diespecker, and 21-year council veteran and former reeve Leslie

Passmore, who have been opposed to amalgamation.

The issue did not bulk very largely in Esquimalt, but it was significant that former councillor G. K. Sammon, a strong supporter of amalgamation studies, was put back in office with a good vote.

And in Oak Bay, long the main "hold out" municipality, the point was not raised in a quiet election.

Jaycees to Push Petitions

As a result of the polling, the Junior Chamber of Commerce plans to go ahead with public petitions in Oak Bay and Esquimalt to get public support for a royal commission study.

Eric Charman, who sponsored the Jaycee drive for the royal commission, said:

"The results in Victoria and Saanich clearly illustrate substantial support for the royal commission proposal.

"They also encourage the Jaycees to go forward with their petition in Oak Bay and Esquimalt."

He said the organization had held off its petition raising until after the municipal elections because it did not wish to influence the vote.

"We did not spend one nickel on advertising or holding meetings about it in Victoria because we wanted a pure expression of opinion. Now we have it," he said.

Regardless of the further action toward a royal commission, it is expected early moves will be made toward forming a strong intermunicipal committee, including the mayors and reeves of each municipality. Several candidates spoke in favor of such a plan.

Outside of amalgamation main interest in Thursday's elections surrounded the defeat of Alderman Donald Smith, Social Credit MLA. He was trying for his third term on city council, and at one time was considering running for the mayoralty. He was edged out by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot for the fourth council seat.

2 B.C. Slayers
Spared Gallows

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet today commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences passed on Joseph McKenna, 22, of Vancouver, and Calvin Henry Klingbell, 23, of Kelowna, B.C.

McKenna was convicted of murder June 14, 1957, at Vancouver in the fatal shooting of John Henry Donaldson, a 25-year-old Vancouver ambulance driver, in a Vancouver night club.

Klingbell was convicted at Vancouver Sept. 25, 1957, of the stabbing murder in Vancouver of Lee Vick Yung, a 63-year-old Chinese grocer.

Both men had been scheduled for execution Tuesday, Dec. 17. Donaldson was shot in Vancouver March 23, 1957. McKenna's appeal was dismissed by the British Columbia Court of Appeal Oct. 2 and his application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada was refused Nov. 11.

His case for leave to appeal was taken to the Supreme Court by John R. Taylor, Progressive Conservative member of the Commons for Vancouver-Burrard and Arthur Maloney, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Parkdale. Later, Mr. Taylor made personal representations to Solicitor-General Leon Balcer and the Cabinet.

Yung was stabbed to death during a robbery in Vancouver May 18, 1937. Klingbell, a mechanic's helper, did not appeal his conviction.

miles, the larger of them measuring 5.2 inches in diameter. The large type of a calibre of nearly a foot has been converted into an air-to-air missile, a rocket to be fired from airplanes against other airplanes. It is now a guided rocket, but the nature of the guidance system is not publicly known. Its Russian designation is M-100A. All the rockets mentioned so far are propelled by solid fuels.

With the end of the war the Russians captured tons of German documents. They captured the production engineers of the V-2 factory (but not the planning and research staff who had fled in time and surrendered to the Americans) and they might have captured a few rockets. From the documents they learned that the Germans had planned to extend the 200-mile range of the V-2 by equipping it with wings.

The idea was that the winged rocket could add about 100 miles to its range by performing like a glider when it returned into dense air after reaching its 60-mile peak. Of course this rocket could not be accurate unless it was piloted and the Germans had had that in mind. The pilot was to bail out as soon as he was sure that his rocket would hit the target. The Russians also learned from captured documents that the Germans intended to develop solid fuel rockets to be fired from submarines.

Since these German plans were not based on whim but on solid engineering logic the Russians carried them out—with their own men. The submarine-launched, solid-fuel missiles are now under development; one with an intended range of 100 miles is called Comet-1, another with an intended range of 500 miles is called Comet-2.

The Russian development of the German V-2 rocket is called the T-1, also M-101. It has the same diameter as the original V-2, namely, 5½ feet, but is 50 feet long (V-2 was about 46 feet) and has a different fuel—kerosene instead of alcohol. Its range is given as 400 miles, double the original V-2 range. It is in production. So is the T-4 (or M-102), which is the winged version. Claims are that it may have a range of as much as 1,000 miles, which sounds somewhat exaggerated. The figure may have to read 1,000 kilometers, which would be 620 miles, and more likely what one could expect.

More Stages Needed

For ranges beyond 600 miles rockets of two or more stages are needed. The Russian T-2 missile (also designated as M-103) is their IRBM (Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile) with a range of 1,500 miles. At least a hundred of them have been test fired. It is a two-stage liquid fuel missile with a take-off weight of about 85 tons. The upper stage is a T-1, the lower stage is just a very heavy booster. It was probably the T-2 which was converted into a satellite carrier for firing the first Sputnik.

Another Russian rocket missile in production is the T-7A. Propelled by a solid fuel, it is 25 feet long with a diameter of 2½ feet and a range of up to 60 miles. The T-7A is the Russian equivalent to our Corporal missile which, however, is a liquid fuel rocket.

So far the only facts known about the Russian ICBM (Intercontinental Ballistic Missile) are that it is designated as T-3 or as M-104, that its goal is a range of 5,000 miles and that two or three of them have been test fired. It must be a three-stage rocket and, of course, its warhead must be heavy enough to be either a uranium or a hydrogen bomb. It just does not pay to shoot ordinary high explosives over such a distance. A modified T-3 probably fired Sputnik No. 2.

The lesson that can be drawn from this quick survey is quite simple. As regards the intercontinental missile the Russians are somewhat ahead of us. But they are far ahead with respect to the intermediate range missile.

By JAMES WILDE

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno prepared to leave the country, for what is officially described as a rest, in the midst of a national crisis over the campaign against the Dutch. He denied he has been deposed.

The 56-year-old president, looking tired and tense, appeared before newspaper men and denied reports from The Netherlands that he was a prisoner of the army in his palace and had been ousted from power. He laughed and smiled but refused to answer questions.

Earlier, in a signed, handwritten note issued through government officials, he made the same denial. The note said he was carrying on his duties as usual and that "Amsterdam" is full of wishful thinking.

Premier Djundana asked Parliament earlier today to swear in Speaker Sartono, a moderate nationalist, as acting president in Sukarno's absence. Sartono, also 56, was willing to serve "during the period of President Sukarno's recuperation," an official announcement said.

Sukarno, it was said, was going to a friendly neighbor country.

Although the president's need of rest was given as the official reason for his departure, some informants indicated security also was a reason. Four grenades were thrown at the president on Nov. 30 in an effort to kill him.

SECOND ATTEMPT

The Peiping radio in Red China quoted an Indonesian newspaper as saying a second attempt on Sukarno's life was made two days ago.

The Amsterdam stock market, which spurted upward Thursday when rumors of Sukarno's ouster spread, continued to rise Friday despite Sukarno's denials. Among stock issues advancing were KPM the Dutch shipping line whose properties in Indonesia have been seized.

RUMORS OF ARREST

A government spokesman indicated, however, that Sartono would only be a figurehead. He said Premier Djundana and Maj. Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, the army chief of staff, "will be in charge during Sukarno's visit abroad."

Shipyard Future Laid Squarely In Ottawa's Lap

Heads of Victoria's two big shipyards agreed Friday that prospects of stopping mass layoffs depend entirely on orders from the Canadian government—and that none are in prospect.

At commissioning ceremonies for HMCS Cowichan at Yarrow's Ltd., H. A. Wallace, managing director of Yarrow's, and Harold Husband, president of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., painted a bleak picture of increasing unemployment for shipyard workers.

Mr. Husband is also president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, which represents all major yards in Canada.

LAST ONE

In his address turning over the Cowichan to the navy, Mr. Wallace pointed out the completion of the Cowichan was Yarrow's last naval shipbuilding contract.

"We are sad," he said. "Shipbuilding calls for a combination of skills and collective experience, and it has taken us years to build up our fine organization."

"It is with deepest regret that, because of lack of work, we see our great team about to be dissolved."

(Yarrow's work force has already been cut back from a post-war peak in August of 1,150 to 600, with more layoffs coming.)

Mr. Wallace referred to previous statements by Mr. Husband explaining the necessity of a continuing shipbuilding program, and expressed complete agreement.

"The western world has recently and forcibly seen how quickly a nation can get behind technologically, and it is of vast importance to our survival that we keep ourselves strong with the most up-to-date weapons available," he said.

"It is the intention of the government to place contracts for two additional destroyer escorts... we feel that Yarrow's deserves favorable consideration... and we hope the government will act quickly and wisely, so that we may be able to retain a nucleus of our highly skilled people."

Mr. Wallace also urged the government to develop a program to assist in the construction of merchant vessels in Canada.

"We are in a vulnerable position when we realize that almost 70 per cent of our foreign trade is carried—not even in U.K. ships—but in foreign bottoms," he said.

Speaking as president of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association, Mr. Husband said the two new DDEs had not yet been allocated.

He agreed that one of them should be built in a West Coast yard, but added: "Even if the contract were awarded now, the effects on manpower would not be felt very largely for several months."

He pointed out component parts—such as boilers, tubing and engines—would have to be procured before a full work force could be employed. "The shipbuilding picture is gloomy," he said. "Unless the government acts quickly on a long-range program of steady work, we cannot hold trained personnel together."

Oil Companies Merge In $200 Million Deal

CALGARY (CP)—One of the largest oil deals ever negotiated in Western Canada was completed here Thursday, when the shareholders of Merrill Petroleum Ltd., approved a merger involving about $200,000,000 between their company and Pacific Petroleum Ltd.

A total of 1,469,984 shareholders voted for the merger, 98.5 per cent, and 21,839 votes were against.

The merger involves a trade of two shares of Merrill for one of Pacific.

It was also announced at the meeting that Merrill president Clifford R. Walker will become a member of the board of directors of Pacific.

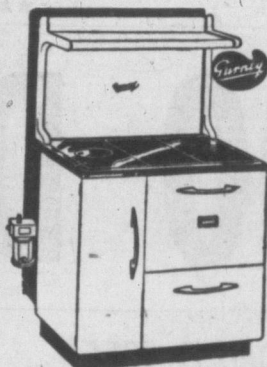

When the merger was first proposed in July, Mr. Walker said the move would give Merrill stockholders a much more diversified investment and would increase growth potential.

At that time, Frank McMahon, chairman of Pacific's board of directors, stated the merger would create a strong, integrated, independent company.

Pacific holds a 20 per cent interest in the Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., in addition to interests in 7,500,000 acres of exploration land in Western Canada and 7,500,000 acres in Venezuela, large marketing outlets, vast gas reserves, a refinery, a gas plant and varying interests in a number of oil wells.

Merrill, 11th ranked producer in Western Canada this year, produced 2,227,705 barrels of oil in 1956. The company has interests in 1,000 wells and 100 per cent interest in 132 wells. The net wells are at Pembina, Joffre-Red Deer, Sylvan Lake, Gilby, Leduc, Malmo and Erskine.

11 Killed as Gale Hits Sicily School

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — A terrific windstorm smashed a two-story schoolhouse today in nearby Altofonte, trapping 30 children of kindergarten age.

Soldiers, firemen and volunteers dug out 11 dead, including Sister Giuseppina Giordano, 42, head mistress of the convent school. Eleven children were injured, four severely. The children ranged from three to six years of age.

Five other teaching sisters and the remainder of the children escaped unhurt.

The storm struck with 75-mile winds, ripping off the tile and wooden roof. The roof broke through to the first storey of the building and crashed on children at play. Residents for blocks around heard the crash. Some thought it was an earthquake. Others reported it was a landslide.

The school is part of the convent of the Salesian Sisters and joins the convent on one side. Soldiers of an artillery regiment stationed nearby took charge of rescue work.

ADVERTISING ROYALTY BAN TO BE LIFTED?

LONDON (Reuters) — A long-standing ban against the use of royalty for advertising purposes may be lifted, the Daily Herald says today.

The Labor newspaper says that Buckingham Palace is considering the issue of a poster showing Prince Philip wearing a safety helmet suitable for mines, factories and building sites.

The duke was photographed wearing a safety helmet on a much-publicized visit to a coal mine in Lancashire.

The Herald says the British Safety Council wants to use the poster in a national campaign and has sent a copy of it to the prince.

Subway Service Best Since Strike Began

NEW YORK (AP) — A state legislator called today for an investigation of New York City's Transit Authority in connection with the subway motormen's strike which has bedevilled millions of travellers since 5 a.m. Monday.

Assemblyman William A. Kummer, a Manhattan Democrat also called for removal of two of the authority's three commissioners for what he termed "very arrogant statements made by them during the strike."

FACTS AGREED 'IN PRINCIPLE' ON BRITANNIA

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Davie Fulton said today that "certain understandings were arrived at in principle" at a meeting Thursday to seek means of keeping the big Britannia Copper mine north of Vancouver in operation. It employs 600 men.

He told the Commons he hopes to make "a fuller and perhaps a final statement" Monday or Tuesday.

Representatives of the mining company, the mine union and B.C. Mines Minister Klerman met with Mr. Fulton and Works Minister Howard Green. The representatives are to report back to their own groups on the meeting.

GAG THAT MISFIRED

Doctor Suing CBC For Life Made 'Hell'

MONTREAL (BUP) — Dr. E. E. Robbins, 77, a Montreal physician, Thursday, told the Quebec superior court how his life had been made a "little hell" by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's television show Tabloid.

Dr. Robbins, who is suing the CBC for $10,000 told the court how he had written a letter to Dick MacDougall, MC of the show, who died earlier this year, describing the antics of the show as "asinine."

Robbins enclosed in his letter a review of the program by Montreal Star drama critic Walter O'Hearn and invited the producers of Tabloid to read his letter on the air.

MacDougall read the doctor's letter on the program Dec. 8, and also flashed his name and address on the screen, urging viewers to phone Robbins and "cheer him up."

Doctor Robbins said within minutes his telephone began ringing and he was forced to take his phone off the hook. Someone sent him a barbecued chicken COD and abusive letters began to pour in.

The doctor said he was forced to change his telephone number for a month in order to stop the rain of calls. He is claiming loss of revenue on this account because he said his patients could not reach him.

He told Chief Justice W. B. Scott he could not go to the Montreal General Hospital for several months due to what he described as "embarrassment."

Fickle Fashion Lifts Hope of Fur Raisers

NEW YORK (BUP) — Canada's far-flung fur industry is starting the annual pelt auction season this month with brighter prospects because American women are turning again with a rush to fur-trimmed clothes.

"So far the samplings of spring coats and suits show a ten-fold increase in fur trim over last year," actuary Charles Glaser of the Fur Buyers' Association of the coat and suit industry told British United Press.

"That comes on top of a huge increase in fur-trimmed coats, jackets and sweaters for this fall over last year," Glaser continued. The stores sold the autumn garments so well the manufacturers are going more heavily into fur trimming for spring than they have in years.

Some fur sellers and some garment makers are talking of a return to the hey-day of fur-trimmings in the 1920s—when almost no American woman would be seen in a coat or jacket without a fluffy fur collar and cuffs. But Glaser warned, "we'll have to wait and see how well the fur-trimmed garments for spring really sell."

A visit to New York's biggest department store, Macy's, confirmed the rage for furs. Over half of the coats on Macy's racks are fur-trimmed. Quite a number are in nutria, which Canada doesn't produce.

But the proportion of Canadian ranch mink, beaver and other northern furs in the collars was high. Also many suits had jackets lined with assimilated ranch mink, much of it marked "Canadian" on the tags.

FOR WORKSHOP EQUIPMENT

$3,000 Asked By 'Goodwill'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Handicapped men and women living in the Victoria area are looking to Goodwill Industries for employment in the New Year.

But unless Goodwill can raise at least $3,000 for workshop equipment these unfortunate folk will be disappointed. Victoria Rotary Club has sponsored the organization to the extent of spending $12,000 on renovating and rebuilding its aged premises at 560 Yates—and there is nothing left over for equipment.

"We had to spend much more on this work than we expected," said George Gray, president of the management committee appointed by Rotary.

"The premises are at least 100 years old and all kinds of unforeseen repairs had to be effected. Even then we were fortunate. The contractors actually gave us $20,000 worth of work for $12,000."

When Victoria Rotarians adopted Goodwill as its special charity two months ago, they expected to spend only $8,000 on renovations, leaving something over for equipment.

Truck Needed for Collections

"We are therefore compelled to ask for public donations to carry the project through," said Mrs. J. Evelyn Lamont, recently appointed executive director of Goodwill Enterprises. (Telephone: 2-8315.)

"We also need money for office equipment and more for the purchase of a truck with which to collect the raw material we need for our workshops."

The raw material consists of used clothing and household bric-a-brac suitable for reconditioning by handicapped workers. The reconditioned articles are then sold and the income from sales goes to pay the workers' wages and the cost of operations.

If money and materials are forthcoming, Goodwill will give full employment to 15 handicapped persons before the end of January.

Needed workshop equipment are electric sewing machines, steam presses, industrial cessil irons and industrial darning.

Required for the office are tables, chairs and a filing cabinet which can be locked.

"If we had $1,000 we could buy a serviceable truck which has been offered to us by a local firm," Mrs. Lamont said. "Again, we shall have to depend on public generosity in raising this money."

"We have set ourselves an uphill task but we know it is well worth carrying through and we believe the good people of Victoria will come to our aid."

Hundreds Work in Portland

"I am sure they are as generous as the people of Seattle and Portland who have enabled their Goodwill organizations to employ hundreds of handicapped workers."

Eben Govan, as vice-president of Rotary's management committee, will take over its leadership during the absence of Mr. Gray who is returning to his home in Honolulu for two months.

"I have devoted my whole time to Goodwill Enterprises for the past few months," Mr. Gray said. "But I have a responsibility to my family and my own business in Honolulu."

Mr. Govan, a successful Winnipeg businessman who retired to Victoria last year, is also devoting his full time to Goodwill.

"We simply must make a go of it," he said. Fred Blakeney, himself a handicapped worker, started Goodwill Enterprises in January, 1956—before it was sponsored by local Rotarians.

He will continue to give his services as manager of the silk screening process department.

"Our resources were severely limited in the early days," he said. "With Rotary's help we have the makings of a first-rate enterprise that will give new hope to people who cannot earn their living in private industry."

ELKTON, Md. (AP)—Solid fuel being produced for rockets and missiles went up with a fiery flash today, killing one worker and leaving two others missing. Three other employees at the Thiokol Chemical Corporation plant a mile from this northeast Maryland town were admitted to hospital.

Happy Ending to 4-Month Blackout

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Harry Gallon, whose memory blacked out for four months, came back to a tearfully joyous reunion with his wife, Betty, today. He seized her in his arms and they kissed, while photographers' flash bulbs popped at Los Angeles International Airport.

Gallon, 31, San Francisco insurance man, flew from New Orleans where bits of memory returned in the last two weeks.

Mrs. Gallon flew here from San Francisco to await him.

Last Aug. 16 in San Francisco Gallon went to keep an appointment with an insurance client, telling his wife to meet him later at the railway station in San Mateo where they then lived. He disappeared.

Police found his wallet, briefcase and a bloodstained jacket and feared he had been robbed, kidnapped, perhaps murdered. But he said that on Nov. 28 or 29 he came to in New Orleans, 2,300 miles away, and discovered he was working on a construction job. He said he knew his name but has no idea how he got to New Orleans.

Bit by bit he put together information as to his situation in New Orleans, then sent a letter to his wife which she received last month.

Melodrama originally meant a musical play or one in which music formed a principal part.
